What a Newspaper Needs.
Sensation for Mussolini.
For Those That Moan.
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., Aug. 15.

Young California oarsmen won the Olympic eight-oared championship. Today there will be speeches, congratulations, and the tenth and most successful Olympiad, with the greatest list of broken world records, will be over.

LOS ANGELES and all California are grateful to three men, especially. To William May Garland, whose hard, persistent work brought the games to California; to Zack J. Farmer, who studied the games at Antwerp, and built, well in advance, the organization that has conducted the games so efficiently; to H. O. Davis, who built and equipped the brand new village for the sixteen hundred visiting athletes, and took care of them there, and to the visitors from all over America and the world.

Those visitors have learned, and will report, that if you want to do a big thing, in a big way, California is the place.

THOSE AT THIS ranch include David E. Towne, important in the Hearst organization. He knows about newspapers, and buys what they need, including five hundred and sixty-eight thousand tons of newsprint paper, in a year.

That newsprint, which does not include paper for the numerous Hearst magazines, calls for one million and fifty-six thousand dollars worth of ink.

IF YOU PLANTED 200,000 acres of this ranch with spruce trees and waited thirty years for the trees to mature, you would get from the 200,000-acre forest enough paper to print the Hearst newspapers for only one year and seven months.

The Hearst magazines, Cosmopolitan, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Bazaar and the others call for 50,000 tons of coated paper each year.

FOR EVERY FIVE and a half newspaper pages printed in the United States, daily and Sunday, one is a Hearst newspaper page. And the other daily newspapers number about two thousand, as against Hearst's twenty-six dailies.

When young W. R. Hearst came out of Harvard and told his father, Senator Hearst, that he wanted to run the San Francisco Examiner, Senator Hearst said, "All right about the Examiner. Willy, but what BUSINESS do you want to take up?" He thought newspapers could hardly be a real business, but he was mistaken.

VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA will tell the world that this climate is NOT enervating. Anthropologists say the ancient California Indians were the most sluggish of any race, lived largely on grasshoppers, and such wild things, because they lacked energy to go after deer.

Their successors, the white Pacific Coast residents, go after everything, and get it, especially world athletic records. What they have done to former Olympic performances would come, naturally, under the head of cruelty to athletes.

MUSSOLINI will vibrate, and say queer things in Italian, when he hears the details of that eight-oared race. Italy was ahead, America next, Canada came third, Great Britain fourth.

Three so-called Nordic races all trailing one Latin boat. It was in the last few hundred meters that the powerful, deep-lunged Italians forged ahead, each man carrying on his chest the colors of Italy. It seemed certain that Italy would win, in the country that an Italian discovered.

BUT IN BOAT Number Two, eight young athletes, with the United States shield on their chests, had made different plans. A small man at the far end of the boat, a megaphone strapped to his mouth, called on every divinity from Moloch on, to punish his men, if they did not put their backs into it.

And they beat the Italians by exactly two-fifths of a second, which is as good as half an hour, and more exciting.

Where will Mussolini find words to express his emotions when he reads that? There are no words—the great Italian will have to rely on gestures and moans.

By the way, Italy finished second, of course; Canada third, Britain fourth. Time for 2,000 meters, 6 minutes 37 3-5 seconds.

WONDERFUL weather, marvelous summer climate, up and down this coast, from San Diego to Seattle. High mountains on one side, great ocean on the other, fertile valleys, covered with fruits and flowers between. Good roads for motors, perfect rail service, and for those in a hurry, airplanes take you everywhere.

Four hours ago, Gen. R. E. Wood, of Chicago, flew from the landing field here, at the ocean's edge. Long since, he has landed at the Oakland airport and taken off in another plane for Portland, Oregon. He will arrive in Portland in an hour or two from now, having made comfortably, in part of one day's light, a journey of 24 hours by rail.

PEOPLE TALK of depression, and some groan.

In a few years, this coast, alone, will be worth five times as much as the whole United States was worth at the "peak" of 1929.

MRS. W. R. DUNLAP

Kline Aide, Teacher Spring Surprise On Friends

Col. W. R. Dunlap, city supplies director, strolled into his office in the City-County Building today, smiled at the working force, then made this important announcement:

"I'm married."

And so he was. Saturday the colonel and Miss Frances Graham, a school teacher, dropped into the Dormont Presbyterian Church and were married by the Rev. Franklin Smiley. Miss Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Graham, of 2637 Perrysville avenue, were there.

Col. Dunlap is 46, the second Mrs. Dunlap, 31.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap went to Cambridge Springs for the week-end.

Col. Dunlap's first wife died in April of last year. There were no children. The second Mrs. Dunlap also was previously married. She was divorced in 1925. She has been a teacher at Columbus School, North Side. The colonel is commander of the 176th Field Artillery.

B. & O. Train Blast Laid to Regulator

Failure of a regulator to maintain a proper water supply in its boiler caused the explosion of the Baltimore and Ohio's Capital Limited locomotive which resulted in the death of the engine crew, June 20, in Allison Park, a coroner's verdict declared today.

The engine's crew were Harry G. Scott, fireman, 40, Akron, O., and Engineer Otto P. Smith, 48, West Salem, O.

LANCASTER'S TRIAL NEAR CLOSE

By LARRY SMITS
International News Service.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 15.—Concluding the taking of testimony, counsel today opened arguments to the jury which will decide the innocence or guilt of Capt. William N. Lancaster, charged with the murder of Haden Clarke.

Henry Jones, Assistant State's Attorney, opened the argument for the state.

Lancaster's accounts of the death of Clarke were "self-serving professions of innocence," Jones charged.

SCORES AVIATRIX

Jones, in a summation of the State's case with which it hopes to send the Britisher to the electric chair for Clarke's murder, told the jury:

"Two others were in that love triangle.

"Clarke's lips are sealed. The other was a woman, frail and physically weak, and by far weaker morally.

"Lancaster is the most interested person in the outcome of the trial. His testimony must be taken as self-preserving protestations."

While Jones thundered his appeal, Judge H. F. Atkinson turned his back squarely on the court room and rocked serenely in his high-backed swivel chair.

RAIL STOCKS LEAD RISE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The stock market today came back strongly from the drastic shakeout on Friday and Saturday. Under the leadership of the rails, leading stocks advanced $1 to $4 a share.

The bull forces again took a firm hold on the market's helm and retreated only slightly when the Du Pont dividend was reduced from $3 to $2. Little selling of consequence developed on this unfavorable development, and this was the signal for the resumption of bullish operations throughout the list. Strength in commodities and a rally in bonds helped.

A feature was a run-up of more than $10 a share in New York and Harlem Railroad, subsidiary of New York Central.

Milk Wagon Horses Wear Rubber Shoes

COYNE URGES DOG RACING TO AID POOR

Welfare Executives Refuse to Support Senator's Plan

Six county detectives will be at Bridgeville tonight to stop any betting on the dog races which, it is reported on highest authority, State Senator James J. Coyne wanted the Allegheny County Emergency Association to sponsor.

Coyne, it was said today, personally approached John F. Casey, acting chairman of the operating committee of the Emergency Association, for permission to use its name as sponsor of the races, which are to start tonight. In return, an unstated percentage of the profits was to be donated to the Emergency Association and the Welfare Fund.

Reply of Casey, it was learned, was, that while any donations would be gratefully received, his association and the Welfare Fund could not and would not indorse dog racing, which is illegal in Pennsylvania if attended by bets.

At Bridgeville intention to bet is denied.

The same query was made, it was learned, through a leader in Bridgeville's relief drive, last fall. This leader urged co-operation, saying that Bridgeville citizens would benefit greatly from money brought to town by patrons of the track.

A percentage of the proceeds of the track is now to be given to the American Legion Post No. 54 of Bridgeville and the South Fayette Township Welfare Commission, who sponsor the races, according to advertisements of the track.

Promoters were reported to have called upon Park last week, only to be informed bluntly that there would be no betting permitted.

The assignment of detectives was made by Assistant Detective Chief James S. McGinley.

Steel Billet Kills Youth Riding Car

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—An unidentified youth was killed, and Paul G. Schott, a World War veteran, of Allison Park, narrowly escaped injury when a still billet was rocked from its position in the P. & L. E. freight car in which they were sleeping, early yesterday. Schott is being detained here pending a coroner's investigation.

Not Wed, Vacation, Joan Blondell Says

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Joan Blondell, pretty blonde film actress, today had denied she was married recently in Oregon to George Barnes, Hollywood film cameraman. Studio friends said Miss Blondell declared she was "just on a little vacation in Oregon."

Her film contract specifies that she remain unmarried.

Benn, in England, Silent on Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The Evening Bulletin, in a dispatch from London today, says that James S. Benn, former Public Service Commissioner, in an interview there, declined to comment upon Gov. Pinchot's charges that he had deposited $650,000 while serving on the commission.

Injunction to Prevent Meeting of Jobless Party Sought

By DAVE JONES
Staff Correspondent.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 15.—The Rev. James R. Cox led his united "Blue Shirt Army" across Ohio late today into the face of a threatened injunction to prevent the Jobless-Liberal party convention at St. Louis.

Pausing only to observe the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary at special masses in Catholic churches of Columbus early today the "army," augmented by the union of the advance forces with the main body, neared the Indiana border.

Members of the army expect to arrive in St. Louis tomorrow where health authorities prepared to enter the courts and prevent the national convention as a menace to public health and sanitation.

CAUCUS THURSDAY

As they began their journey anew today, there was one important question in the minds of everyone. Father Cox was seeking to have candidates selected, but he learned that W. H. (Coin) Harvey, leader of the Western wing, was seeking to have only presidential electors named. This is to be ironed out at the caucus to be held in St. Louis. The convention will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

While the send-off from Pittsburgh was not as spectacular as that of the jobless march to Washington last January, it was enthusiastic. All along West Liberty avenue and Washington road in the South Hills, hundreds of persons lined the sidewalks, cheering the priest and his followers.

Another casualty was added to the list today when John Coyle, of 13 Miller street, Rankin, reported he had fallen from a truck. He was bruised, but not seriously hurt.

The first casualty occurred near Wheeling, when Richard Matthews, 25, of Norwich avenue, Brookline, was thrown from the truck on which Father Cox was riding. He was tossed to the roadway and severely bruised. The Red Cross unit which came from St. Patrick's rendered first aid and Matthews was able to continue on his way.

Orange Din Drowns Hibernian Speeches

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Orangemen garrisoned their hall at Caledon, on the Armagh-Tyrone border all night last night to prevent a Hibernian demonstration in the village today.

The method used will be to drown out the Hibernians by holding a series of competitions on great orange drums, known as "Lambeg's noise" of which a sufficient number were on hand to check any attempt at speechmaking.

QUIZ PARK HEAD IN WALKER CASE

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt summoned Walter P. Herrick, Park Commissioner of New York City, to the stand as his witness this afternoon when the public hearing into the removal charges brought by Samuel Seabury against Mayor Walker got under way.

Herrick raised his right hand and was sworn. He took the witness chair which Mayor Walker had occupied on two days last week.

It was Herrick whose testimony before the Hofstadter Committee contradicted that of his friend, Mayor Walker.

MAYOR DENIES CHARGE

Herrick told the Hofstadter investigators that he bought 300 shares of Interstate Trust Company stock with the understanding they were for Mr. Walker.

The stock later turned up as col-

Two Volpe Slayers Known

With the positive identification, he said, of two of the gunmen who put the three Volpe brothers "on the spot," Homicide Lieut. Frank Ferris today intimated that a solution would be reached this week in the racket murders of the Volpes and their "friend," John Bazzano.

Five New York gunmen rather than three wiped out the Volpes—Jimmy, Johnny and Arthur—Ferris revealed. Four did the actual killing and one, who is reported known to the police of both Pittsburgh and New York, superintended the shootings, Ferris said.

Ferris today sent his entire homicide squad of 15 detectives down a new avenue of investigation in the Bazzano murder, immediately following a secret conference this morning with Louis Ramirez, New York detective. Neither Ferris nor Ramirez would disclose the nature of the new clues. Ferris said:

"We have information of vital importance and hope to get somewhere in the solution of the Volpe brothers' murder and that of Bazzano's before the week is up. The identity of two of the murderers is positively known."

The New York detective is understood to have brought with him photostatic copies of the signatures of two men who registered at the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York with Bazzano just three nights before his mutilated body was found in a gunny sack in a slum district of Brooklyn.

Bazzano, accompanied by the pair, hurriedly left the hotel the following morning, Ramirez said, as if bound for a scheduled meeting. His theory is that Bazzano attended a meeting of Brooklyn racketeers at which he was put "on the spot."

Boy's Heart on Right Side, Injury Shows

TORTURE DEATH GUILT DENIED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Pleas of not guilty were entered today in Circuit Court by George W. Courson and Solomon Higginbotham, guards of the Sunbeam Prison Camp, when arraigned on a charge of murder in "sweat box" torture death of Arthur Maillefert, young Westfield (N. J.) convict.

The indictment read to the guards charged that they killed Maillefert by "hanging him and strangling him with a chain."

Death in the electric chair will be the penalty sought by the state, it was announced.

Attorneys for the state declared they will present at the trial October 3 new witnesses who were not heard at the habeas corpus hearing at which the guards were admitted to $5,000 bonds.

The two guards were indicted after Maillefert was found strangled to death, a chain around his neck, in the stuffy and narrow confines of the prison camp "sweat box," a disciplinary instrument in use in Florida chain gangs.

Boy Unconscious 19 Days, Recovers

Mellon's Old Yacht Sinks In Texas Hurricane

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The "Wild Duck," once the private yacht of Andrew W. Mellon, was battered to pieces against the jetties of Sabine, Tex., in Saturday night's hurricane.

It was the craft on which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his bride spent their honeymoon. At another time Mr. Rockefeller and the girl, who later was his bride, were aboard when the vessel rammed and sank another vessel.

On a trip to the Kiel Canal the German Kaiser was a guest on the yacht.

At another time the "Wild Duck" was under charter of Harry K. Thaw, and William Travers Jerome and Evelyn Nesbit were guests.

The "Wild Duck" went through a Mexican revolution at Vera Cruz, as shots in her sides testified. Her part in the imbroglio was the evacuation of 200 members of the American colony.

At the time of her destruction, the yacht was being used as a clubhouse by the Sabine Pilots' Association.

4 Forced Down at Sea On Mercy Flight

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—A Coast Guard airplane, which dropped out of sight last night after making an unsuccessful search for a fishing boat on which a man was ill, reported itself down at sea today but within sight of land.

The huge amphibian which left here last night, carried Pilot Lieut. R. L. Burke, Com. Fletcher Brown, commander of Base 7 here; Thomas McKenzie, radio operator, and Wesley Saunders, mechanic.

The amphibian put out at 10 o'clock last night to search the Atlantic between George's Banks and Gloucester for the Gloucester fishing schooner, Natalie Hammond, on board which was a seaman dying from blood poisoning.

REBUFF BY R. F. C. SPURS MARTIN TO URGE NEW TAXES

SALES LEVIES SUGGESTED BY G.O.P. LEADER

Organization Warned That State Must Take Lead

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—Leaders of the Pennsylvania Republican organization have been indirectly, but emphatically, informed again that unless the Legislature does something to raise relief funds, little assistance can be expected from the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

This information is supplemental to the flat refusal of the corporation two weeks ago to at this time allocate to the state for relief any part of the $45,000,000 asked by Gov. Pinchot. It has come in a manner which permits no doubt of the firmness of the federal agency in its attitude.

It is known that former Senator Atlee Pomerene of the Finance Corporation feels that Pennsylvania has not done what it should or could. In his criticism, he links both the Legislature, theoretically controlled by the organization, and Gov. Pinchot.

SPUR FOR MARTIN

This attitude of Washington is understood to be responsible for the statement today of Republican State Chairman Edward Martin, supporting a tax on cigarets, soft drinks and cosmetics, he also declared for greater economy in government. With the pronouncement of Martin before it, and with Gov. Pinchot supporting these taxes, the House comes back to Harrisburg tonight to battle with the relief problem which has baffled it for seven weeks.

The only tax-raising bill on the calendar is a cigaret tax bill designed to raise $6,000,000 toward the $12,000,000 for relief proposed in the Talbot bill, which has passed the House. There is vigorous opposition to this bill, and the statement of Martin is only a conditional arguing of its passage.

The state chairman presents alternative programs which may result in a continuance of the confusion which has marked every day of the special session. As an alternative to the so-called "nuisance taxes" he suggests passage of a general sales tax. A bill to this end is being prepared by a group of 35 legislators, calling for a tax of one-half per cent on commodities, with the exception of food and drugs. Clothing also may be included in the exceptions.

HOUSE DIVIDED

The House is widely divided on the tax question, broken up into blocs which, if not brought into cohesion, will stalemate any tax measures. The state chairman says the nuisance taxes will not hurt business, but in this he does not have the enthusiastic support of those who theoretically should be his followers.

His alternative suggestion of a sales tax is not apt to rally support behind the nuisance taxes, according to the view of some legislators. The soft drink and cosmetics bill still are in committee. If they should be pushed through without opposition, or if the sales tax bill to be introduced tonight should attain swift passage, the Legislature will be in session at least until Friday of this week, if it is to adjourn with anything accomplished.

There is no chance whatever for passage of the bill transferring $12,000,000 from the highway fund to the general fund for relief purposes. Rural members have killed that. Suggestion that another cent be added to the gasoline tax also has been received with a chill.

Martin, in the past an opponent of new taxes, based his changed attitude on the need for relief and the principle that "we should be sufficiently patriotic to permit the passage of these bills." The latitude of his choice, however, is not designed to solve the confusion existing.

PINCHOT AROUSED

Martin definitely declared at an end any hope of passing the 14-point program on which the special session call was based. This is not apt to be received with enthusiasm by Gov. Pinchot, who issued the call.

The state chairman also indorsed an investigation of the Public Service Commission and the alleged improper influence exerted over some members by utility companies. He did not, however, say whether he favored an investigation under the terms of the resolution by Senator Frank J. Harris, of Crafton. It is understood the organization, which Martin heads, plans to sidetrack the Harris suggestion so that some one of its own number may be chairman of an investigating committee.

The Senate will not be in session until tomorrow night, when a substitute resolution to that of Harris probably will be introduced by some organization member. The strategy involved presumes the selection of a chairman who will be safe, and see that the investigation does not reach lengths too embarrassing.

All Down But Nine! -:- -:- -:- By QUIN HALL

STATE AID LACK PERILS NEEDY

Pessimists today were predicting failure for efforts to care for the destitute of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County this fall and winter, as the special relief session of the Legislature neared adjournment and only temporary funds for relief were in sight.

Bids will be opened tomorrow on $800,000 city relief bonds.

Arrangements have been made for banks to place funds at the disposal of the Allegheny County Emergency Association pending the availability of the proceeds of the bond sale.

In the county, the Poor Directors' $200,000 was expected to be available today.

Both City and County, however, must rely on the Welfare Fund and the Emergency Association to provide six cents on each dollar for administration expenses. The agencies, it was learned, will be unable to continue operations without funds for administration.

Both the $200,000 and the $800,000 will be, in effect, a mere stopgap. City and county combined are spending $130,000 weekly.

PINCHOT FIGHTS FURTHER CUTS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot opposes any further economies in the Steedle bill for departments under his jurisdiction. The bill cuts $7,500,000 off state expenditures and, most of that sum comes out of the Executive Department. Pinchot said today:

"There could be additional cuts in any appropriation bill I ever saw. But any further cuts now in the Executive Department will cost the state more than they would save in curtailed activity."

Pinchot made clear that he will approve the bill as it stands now. Advisors close to him have let it be known that he feels further money could be taken out of the Auditor General's and State Treasurer's offices, and the organization is known to be considering cuts there.

The Governor declined to talk about the statement of Gen. Edward Martin, state chairman, advocating further taxes for relief.

MACKEY SNARES SELF IN PROBE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Laurence C. Hickman, Philadelphia attorney, says if former Mayor Harry A. Mackey finds himself ensnared in Gov. Pinchot's utilities-Public Service Commission investigation, it is his own fault.

Hickman, attorney for A. A. Chapman, whose charges resulted in the resignation of Public Service Commissioner W. D. B. Ainey after a threatened legislative investigation, said last night:

The former Mayor recently admitted voluntarily that he received $1,000 a month from the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

Mackey said he received the remuneration as counsel for the company while he was chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board. He resigned, he said, when he became city treasurer.

CHARGE KILLING OF RECLUSE TO SLAIN MAN

Hermit, 'Goat Woman,' Held as Suspects, Cleared

International News Service.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 15.—Mystery surrounding the murder of Jane Surget Merrill, aged and wealthy recluse, was believed solved today as the result of the identification of a slain Negro at Pine Bluff, Ark., as George Pearls, alias Lawrence Williams.

Sheriff Clarence P. Roberts revealed that Pearls had been hunted for several days as the slayer of the former southern society belle and daughter of a former ambassador to Belgium.

TRACED TO ESTATE

The Sheriff said he had learned that Pearls, who was shot and killed at Pine Bluff a week ago yesterday, had come to the historic Merrill estate in search of food a few days before the rich spinster was found murdered in her secluded home.

Pearls' body was identified last night.

Sheriff Roberts said that Dick Dana, bearded "wild man of the woods," and his housekeeper, Octavia Dockery, may soon be released from custody as the result of Pearl's identification. Dana and Miss Dockery, known here as "the goat woman," have been charged with first degree murder.

Tracing of the murder to Pearls was started when an aged Negro informed the authorities of Pearls' presence in Natchez about the time Miss Merrill was slain. The informant also disclosed the location of a baggage trunk belonging to Pearls, who was formerly a Natchez resident.

BULLETS CLUE

Police discovered the trunk and found bullets of the same caliber and kind as those which brought death to the aged woman recluse.

Sheriff Roberts said there was evidence indicating that Pearls, upon entering the expansive estate of Miss Merrill in quest of food, discovered that she was living there alone. According to the Sheriff's theory, he murdered the spinster to rob her of money.

The arrest of Dana and Miss Dockery followed discovery that they had been involved in a quarrel with Miss Merritt over the eccentric housekeeper's goats which overran the Merrill estate.

Strike for $1 Wheat Launched by Farmers

BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The North Dakota wheat "strike" went into effect today with supporters claiming thousands of farmers will begin holding their wheat until the price reaches $1 a bushel.

Although the effect of withholding grain from market was viewed in some quarters as somewhat dubious of success, Dell N. Willis, Tolna, N. D., a grower and author of the plan, said the movement had gained much headway.

'HILL' STABBING MYSTERY

An attempted murder at 4 o'clock in the morning in the Hill district today apparently was a mystery to the police who have been unable to find the killers of the three Volpe brothers and John Bazzano.

There was no report of the attack—a stabbing—at either Center Avenue Police station or Central Police station, and if the attempt was another move of retaliation in the racket war started with the massacre of the Volpes, the authorities ostensibly were ignorant of the situation.

The victim was slashed four times across the face. He was taken to Mercy Hospital and released. The hospital's report stated that he had been brought there by a patrolman. The same report said the attack occurred at Wylie avenue and Forbes street—two streets which do not meet.

The man's name was given as Louis Demazo, of 98 Washington street, but at that address the residents said they had never heard of him.

LANCASTER'S TRIAL ENDING

M. Carson was to follow for the defense.

Both sides scored in final moments. In its rebuttal the defense called Mrs. L. P. Delong, formerly of Syracuse, N. Y.; Fred P. Hartnett, formerly of Fulton, N. Y., and Frank Malone, city editor of the Miami Daily News, to testify that Albert H. Hamilton, defense expert, bore a good reputation.

Capt. Joseph Ince, appearing for his war-time pal, Lancaster, testified that Lancaster had not threatened Clarke's life in his hearing as the state contended.

The state drew from two witnesses statements that Clarke feared Lancaster's return after a telephone conversation with the British flier, then in Los Angeles.

DEFENSE TESTIMONY HIT

These were Paul R. Prufert and Vladimir Virrich, Miami friends of the young writer who replaced Capt. Lancaster in the affections of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix.

Friends of Clarke, called by the state, testified that Clarke was "happy-go-lucky," "living for today alone"—not moody, nor subject to fits of depression, as the defense, in its contention of suicide, has maintained.

"I think there will be trouble. D—— it, he's coming back."

Mrs. Keith-Miller, who had been drinking and was not sober, Virrich testified, talked with Lancaster briefly, and then Clarke went to the telephone, making the remark when the call ended.

Prufer corroborated Virrich's testimony and said Clarke also remarked:

"Why does that —— come back?"

9 Women Injured In 2 Auto Crashes

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Three Dayton (O.) women were injured yesterday when their automobile turned over near here as the driver swerved to avoid another car which stopped suddenly at the scene of an accident in which six Pennsylvania women were hurt.

23 DIE, 350 HURT IN SOUTHERN HURRICANE

Thousands Homeless After Gale Causing $1,000,000 Loss

International News Service.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 15.—Crews of rescue workers labored incessantly today amid the ruins left by a tropical hurricane which killed at least 23 persons and wrought damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Approximately 350 persons were injured in the violent storm which raged for 24 hours over an area of 100 square miles, shattering homes and business buildings, crippling wire communication and devastating crops.

As the workers dug in the tangled wreckage, it was feared that the list of dead and injured will grow. Several inhabitants of the stricken region were still unaccounted for, including 10 men who were yachting on the Gulf of Mexico when the storm struck.

Thousands of men, women and children were homeless, having fled inland from the coast to escape the hurricane. The Red Cross assumed the work of providing shelter and food and caring for the injured, many of whom were expected to die.

Greatest loss of live and property damage occurred at West Columbia, Angleton and Freeport. Eight persons were killed at West Columbia. Henry Suggs, his wife, his 8-year-old daughter, Beulah Helen, and a woman visitor, Mrs. O. V. Reed, were crushed to death when the Suggs home collapsed. Others who died in West Columbia were S. E. Gieseckle, 25, and three unidentified Negroes.

Three deaths were recorded at Angleton, two at Freeport, two at Hoskins Mound, one at Brazoria and one in Houston.

REVEAL COYNE DOG RACE PLEA

James E. Frank, secretary of the Bridgeville Chamber of Commerce; Lawrence H. Walther, commander of Bridgeville Post No. 54, American Legion; John Townsend, chairman of the South Fayette Township Relief and Welfare Association, and James A. Ellis, chairman of the Bridgeville Relief and Welfare Asociation, made this joint statement:

"The greyhound racing at the Bridgeville Speedway is sponsored by Bridgeville Post No. 54, American Legion; Bridgeville Relief and Welfare Association and the South Fayette Township Relief and Welfare Association, each to receive an equal stated amount weekly.

"All of the concessions will be operated by the two relief and welfare organizations, which will receive all the profits except that 25 per cent of the gross receipts will be used to establish a milk and bread fund with stations in Bridgeville and South Fayette Township.

"One thousand businessmen and citizens of Bridgeville and vicinity have signed petitions indorsing the greyhound races.

"Seventy-five men have been employed since last Friday, putting the track and grounds in shape. It is the intention to rotate these men daily during the races so as to distribute the employment as much as possible. No one will be employed who already has a job or other income.

"It means the 125 persons connected with the track will live in Bridgeville during the races, and the hotels, rooming houses, restaurants and business men will all profit on account of the races.

"The community benefited by the racing in 1929 and 1930 to such an extent that J. J. Egan, promoter of the dog races, was asked to come to Bridgeville after their meet closed at Wheeling, W. Va., a few days ago."

Blind Man, 100, to Play And Sing at Party

CORINTH, Vt., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—George Astbury's violin was in readiness and his tenor voice all primed for tonight. Today is his 100th birthday.

At a celebration in his honor at the West Fairlee Town Hall tonight Asbury is to play a few violin selections and give a tenor solo while an orchestra made up of five of his grandchildren will play for him. In the audience will be two daughters, a son, 13 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

The applause will be pleasant to Astbury's ears, as he will be unable to see his audience. He has been blind 15 years.

Officer Who Killed Vet Slain Making Arrest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—(AP.)—Patrolman George W. Shinault, 38, was shot and killed last night as he attempted to break up a fight of Negroes, after an emergency call. Shinault is the patrolman who killed the Chicago bonus marcher, William J. Huska, during the eviction of the World War veterans on July 28.

Shinault and Patrolman Ralph Edwards were sent to the Negro house by radio. As they approached the place Shinault left the auto. Before he reached the house, two bullets whined out of the dark and felled him. He died before the ambulance could take him to Emergency Hospital.

On July 28, Shinault and other patrolmen were called to the Pennsylvania avenue billets World War veterans had erected in abandoned government owned buildings. During an exchange of bricks, stones and sticks, Shinault fired upon the soldiers, mortally wounding Huska who died before he could be hurried to the operating table.

TWO QUEENS ATTEND BIRTH OF HAPSBURG HEIR TO ILEANA

8-POUND SON PRESENTED TO ANTON

Youngster Measures 21 Inches, Has Blond Hair

MOEDLING, Austria, Aug. 15. — (AP.) — The newest member of the 900-year-old Hapsburg family, an eight-pound boy, was born today to former Princess Ileana of Rumania and her husband, Archduke Anton.

It was a birth befitting the tiny descendant of a line of powerful kings. The princess was attended by two queens, her mother, Dowager Queen Marie, and her sister, Queen Marie of Jugoslavia. His father also was in the household.

BORN AT DAWN

The baby was born at 4 a. m., just before dawn broke over the ancient walls of Moedling Castle, which was closely guarded. For several days Austrian police have taken every precaution against troublemakers who, it was thought, might seize upon the presence of so much royalty to make a demonstration.

The princess and the baby were both doing well, it was announced. The boy will be named Stephan. He is 21 inches long and has the traditional Hapsburg blond haid.

What his citizenship will be was not settled, but the general belief was that he would be an Austrian, as so many of his ancestors have been. His father, the archduke, is still an Austrian citizen, although he has been absent from the country much of the time for several years.

CASTLE GUARDED

The abundance of gendarmes about the castle, equipped with bayonets, and the swarms of armed detectives, gave a thrill to the crowds of week-enders from Vienna, who thought for a while revolution had broken out.

Princess Ileana won a warm spot in the hearts of Americans when she toured the country with her mother in 1926. She was in an automobile accident in Indiana while driving from Chicago to Culver with her brother, Prince Nicholas, and two Culver Military Academy cadets.

DINES WITH CADET

Afterward, when the Princess returned from her trip through the West, she sent a request to the commandant of the Military Academy asking if Cadet Glasgow could come down to lunch at Tuxedo, N. Y., where she and her brother were guests of Charles E. Mitchell. The commandant replied Cadet Glasgow could not.

The princess then asked if she could come to West Point and have lunch with Cadet Glasgow. The commandant replied there was nothing in the instructions to prevent that, and so it happened.

Both she and her husband have become expert airplane pilots and have made many flights together around Europe since their marriage a year ago last month.

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Unfavorable weather forecasts today delayed Capt. James A. Mollison's takeoff on his projected round-trip trans-Atlantic flight.

Dorothy Lee Gets Permanent Decree

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—An interlocutory decree of divorce to Dorothy Lee, film actress, awarded a year ago from James Fidler, stands as final today. Miss Lee at her divorce trial testified Fidler objected strenuously to her following a career in the films. She also said he was jealous.

REYNOLDS' KIN TO DASH HOME BY PLANE

Brother Due in Miami Friday; To Aid in Solving Mystery

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Richard J. Reynolds, brother of Zachary Smith Reynolds, former husband of Libby Holman, Broadway torch singer, will complete his dash back to the United States by air, Pan-American Airways officials announced today.

Reynolds was found shot to death on the sleeping porch of his palatial estate at Winston-Salem, N. C., about six weeks ago. His wife and his boyhood chum, Ab Walker, have been indicted.

His brother, who first heard of young Reynold's death while aboard ship off the African gold coast, immediately started home to aid in solving the mystery.

He arrived at Port of Spain, Trinidad, aboard the steam American Legion on Saturday, and by a sudden shift of plans decided to complete the remainder of his journey by airplane.

Flying by way of Colombia, he is expected to reach Miami, Fla., Friday. From there he probably will go straight to Winston-Salem by train.

Largest Dirigible Ready for Air Oct. 15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The largest non-rigid airship in the United States will take to the air on its trial flight about October 15, the War Department announced today. The blimp, now under construction at the Goodyear-Zeppelin plant at Akron, O., is to be used by the Army Air Corps for coastal patrol work.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure now overlies the eastern states, and low pressure the West. This distribution of pressure produced showers over the Gulf states and the plains states during the last 48 hours, but it is not raining this morning except in Iowa and at Jacksonville, Fla. The tropical storm appeared over Eastern Texas Saturday night and Sunday morning, and there were some indications of its center being over Central Texas last night. There are no indications of it this morning. There was a slow rise in temperature over the Ohio Valley states and the lake region since Saturday morning. This morning temperatures are near the seasonal normal over most of the country. Maximum temperatures of 90 degrees or higher occurred yesterday over a narrow belt extending from the Central Gulf states northwestward to Montana.

Saved, Escort Drowned

Squirrel Hill Girl Saved, Escort Drowns

Clings to Canoe At Chautauqua As Man Sinks

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 15.—A 17-year-old Pittsburgh girl clung desperately to a capsized canoe while her young escort drowned in Chautauqua Lake near Chautauqua. Fishermen rescued her and today she had recovered from the shock. She is Virginia Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Jeannette Stewart, of 6310 Wilkins avenue, Squirrel Hill, a student at Taylor Allderdice High School.

Russell K. Spitzinger, 23, of Philadelphia, was drowned.

Spitzinger and Miss Stewart were riding in the canoe when it suddenly overturned.

Friends believe Spitzinger became ill and fell into the water, for he was a good swimmer. He had spent the past several seasons with his parents at the lake.

ZION, Ill., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Loren Piper, 34, commercial artist, waded into Lake Michigan at a beach near here yesterday with his two young daughters astraddle his shoulders. He collapsed and died, apparently from a heart attack.

His daughters, Shirley, 10, and Laurel, 8, fell into the water. A youth nearby attempted to grasp the girls, but Shirley, panic-stricken, eluded him and was drowned.

Court House Tile Crashes; Pigeons To Be Ousted

An 18-inch tile fell from the top of the Court House into Ross street today, narrowly missing pedestrians. Pieces of the tile bounced into a nearby automobile, but did no damage.

It was the second tile to fall within a few weeks.

COATES TO LEAD GERSHWIN'S NEW 'RUMBA'

'Brother' of Rhapsody Feature of Concert By Philharmonic

He wrote it and orchestrated it in three weeks and it will be played for the first time tomorrow night at the Lewisohn Stadium, when the composer will receive the signal distinction—for a living man—of an entire concert devoted to his works by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

"Rumba" will not be a bigger brother to the rhapsody, Gershwin said, because it is not as long, but it will be older because it will be more experienced and have many elements that were not in "Rhapsody in Blue."

MOST MODERN PIECE

Conceived as a matter of gratitude—"I thought the least I could do for a whole concert was to provide something new"—the piece will be the most modern of all his work.

He got the idea on La Frita street in Havana, where native musicians play for the patrons of little street cafes. It is called a symphonic overture and scored for full orchestra augmented by native instruments, such as the maracas (a kind of Cuban rattle), Cuban sticks, the gourd and the bongo, which is a double tom-tom.

Playing time is about nine minutes. It is based on rhythmic idioms of Cuba and the chief theme, sostenuto, is preceded by a lively introduction with typical rhythmic and melodic figures, Gershwin explained.

COATES TO CONDUCT

Because he will play the piano three times during the concert, Gershwin will not conduct the new piece. This will be done by Albert Coates, who also will conduct Gershwin's "Second Rhapsody," and "An American in Paris." William Daly, guest conductor, will lead the overture of "Of Thee I Sing," the "Concerto in F," "Wintergreen for President" and a medley of popular tunes.

Gershwin is 33, and looks younger. He composes and paints in a penthouse apartment on Riverside Drive and finds great satisfaction in both arts. He said:

"It's all a search for perfection. Sometimes you hit something like perfection. If you are talented you hit it oftener than if you aren't."

He thinks music should be close to nature.

Closed Bank Head Held on 4 Charges

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—E. Bruce Taylor, former president of the closed Mechanics Trust Company, today was held for the September grand jury by an alderman on four charges of embezzling funds of the institution. Taylor was released under $10,000 bail.

was met by a dozen representatives of the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce and by enthusiastic citizens. Many made contributions of money and food.

In Cambridge, O., Father Cox was greeted by the Rev. Father Clement Crock, of St. Benedict's Catholic Church.

At Reynoldsburg, O., last night, men and women slept on the ground and in trucks and motor cars. Many campfires were lighted for the cooking of food. Father Cox went among the crowd, cheering his followers.

At Cambridge, O., the caravan was joined by several hundred who had traveled through Crafton, Weirton and Steubenville. The priest declared that many were prepared to leave Pittsburgh today.

Father Cox last night derided the stand taken by President Hoover on the prohibition question. He said:

"Hoover still owes everybody two chickens for their pot before he can promise them beer."

"Both the old parties are still using prohibition as a smoke screen for the economic issue. Roosevelt has promised to give the people beer. Neither Roosevelt nor Hoover can do this, because the wife of Hoover and Roosevelt are bone dry, and won't let them."

The priest once again stated he would advocate the acceptance of his tentative platform, which includes the cancellation of all foreign war debts; immediate modification of the Volstead act and the calling of a constitutional convention for action on the Eighteenth Amendment. He also advocates immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus and a $5,000,000,000 federal bond issue to promote public works to relieve unemployment.

The jobless caravan started assembling at Old St. Patrick's shortly before noon yesterday. Thousands who were unable to make the trip, flocked around the machines, bringing even pedestrian traffic to a practical standstill.

FIND TEACHER'S WIFE SHOT

MARSHALL, Ill., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marjorie Moore, wife of Hubert C. Moore, 32, teacher in the Robinson (Ill.) High School, was found shot to death early this morning in her husband's car, which was parked along a road six miles south of here.

Moore told authorities that he was returning with his wife last night from a visit with her parents in Indianapolis when an automobile drew alongsinde his car and forced him to stop. He said he was struck on the head and rendered unconscious. He said that when he recovered consciousness he found his wife's body in the front seat of their car with two bullet wounds in her head.

Authorities said a note was found in Mrs. Moore's pocketbook asking that her parents be notified in case anything happened to her.

Moore was brought here for further questioning.

J.D., JR., TO VISIT ILL SISTER

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, lying seriously ill, looked forward today to a complete reunion with all her children and her former husband, Harold F. McCormick.

This family gathering—the first in many years—was expected to take place when Mrs. McCormick's younger daughter, Mrs. Mathilde Oser, reaches her mother's bedside after a hurried journey from her home in Switzerland.

It was reported that Mrs. McCormick's brother, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., may accompany Mrs. Oser on the last stage of her trip from New York to Chicago.

HITLER SCORED AS 'MUSSOLINI'

By EDWARD L. DEUSS

International News Service.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—In his bid for the chancellorship of Germany, Adolf Hitler demanded supreme powers "akin to those of Mussolini," the German government declared in an official communique today. It said:

"The government regrets that Hitler and his National Socialists failed to line up with the cabinet, although all doors were opened to them.

"The cabinet is now determined to face the Reichstag and ask support of a revolutionary plan to solve unemployment."

Chancellor Franz von Papen gave no hint of the plan in prospect, but it was known that President Von Hindenburg had endowed him with unlimited powers to bring all of the Reich's resources to bear upon solution of the problem of the jobless.

Flier on Last Leg Of Record Flight

YUMA, Ariz., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Claiming that he is establishing a speed record from Newark, N. J., to California via Mexico City, Robert Buck, 18, hopped off today for Los Angeles.

He flew here yesterday from San Antonio, Tex.

Buck said he would enter the Los Angeles to Cleveland air derby August 27.

JEWS ATTACK HITLER MOVE

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Opened with a protest against anti-Semitism throughout the world and a particular warning against the threatened Hitlerization of Germany, the first world Jewish conference was in full swing today.

One hundred men and women delegates, representing a score of the world's leading Jewries, excepting the Russian, heard Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, and Bernard S. Deutsch, New York attorney and president of the American Jewish Conference, in opening addresses.

Deutsch declared the rise of anti-Semitism in Europe had resulted in a new good-will movement in America, started by Christians striving to eliminate hatred between Christians and Jews.

The part of Rabbi Wise's address which aroused most discussion was his attack upon Hitlerism, which he termed to be "treason to the souls of Goethe, Schilling and Lessing."

Woman Aids Gunmen To Kidnap Deputy

CARLSBAD, N. M., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Peace officers today were searching for two men and a woman in connection with the kidnaping of Deputy Sheriff Joe Johns.

Reports early today said that Johns' decapitated body had been found in the mountains south of here. Later it was learned that in a gun battle over a stolen automobile the deputy sheriff's hat had been shot off.

lateral for a loan to J. Allen Smith, New York representative of the Equitable Coach Company, seeking a franchise to run buses in New York City. The loan to Smith financed a campaign to win support for the franchise.

The Mayor denied he had commissioned Herrick to purchase the stock.

Mayor Walker was cheered by a crowd of several hundred persons as he entered the Capitol building. He reached the hearing room at 1:25 p. m., five minutes ahead of time. He was smartly attired in a light blue suit. The Mayor came directly from St. Mary's Catholic Church, where he attended mass, this being the Feast of the Assumption, a holy day of obligation for Catholics.

MAYOR'S WIFE FAINTS

Gov. Roosevelt entered the executive chamber at 1:38 p. m., and promptly called the session to order. Seabury, the Mayor's chief accuser, was on hand, seated at a table with his seven assistants.

Mrs. Walker, the Mayor's wife, did not attend the hearing. She fainted in her hotel room, it was explained, and did not feel strong enough to come to the Capitol building. She revived quickly after the fainting spell. She only recently recovered from an operation.

As the questioning began, Gov. Roosevelt asked Herrick to "tell in your owns words some of the general outline of the transaction relating to the purchase of stock of the Interstate Trut Company." Herrick testified:

"I heard that former Gov. Silzer, of New Jersey, was organizing a trust company. I thought it would be advisable to get some, if possible. I spoke to the Mayor about it."

Gov. Roosevelt asked:

"Why?"

DESCRIBES STOCK DEAL

Herrick testified that Edward L. Stanton, former secretary to Mayor Walker, subsequently told him he could "handle the whole thing," so 30,000 shares were to be bought. He said he received two installments "from City Hall," the first in cash, the second a check. The stock cost $39,000. The stock was purchased through J. N. Oliphant, a broker, he said.

Gov. Roosevelt asked:

..."Did you know how much of the stock was allotted to the Mayor?"

"No, not at that time. I didn't know until this investigation was under way. I didn't know who was to get the stock. I only knew it was to be delivered at City Hall."

REED AIDS SON OF CHAMP

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15.—(AP.) — Missouri democracy, made militant by such men as the late Speaker Champ Clark and the fiery-tongued former Senator James A. Reed, has found a new leader in a son of the former and a friend of the latter. He is Bennett Champ Clark, Democratic nominee for United States senator.

At a testimonial dinner for Clark, Reed spoke warm words which many interpreted as marking the passing on to the new battler in the political lists of the party scepter wielded by the gray-haired orator. Reed said of Clark:

"I am here to tell you a new star has arisen in our firmament."

His praise was spoken for a man who had followed his father's campaign policy of traveling long and speaking often in order to establish contact with as many voters as possible.

TWO ROOSEVELT TALKS SLATED

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley announced today that with the exception of two speeches this month by Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic speaking campaign would not begin until after September 1.

Gov. Roosevelt is to make the first formal address of his campaign for the presidency at Columbus, O., on August 20 and will speak at Sea Girt, N. J., a week later.

HOOVER CALLS CONFERENCE ON INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—President Hoover today set August 26 as the date of a White House conference of the business and industrial committee of the 12 Federal Reserve districts, "for the purpose of organizing a concerted program of action along the whole economic front." Mr. Hoover said:

"The conference will deal with specific projects where definite accomplishments in business, agriculture and employment can be attained and will co-ordinate the mobolization of private and g o vernmental instrumentalities to that end."

The Chief Executive added that he planned to appoint special committees to deal with questions directly concerning agriculture, labor, railways and other industries.

Mr. Hoover enumerated the subjects to be "considered and definitely co-ordinated," as follows:

"A canvass of the means, methods, agencies and powers available in the country for general advancement; wider expansion of credit facilities to business and industry where consumption of goods is assured; co-ordination and expansion of live stock and agri-ultural facilities; co-ordination and expansion of financial facilities for the movement of commodities into consumption; expansion of programs for repairs and maintenance of the railways; and creation of organization for further spread of existing employment and expansion of employment."

Among "possible questions" to come up for consideration the President listed the coming world economic conference, protection of bond holders and morigage renewals, and co-ordination with trade groups.

Members of the conference called by the President include H. C. McEldowney, A. W. Robertson, Howard Heinz and E. T. Weir, of Pittsburgh.

Biblical Law Bars Inheritance for Adopted Son

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The law of Genesis today barred Roy Waldemar Keasbey, adopted son of the late Keith W. Keasbey, of California, from an inheritance.

Vice Chancellor John H. Backes invoked the Biblical canon in ruling that as an adopted son, Roy was not entitled to share in the estate of his adoptor's father, Robert A. Keasbey, of New Jersey.

The principal of the estate was left to children of Robert Keasbey's sons. Backes held this to mean "his son's children as in Genesis, those of which he was the ancestor, not children artificially created by law."

Illinois Village Has First Holdup

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—This village had a holdup today.

Only $80 was taken, but Libertyville lost its reputation as a crimeless town.

When two bandits sped through the streets in an automobile after looting the office of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, residents watched with amazement.

They weren't used to such a thing. Police records showed it was the first holdup in Libertyville's history.

25,000 STOCK SHARES MISSING

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Somewhere in New York City today is a lost—or stolen—sheaf of stock certificates worth $1,328,333.

The 250 certificates represent 25,000 shares of Liggett & Meyers Tobacco Company series B stock, which were worth that figure at the prevailing market price when news of the loss was published this afternoon.

The news ticker flash, which told the financial district of the loss, described the certificates as "unissued," which indicated they must have been lost by or stolen from the registrar or transfer agents.

First 'Chute Leap Fatal to Youth

FITZGERALD, Ga., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Hubert Dowling, 22, an aviator making his first parachute jump, was killed today as the parachute failed to open when he leaped at a height of 2,000 feet.

Witnesses said he apparently pulled the cord too soon and his feet became entangled in the parachute.

Filipino to Ask Roosevelt Remain

MANILA, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Interpreting President Hoover's appointment of John H. Halliday as vice governor of the Philippines as indicating Gov. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt would be called to the United States to participate in the presidential campaign, representative Marcelo Boncan said today he would introduce a resolution in the Insular House stating Roosevelt is needed in the islands at present.

Frank Polk to Aid Roosevelt Campaign

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Frank L. Polk, former under secretary of state, was named vice president of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League, Jesse Isidor Straus, its chairman, said today.

W. C. T. U. PLANS WAR ON G. O. P., DEMOCRATS

Dry Group Plans to Center Efforts on Congressmen

SEATTLE, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Organization of an informal committee by leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in convention here, to develop a "policy of political action," indicated today that although unable to indorse either of the two major presidential candidates, the union would not remain idle while the forces of prohibition repeal seek victory.

The "political action" committee is composed of two Republicans, three Democrats, and Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, of New York City, a member of the newly formed Law Preservation Party in New York State. The Republicans are Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president, and Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, vice president, of Des Moines, Ia.; the Democrats are Mrs. Nelle Burger, of Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. Minnie Welch, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Atlanta.

The strategy discussed by the committee would call for election of drys to Congress with the understanding they would seek to prevent passage of any resolutions to repeal or weaken national prohibition.

ALLIED DRYS FOR HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(Universal.)—In spite of opposition to the Republican prohibition resubmission plan and President Hoover's interpretation of it, the executive committee of the Allied Forces will support Hoover's candidacy for re-election.

This had been made known today by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the Allied Forces, which he claims is the largest of the dry organizations, with a membership of 1,500,000.

Poling's statement was issued after 187 of the 231 members of the executive committee announced in favor of Hoover in answers to a questionnaire.

Salvage Ship Lands $696,000 from Liner

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The Italian salvage steamer Artiglio II has arrived here and landed £200,000 (about $696,000) worth of gold and silver recovered from the sunken liner Egypt. The treasure was placed in a van for transportation to London.

"Just my Luck— ANOTHER RUN.."

The LUX way to make STOCKINGS wear:
Wash this 2-minute way!
1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.
LUX

You'll have "better luck" if you save the elasticity that makes stockings WEAR

If you want stockings to wear, you must protect their elasticity. Keep the silk live and "springy" as it was when new. Then it gives under strain, but does not break.

That's what the Lux way of washing does for you. It saves this vital elasticity. Cuts down runs. And so makes stockings wear longer.

Rubbing with cake soap, on the other hand, or washing with ordinary soaps too often weakens this essential elastic quality. Threads tend to break—runs start.

Try Lux FREE! Try this wonderful care for your stockings at our expense. Just send us your name and address, and by return mail you will receive a full-sized package of Lux free. Write today to Lever Brothers Company, Department KX-24, Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. R. Dingman washed 408 fine fabrics' items with 1 box of LUX!

Lux is so economical—it goes further. Here's the list 1 box did:

40 pairs stockings
54 pieces lingerie
4 girdles
6 cotton dresses
28 men's shirts
16 men's undergarments
12 pairs socks
164 pieces table linen
84 towels

Don't trust to Luck —trust to LUX

Every 25c You Spend at Donahoe's Helps Bring Visitors to Pittsburgh

Remember, a portion of every 25c purchase or over, that you make at any Donahoe Store goes to help pay the expenses of the American Legion State Convention which the American Legion of Allegheny County will bring to Pittsburgh August 18th, 19th and 20th.

This Convention will cost the American Legion of Allegheny County many thousands of dollars in expense and, due to relief work during the past year, their funds are practically exhausted.

So Donahoe's have arranged to help the American Legion of Allegheny County financially—Donahoe's will pay a good portion of the convention expense, based upon purchases made by the public at any and all Donahoe stores until August 20, 1932.

BRITAIN, CANADA NEAR ACCORD

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Canada and Great Britain were reported today to have solved most of their important differences and virtually to have reached an accord on a trade agreement which would include preference in Britain for Canadian farm products and reciprocal favors by Canada for British iron, steel and coal.

The negotiations were shrouded in close secrecy, but they became the chief topic for unofficial conversation among the delegates and observers. The finishing touches to the agreement were to be applied at a meeting between Premier Bennett and Stanley Baldwin.

Delegates estimated, however, that with all the agreements completed, the diversion of trade from the United States was not likely to reach more than one-third of the $200,000,000 additional business Great Britain might expect from the dominions.

Under the proposed agreements with Canada and the other dominions, Great Britain recognizes empire preference as a definite part of her fiscal policy. Foodstuffs now on the free list will be brought within the preferential field.

ARRANGE SALES TAX STUDY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Plans for a thorough study of the manufacturers' sales tax and other possible sources of federal revenue were announced today by Henry I. Harriman, president of the United Chamber of Commerce.

The study will be made by a special committee on taxation, he explained. A report will be prepared before Congress meets next December.

A number of protests have been received by the chamber from members representing lines of business singled out for special excise taxes under the recent revenue act, it was stated.

Man Killed on Way To Purchase Lot In Cemetery

Arthur Kaplan, 40, a cigar maker, left his home yesterday with $60 in his pockets, bound for a synagogue. He said:

"I'm going to the synagogue, to buy a cemetery lot. I've got the money here which I shall pay the rabbi."

But he never reached the synagogue. A short distance from the place of worship he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Rosenberg. He was taken to a hospital.

Last night he died.

GIRL, 14, HELD AS 'GUN MOLL'

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—A pretty blonde 14-year-old girl was held today accused of being New York's youngest "gun moll" and "finger lady."

Looking older than her years, a runaway from her Brooklyn home because she wanted "excitement," Marian Tellefson was said by police to have obtained jobs in restaurants and night clubs, then informing her three gun-toting companions of the "lay-out."

The "pay-off" for the girl came after a stickup at a restaurant where the girl found employment 24 hours before. Ten diners were robbed of $500 in cash and jewelry.

Detectives, who had a full description of the bandits, arrested Joseph Viscedlia, 19; Dominick Gravina, 25, and Santos Lasza. In the room where they admitted parking their "gats" Marian was found.

COMIC OPERA PIONEER DIES

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Geraldine Ulmar, actress and vocalist, who was born in Boston, Mass., died Saturday. She was 70 years old.

Miss Ulmar retired from the stage in 1904 and subsequently devoted herself to the teaching of singing. She lived in Merstham, Surrey, England.

She made her first stage appearance in 1879 with the Boston Ideal Opera Company, remaining with that organization for six years. Later she played Yum-Yum in the Mikado in New York and in 1887 she made her London debut at the Savoy Theater. During the ensuing years she appeared in several Gilbert and Sullivan operas in London.

Philippine Records, Cash Saved in Fire

MANILA, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—More than 500,000 pesos in cash and many official records were salvaged today from the safes and cabinets of the Bureau of Public Works and the Bureau of Land Registration, which were swept by fire Saturday night. Most of the land title records were believed saved.

Mayor Thomas Earnshaw praised soldiers of the 31st United States Infantry, who helped fight the flames and carried nuns and hospital patients from buildings of two Catholic institutions which were destroyed.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Wonder who Loretta Young's next will be? . . . You don't mind if I do a little wondering, do you? . . . There's plenty of riot up at the Inwood Country Club as a result of several members and their wives going swimming in the nude last Satdee yawning . . . And everybody wants to know where they got all that joy soup at that late hour, what with it being barred from the premises . . . The country clubs are having more than just "dues trouble" of late . . . Out at Fenimore the other week-end the porch-sitters were startled by a woman's yells coming from the vicinity of Hole No. 6 on the golf links . . . When the curious members arrived on the scene they were in time to witness the tag end of a husband's wrath . . . And the wife promised never "to do it again" as she rubbed her bruises.

There's a letter from Jimmy Durante, the schnozzola man . . . He simply wanted to tell you that his nose wasn't everything in life to him, and that he intended having a plastic surgeon enlarge his ears, his chin and, if possible, his forehead . . . The idea being, he explained, that if he could get as far as he has with a long nose, you can easily figure out how far he'd get with other prominent features . . . He also says he's all burntupp because a press agent compared him to the ancient Lycurgus and Solon, both of whom had noses 6½ inches long . . . "Napoleon is my hero," he continued: "I don't care wot countries he conquered and how many pages he takes up in the histry books, the thing I admire him for most is the statement he used to make: 'Give me a man with plenty of nose' " . . . Texas Guinan phoned from Montreal . . . She says that even the most anemic person has a lot of irony in his blood . . . It wasn't so long ago that they barred her from France and nearly started a war with America for permitting her to leave New York . . . Yesterday she received a bonafide offer to return to Champagneianna and be the featured star at Deauville and Cannes during September and the mistress-of-ceremonies at the Montmartre Cafe in Paris during the fall and winter . . . She may sail on the Manhattan on Sept. 7th . . . The cable told her to bring along the same girls who were bottled up in a seacoast jail on the last trip, and to name her own price.

I saw the Marx freres in "Horsefeathers" and it's the first flicker I ever saw that can be described as being too funny . . . I mean that the laughs come so fast and furious that you don't get time to appreciate them, and before long you are so weary from laughing and trying to keep up with the pace that you simply slink back in your sit and watch the proceedings in silence . . . Nevertheless, I wouldn't advise anyone who likes the Marxes to miss "Horsefeathers" . . . Ozzie Nelson phoned . . . He wants to give you his prize saxophone—the one he received for a graduation present . . . He studied law at Rutgers three years ago . . . He intended taking his bar exams in the Fall and organized an orchestra for the Glen Island Casino to earn a few dollars during the Summer . . . Since then he has made so much money he's forgotten all about the legal trade . . . But I admire his modesty; he says he'd rather be a lawyer than a band leader, because a lawyer commands the respect of his community . . . So all I asked him was, "What community?"

Bette Davis is winding up a personal appearance tour with Warren William and both will be back in Hollywood for screen work soon.

I like Paul Forrest's definition of the electric chair: A monument to Franklin's kite and Edison's sleepless nights . . . Addie McPhail and Roscoe Arbuckle phoned . . . Please be sure to get in touch with them . . . Moyer Davis, orchestra magnate, dropped in, but refused to wait for you more than an hour . . . He has the pleasingest smile I ever saw on a musical man and that includes Bernie, Columbo and Olsen . . . He killed a little time telling me the story about the time he sent Harry Rosenthal to conduct an orchestra at a swanky house party in Long Island . . . Harry was an excellent musician but at that time a novice in the art of directing. So, on his return Davis asked him how the guests had reacted to his program, and the young leader beamed enthusiastically: "It was sensational. They laughed all night long." . . . It seems that Myrtle Bard Sykes, the London danseuse, who went That Way about J. Cochet, the French millionaire, in the Argentine last May, will meet him in NY next week for a sealing . . . Cochet is the lad who spends all his time riding the South American pampas and is a close friend of Luis Firpo . . .

I was sitting in Reuben's last night when that hamateur who became an overnight celebrity ankled in with a doll on each arm . . . Before he took a table he gladhanded everybody in the place and stopped to talk to an old pal of the split-week past . . . "Well, Charley," he chirped condescendingly, "You knew me when I was just a lousy actor" . . . And the buddy spat back at him, "Yes, and now—you're good and lousy" . . . Russ Niksur offers the simile: As bewildered as a salesman drawing his first pay check in 11 months . . . The depression has hit the Y. M. C. A. and they've posted signs over their large posters declaring that the initiation fee is no longer required . . . Sophie Tucker is spending three hours a day studying French so she will be able to fill that contract to appear in a Parisian musical this fall . . . The Charles Sandwins are having it renovated . . . Don't forget the stamps . . . There's one good proof that New York is a big city . . . The nearest town pump to Times Square is on a farm in Yonkers.—Your Girl Friday.

MGM to Film New Short Story

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.

One of the literary sensations of the last few years—William Faulkner—has succumbed to the lure of Hollywood and will help adapt his short story, "Turn About," for the screen.

Mr. Faulkner, whose novel "Sanctuary" created a storm of critical excitement, is working on the scenario with Howard Hawks at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"Turn About" is a story of the war, with an aviation angle. Its central character is the Bob Montgomery type, although it is yet too early to predict whether Bob will get the role.

They probably are still blushing, those two blondes who sat back of Lionel Barrymore in a neighborhood movie theater the other night.

Lionel Barrymore

The house was dark and, never dreaming who sat ahead of them, the pair related some outlandish gossip they had heard about the star.

Finally, the house lights went up and Barrymore rose to go. Leaning toward the two horrified faces, he whispered huskily:

"Okay for sound."

BOULEVARD GOSSIP

Lupe Velez has been dining again with Winfield Sheehan . . . Paulette Goddard, Charlie Chaplin's latest feminine interest, will have a part in the new Cantor picture. She reports to work at the United Artists studio in a swank foreign car . . . Richard Powell has been taking Joan Marsh out lately . . . The old timers on the R-K-O lot can hardly believe their eyes at the way Ann Harding lets Director William Wellman order her around the set. Bill is one of the most unaware people in Hollywood. His brusqueness, however, is backed up by competence . . . The Firestone scions are seeing Hollywood for the first time. Eddie Hillman and Marian Nixon are acting as guides . . . Richard Dix says a vacation or else, after he completes "The Conquerors." It's his third film in a row without a day's rest . . . Lunching with sports writers at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel, Head Coach Dick Hanley, of Northwestern University, reveals that he will make several short subjects for M. G. M. . . . Telegrams and wedding gifts are pouring in on Virginia Bruce and Jack Gilbert . . . "All Women Die" is the title of P. J. Wolfson's new novel. And who shall argue with him? . . . Bebe Daniels will sing at least four songs in "Radio Girl." Warners have assigned Al Dubin and Harry Warren to compose them . . . Incidentally, Bebe is a blonde in her present picture, "Silver Dollar."

Digging through court memoirs for the Barrymore trio's "Rasputin," the M. G. M. research department uncovers the fact that the one-time royal family of Russia coined some fancy nicknames for each other.

Among his intimates, the Czar Nicholas II was known as "Nicky," while Grand Duke Alexander was called "Sandro," King Edward, of England, answered to "Uncle Bertie," and Kaiser Wilhelm, relative of the Czarina, was lovingly referred to as "Jumping Billy."

In a few days now, Fox hopes to complete the cast for its ambitious production of "State Fair." Latest named is Spencer Tracy,

GIRL CAPTURES PORCUPINE

A young porcupine, caught by chance by the daughter of Precinct Detective Florence Brunner, 312 Lonergan way, Beechview, will be taken this week to the family farm in Butler County.

"Billie" Brunner, 14, the captor of the porcupine, had never caught such a bristly animal nor had she ever seen one until Saturday.

When she saw a many-spined animal in the backyard of her home, she gingerly dropped a bucket over it.

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Joel McCrea is an example of the fact that all success doesn't come with a rush in Hollywood. He began acting while still going to college—working as an extra. He did not set any rivers on fire. Finally, he was signed to a contract. Six months later, with Joel idle all the time, he was released. Another company signed him, didn't give him a thing to do for a year, and released him, too. Then he got one for five years, and he still is working under it, although the term has expired. He has been advancing steadily in the importance of roles assigned to him, but, considering the fact that he is 26 now and began work in the studios when he was considerably under 20, no one can accuse him of not having served a full term of apprenticeship. He deprecates talk of making him a star, and asks for two more years of supporting roles before even considering such a thing. If a trade is to be learned 'twere well it were well-learned.

Chicago presents an unprecedented situation theatrically. The Windy City, once the second producing center of the stage, does not have a solitary legitimate theater in operation at this time. A few seasons back it was producing an average of a dozen shows a year. Now it is waiting for road shows, with the prospect of a season three or four weeks later than usual.

For the first time since the death of his partner, the late Joe Schenck, two years ago, Gus Van will utilize the services of a piano accompanist when he opens in the Palace, New York, the latter part of this week. Since that time Van has appeared alone on the stage, not caring to have anyone sit in the position that for 20 years had been occupied by his professional team-mate and the friend of his youthful days.

The first baby born September 10 will be given a movie contract by Warner Brothers. The date is that of the general release of "Life Begins," photoplay in which Loretta Young plays the feminine lead. She has promised to stand as godmother to the child that will win opportunity for early stardom by being born sooner after September 9 than any other child. Color will be no bar, and if there is a tie between two babies each will be given a contract, which will be for a term of five years.

CHICAGO MARKS MASSACRE DAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Chicago observed the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of the Massacre of Fort Dearborn today.

Civic officials and historical societies gathered at the scene of the massacre, once on the Lake Michigan shore, but now half a mile inland, and on the site of the fort near the Boulevard Link Bridge.

"Fort Dearborn Day" celebrates the events of August 15, 1812, when Chicago's first white settlers evacuated their fort and started toward Fort Wayne, at Detroit, for safety during the war with England.

Indians, aroused by the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811, ambushed them about two miles soiuth of the fort and killed 26 army regulars, 12 militiamen, 12 children and two women.

Escaped Farview Prisoner Captured

HONESDALE, Pa., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Isaiah Brown, 33, Negro, sentenced from Delaware County, who escaped from the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Farview, with Chester G. Houck, 31, committed from Lawrence County, was captured by police here today.

Brown offered no resistance, police said. He and Houck were working in the kitchen of the institution when they made their escape Saturday night while other inmates were eating dinner.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

The Story of the Tailor

VERY CLOSE to the building in which I reside there is a tailoring establishment. Until a year ago I had been sending my suits—the two of them—to a tailor who was located several blocks from my home. And I made the switch because of a dramatic plea that would have swayed any heart at all.

I was sitting at my typewriter one afternoon when my bell rang. I opened the door. And there stood a man with a flowing mustache and a sad look upon his kisser.

"Mr. Hellinger," he said, "I merely want to introduce myself to you. I am the owner of the tailoring shop in this building. I am not a wealthy man and I am trying my best to get by in these days of depression."

I nodded.

"Good," I replied vaguely. "You are to be congratulated. It was a pleasure to have met you. Good day."

"Just a moment," he said rapidly. "I don't want to take up too much of your time, but I did come here for a purpose. As I understand it, you are now patronizing a shop some distance away. Don't you think you would find things far more satisfactory if you gave your business to me?

"Consider these facts: Your suits can be pressed and returned to you in less than half the time that is now required. My service will be of the very best. You will be patronizing your neighborhood tailor instead of going into foreign territory. My shop will give you that personal touch. And last, but not least, you will be helping a man who will understand and value your patronage.

"What do you say, Mr. Hellinger? Will you give me the chance to prove that my tailoring shop can give such service as you have never had before?"

I gave him the old Hellinger smile. One part sugar and three parts lemon.

"Okay, old boy," I replied. "From this day on my tailoring business goes to you exclusively. If you're as good a tailor as you are a talker we'll have no difficulty whatsoever.

The man's mustache wriggled furiously. He gripped my hand.

"Thank you, Mr. Hellinger," he declared emotionally. "You'll never regret this step. God bless you."

I closed the door and returned to my typewriter. Inside, I had that feeling that millionaires must get when they endow a hospital with $5,000,000 . . .

That episode, as I said before, took place almost a year ago. For several months things progressed in a satisfactory manner. My clothes came back in satisfactory fashion and, occasionally I sent out a satisfactory check.

Suddenly things began to change. My suits began to come back with loose buttons. So I phoned the tailor and took him to task. Have you ever been to task? It's a pretty spot, located just south of Brooklyn.

"Mr. Dinklefritz," I said, "when I gave you my business and you said I would get such service as I had never had before I didn't know exactly what you meant. I am now beginning to find out.

"You and I are not going to have any long-winded discussions. My suits are coming back with loose buttons. You'll either remedy that situation or I'll have to find another tailor. Is that clear?"

The reply came in shocked tones.

"This hurts me, Mr. Hellinger. It hurts me deeply. That you should have to call about such a thing grieves me more than I can say.

"I promise you that such a thing will never happen again. You have my personal guarantee to that effect."

What would you have done with a guy like that? He spoke more like an author than a tailor.

"All right, Mr. Dinklefritz," I said. "There's been no harm done. Just you take care of the buttons and everything will be forgiven."

About a month ago, I went through the exact some difficulty. Again a button was loose. And this time it was most annoying. I hit the phone again — and told Mr. Dinklefritz where he got off.

"If you don't want me for a customer," I shouted.

"What's the difficulty now, Mr. Hellinger?" he inquired.

"The same thing," I retorted. "Loose buttons again. You promised me the last time that I would have no further trouble.

"Now, listen. I'm going too give you one more chance. I'll give you my business until the next loose button. Then I'm through. You understand?"

I could almost see his pained expression.

"Positively, sir," he returned. "And I honestly can't say that I blame you. There's nothing more I can say right now, Mr. Hellinger. I feel too badly about the entire thing. But it's good of you to give me another chance. We need the business so badly. God bless you."...

Yesterday morning I marched into Mr. Dinklefritz's shop and looked him squarely in the eye.

"I've talked to you for the last time," I asserted, "and I don't want any more of your apologetic conversations. I put on a suit this morning that you had just returned to me—and two buttons fell off. I've given you every chance in the world, but now I'm through.

"Give me a bill to date and I'll send you a check from my office. I'm finished."

The man raised his hands weakly. He drew forth a pad, looked at some figures and began to write. Suddenly he looked up.

"I'm sure, Mr. Hellinger," he said, "that you won't begrudge me a few words. You're too good a man for that. Just let me say that it grieves me beyond words to lose your business.

"Believe me, Mr. Hellinger, when I tell you that business is very bad. When I lose a customer—and I suppose we must all lose a few—it means that much more difficulty in earning the rent. I need your patronage and I value it. Will you give me just one more chance?"

I felt myself beginning to weaken. But I thought of those loose buttons and I squared my shoulders.

"No," I cried. "I've given you too many chances now. I'm through. Give me that bill."

Mr. Dinklefritz shrugged his shoulders. He slapped the bill on the counter.

"Well," he murmured, "if that's the way you feel about it, I'll tell you a little something. You're a rotten customer anyway!"

TENNIS BROADCASTS -:- Legion Tributes On Air Tonight -:- RADIO PROGRAMS

Husing Gives Net Tourney Reports

Daily reports from the Women's National Tennis Tournament at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, L. I., by Ted Husing, ace sports announcer, will be heard throughout this week over a Columbia chain, including WJAS, beginning today at 5:45 p. m. On Friday and Saturday, from 2 to 4 p. m., Husing will broadcast a play-by-play description of the semi-finals and finals.

With Helen Wills Moody definitely out of the race, following her decision against defending her title, Helen Jacobs, second ranking tennis ace of the United States and member of the victorious United States Wightman Cup team, will compete for the laurels. The field will include all outstanding women players of the country and a number of foreign entries.

Miss Jacobs

South Dakota, the land of the Black Hills and the fabulous Homestake Mine, which has poured forth millions of dollars a year in gold, is honored during the "Parade of States" program over WCAE tonight at 9:30.

Program Pointers

Frank Luther makes his bow as pinch-hitter for Frank Parker, who is en route to Europe on a vacation, as the Gypsy soloist and a member of the Four Singing Grocers, during the Gypsies' Program on WCAE tonight at 9 o'clock. A group of sparkling melodies, including Tschaikowsky's "Dance Russe," is featured . . . On the same station at 8, a musical salute to the American Legion, with the Regimental Quartet and the Andrini Brothers, is heard.

Mr. Luther

"The Men of Harlaech," a dramatic and musical program, is presented over KDKA at 8:30.

Mrs. Stephen R. Bedar, president of the American Legion Auxiliary of Allegheny County, is guest speaker in a special Legion program on WWSW at 7.

Two old favorites, "I Hear You Calling Me" and "In the Gloaming," are included on Richard Crooks' program over WCAE at 8:30.

Zez Confrey's "Stumbling," a popular tune of a few years ago, is presented as a two-piano novelty during the Contented program on KDKA at 8.

Compositions by Beethoven, Grieg, Saint-Saens and Delibes comprise the concert by an orchestra under the direction of Walberg Brown on WCAE at 10:30.

Fan Fare

Gloria La Vey, NBC soprano, who recently parted from a pair of tonsils, soon will be back on the air with Lowell Patton's "Song for Today" program . . . While David Ross is away on vacation, "Poet's Gold" will continue to be heard with William Adams assigned to the reading . . . Adams is well known to radio fans for his work in "March of Time" . . . Peggy Keenan and Sandra Phillips will spend this week basking in the sun at Atlantic City, continuing their CBS "Piano Pictures" broadcasts through the facilities of WPG . . . Norman Brokenshire's latest hobby is taking moving pictures.

Mr. Brokenshire

"Danzon," the Cuban dance number introduced by Nat Shilkret recently, was written by Carl Kress, guitarist in his ensemble. It is Carl's first composition.

Channon Collinge, director of the Cathedral Hour, who spends much time rummaging through stacks of old music, recently came across an opera written by Sir Arthur Sullivan, which contained only three characters—all men. It is called "Cox and Box," and will be heard in part on a light opera program soon.

Jack, of WWSW'S Jack and Al team, is likely to walk into the studio with a ukulele, a guitar, a mandolin, a banjo or even a bass viol, depending upon his mood and the type of songs he's representing . . . Ray Perkins, NBC's singing humorist, once was a chorus "girl" in a Columbia University variety show . . . Ward Wilson is being featured as narrator in a series of travel movie shorts . . . The McCravy Brothers, the hearthside singers, recently received a royalty check on recordings they made nearly 10 years ago. Most of the sales were in South Africa and England.

3D CLASS CITY LEAGUE OPENS CONVENTION

International News Service.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Delegates from 43 Pennsylvania municipalities gathered here today for the annual convention of the League of Third Class Cities of Pennsylvania to wrestle with the problem of slashing $2,000,000 in local expenditures from their combined budgets.

Tax receipts throughout the state are declining, some delegates asserted, and in many communities thousands of taxpayers are unable to meet their assessments. Meanwhile, it was pointed out, citizens able to pay were joining forces to demand reductions.

Governmental statements show that large increases in municipal expenditures and taxation during the past decade have topped all other burdens placed on the people, delegates claimed. Many of the cities represented in the league have already reduced their tax levies for 1932, while others are considering such action. Representatives of some cities declared large interest obligations on outstanding bonds made any tax reductions difficult.

Child Killed As Piano Overturns

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Five-year-old Genevieve Dawid, of Dickinson City, was killed instantly when a piano overturned from a stand as she romped about a dance hall in Palonia Park.

Ape Missed Her!

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE

NOTABLES FLEE APE AT TENNIS

CANNES, France, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—In a gypsy camp on the outskirts of Cannes there rested today an inquisitive and ill-tempered ape, which broke up, in wild disorder, an exclusive tennis tournament on one of the Riviera's most fashionable courts.

The anthropoid broke away from its gypsy camp and wandered over to the court to see what it could see. Before the elite spectators and players had time even to snub the interloper through lorgnettes and monocles, the ape picked up a tennis racquet and threw it.

The racquet landed in pieces at the feet of Lord Charles Cavendish, the husband of the former Adele Astaire. Panic followed.

Players and spectators dashed for the exits as the ape, temporary master of the situation, started throwing tennis balls. One whistled by the ear of Maurice Chevalier. Another, possibly with a simian proposal attached to it, narrowly missed Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

TWO END LIVES BY SEA LEAPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The disappearance of two passengers, both of whom were listed as suicides, was reported today by the liner California, which arrived from San Francisco.

The first to disappear was Ernest Boulter, a landscape gardener of Pasadena, Cal., who jumped overboard August 3. The second was William Kerr Scott, formerly a representative of the Royal Indemnity Company at Portland, Ore., who also is believed to have jumped overboard.

Scott's disappearance was noticed August 5 and a search of the ship was made, but no trace of him was found.

Spain to Oust Military Leader

MADRID, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, director of the Spanish Civil Guards, will be removed from office, it was announced today.

The announcement caused a tremendous sensation in political circles here, where it was believed a direct result of last week's shortlived royalist revolt.

POLICE START THREE-DAY MEETING

First business session of the annual convention of the National Fraternal Order of Police opened this afternoon at the Fort Pitt Hotel. The meetings will continue through Wednesday.

Following appointment of committees today, the nomination of officers will be the principal business tomorrow. The annual banquet will be held tomorrow night. Officers will be elected Wednesday.

LEGION WARNS ON FAKES

Warning against fake solicitors for advertisements to the official American Legion state convention program was sounded today by convention headquarters in the William Penn Hotel.

Solicitors making telephone calls and giving a Second avenue address were reported to be seeking advertisements. One solicitation was made under the name of "Capt. Manning," E. A. Glenn, of 7250 Hamilton avenue, reported.

Convention Committee Secretary Howard Croushore declared the official program forms were closed last Thursday. He appealed to persons receiving solicitations of any kind under legion auspices to call headquarters, Atlantic 6460, to affirm authorization. He added no advertisement solicitations should be made at this time.

HOLDUP FOILED BY LAWMAKER

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 15—(INS.)—Col. Daniel B. Strickler, Lancaster Commissioner of Police and a Representative in the State Assembly, routed three highwaymen who attempted to hold him up early today near here.

Traveling alone, Col. Strickler saw an automoblie stopped along the highway, and believing the occupants to be in trouble, slowed down his machine with the intention of helping them. The machine pulled into the highway and blocked his path. A man stood on the running board with a gun leveled at him.

Col. Strickler, a member of the 316th Infantry, was returning from Camp Meade, Maryland, and was in his army uniform. He drew his service revolver and fired. The machine, its license plates covered with a burlap bag, sped away.

W. Va. Woman Seized In Sheep Theft Probe

GASSAWAY, W. Va., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—A gang of alleged sheep thieves, said to have been led by a woman, was believed broken up Saturday with the arrest of six persons.

Among them was Mrs. Iva Carpenter, 48, who, officers said, led the others about the countryside, stealing sheep and causing barns and homes to be burned when the owners of the sheep informed on them.

Passenger Killed In Plane Crash

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—A passenger was killed and the pilot was critically injured as a monoplane plunged into a clump of trees about 150 yards from the Providence Airport, in Seekonk, Mass., yesterday.

Roland Holmes, 36, of Rehoboth, Mass., was the man killed. Edward Abrams, 47, also of Rehoboth, the pilot, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

Bank Employes Hold Glenshaw Outing

Employes of the Arsenal Bank and the Lawrenceville branch of the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company held their first outing Saturday at Webb's Grove near Glenshaw. A mushball game between teams representing the rival banks featured the afternoon sports program. A. W. Kraus was chairman of the committee in charge.

Again we may anticipate a wedding, a wedding no farther off than tomorrow. Stella Phillips, daughter of the Benjamin Dwight Phillipses, of Butler, will marry Roland H. Ehrman, son of the Harry S. Ehrmans, of Butler, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Phillips home.

Wedding At Butler

Only the immediate families will attend the ceremony, with the Rev. Louis D. Riddell, pastor of the North Street Church of Christ of Butler, as officiant.

Clorinda and Undine Phillips will be their sister's bridesmaids, Wendel Campbell will be his brother's best man, and Benjamin Dwight Phillips, Jr., brother of the bride, will be in the bridal party, too. A luncheon in the home will follow the ceremony.

Wouldn't you be thrilled if you were a young girl and were going to Vienna for a long visit—maybe a year—and were going to be chaperoned on the way by Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Lewis? Of course you would. And that's what is about to happen not only to one girl but to two—Bessie Hubach, daughter of the L. A. Hubachs, of Ben Avon, and Ellen Van der Voort, daughter of the Carl Van der Voorts, of Ingomar.

To Study In Vienna

The two friends and the Lewises are sailing on August 24 on the Europa. Mrs. Lewis, by the way, is a cousin of J. I. Thompson, of Ben Avon, whom she has visited. She and her author-husband will live outside Vienna next winter. The two girls are to live with an Austrian family while they perfect themselves in the language and in music, Bessie in piano and Ellen in cello.

Jean Breitwieser To Marry Late In Month

Miss Jean Breitwieser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Breitwieser, of Watsonia boulevard, has chosen Saturday, August 27, as the date for her marriage to Chris Z. Schove, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Baggs, of Riverview avenue. The ceremony will take place in the Breitwieser home.

Pittsburgher to Wed North Carolina Girl

An announcement of interest in Pittsburgh comes from Raleigh, N. C., where Mr. and Mrs. L. B. C. Kutz have made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Irma N. Kutz, to George Dixon Shrum, son of Mrs. Ida Dixon Shrum, of the Fairfax Apartments. Mr. Shrum is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and the Pitt Law School and is secretary of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Bess Askin Rodgers Weds Chicago Man

J. S. Rodgers, of Heberton street, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Bess Askin Rodgers, to Edward O. Baierbach, of the North Side and Chicago, Ill., which took place August 8. Mr. and Mrs. Baierbach will make their home in Chicago.

Ingram Girl Weds In Canadian Chapel

Miss Helen Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Rowe, of Evans avenue, Ingram, who is known in church and radio circles as a concert contralto, will marry Dr. M. Joseph McHugh, chief resident physician of the Toronto Hospital, today, in the Newman Chapel, Toronto, Can.

Reception to Follow Wedding in Hotel

Miss Eugenia Lichter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Lichter, of the North Side, will be married to Martin Seder, son of Mrs. R. Seder, of Hobart street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Hotel Schenley. A reception will follow.

Harry A. Esteps Dinner Guests At Summit

Congressman and Mrs. Harry A. Estep were recent dinner guests at the Summit Hotel Golf and Country Club near Uniontown. Other visitors were Judge and Mrs. Harry Rowand, Miss Helen Rowand and Richard Rowand, of Oakmont.

After visiting Fort Necessity, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Eaton, Edward Eaton, Jr., Mrs. S. H. Jameson, Miss Natalie Jameson and Robert Morgan motored to the Summit for luncheon.

Chairman Outlines Federation Activities

Miss Marion H. McClench, former president and now membership chairman of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, has outlined membership activities for her organization. She recommends that a special effort be made to discover what unusual occupations are represented in each city that are not included in the club membership and that at the first meeting new members be introduced.

Membership is to be stressed at every meeting and specialization is urged—that is, certain occupations are to be concentrated on in certain months. Miss McClench also advises speakers to fit in with the membership specialization.

Homestead Woman's Club Activities to Include Bicentennial Program

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

"Come in the evening, or come in the morning; come when you're looked for, or come without warning," is the two lined invitation on the September 26 page of the Homestead Woman's Club year book. Below is explained, "The president and officers of the Woman's Club will receive the members at the clubroom in Carnegie Library," which means that its thirty-sixth year will have been inaugurated by the organization.

It seems to this commentator on club affairs that the Homestead women have surpassed former records in the variety and originality of subject material in their season's programs. Under "American Industries," they will hear papers on "A Texas Steer," "A Field of Cornstalks," "The Poor Fish" and "The Big Stick." There is to be a Washington bicentennial program and one on "Outstanding Personalities in 1932," which will cover the fields of medicine, science and invention, politics and education.

A pageant composed by Mrs. H. D. Everett will mark the club's thirty-fifth anniversary in November. Dr. Charles C. Rinard, husband of the new president, will speak, and an open discussion will be held on public health problems in December. That same month will see the club's customary Christmas party.

Original Pageant

A music day is the first event of the new year, then "Textiles in the Home" and "Pottery of All Times and Nations" will serve as a sort of preliminary to a talk by Mrs. Roswell Johnson on "Early American Weaving Crafts." A valentine card party and a pageant of shawls, are February events. March's two meetings bring papers on the development of the theater and drama from the actor's viewpoint, an original one-act play, an original short story and a contest of original poems. Election and an afternoon for the study of Persia, another when journalism will be discussed and the annual business meeting are to be the closing events of what looks like a profitable year.

* * *

That it might more fully live up to the meaning of its name, the Woman's Club of Ben Avon has enlarged its membership and will open the season on October 5 with a doubled membership of 150. The vote in favor of opening the membership was almost unanimous and the waiting list was admitted immediately upon revision of the constitution. Some others, proposed by the members, were added and already there is another waiting list. The club meets in the borough churches. Mrs. Henry M. Hallett will receive the gavel from Mrs. L. A. Hubach on the opening day.

Federation Arranges Events for Juniors

Junior events arranged for the thirty-seventh annual convention of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, October 10 to 14, in Philadelphia, begin with a sightseeing tea, and a supper on the Monday of convention week. The juniors, of course, will attend the reception that evening in the New Century Club.

On Tuesday there are to be a junior breakfast, with conferences following the district luncheon, tea at Hannah Penn House and supper conferences. Tea at Temple University, participation in the "Pennsylvania Clubwoman," colonial costume supper party and the evening program which they will put on are Wednesday's events. On Thursday the juniors will have a special morning program at the federation meeting, a literature luncheon and in the evening they will join the seniors at the convention dinner. Sightseeing, lucheon at the Philamusian Club, a visit to the art museum and a tea given by the southwestern district women are the things that will interest these younger club women on Friday.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE MAINTAINS POPULARITY AT THE SHORE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 15. — Red, white and blue is still the smartest color combination for seashore activities. On the boardwalks, at smart Riviera resorts, on the yachts which put in at Monte Carlo, Cannes and St. Maxim, the majority of women cling to one or all three of these colors.

* * *

ALTHOUGH many women on the Riviera never set foot aboard a yacht, yachting costumes are the favorites. Seagoing hats, pajama trousers cut on sailor patterns and sweaters which follow the lines of navy issue skirts, are worn in casinos and beach restaurants. All-navy-blue for dark days and white for the sun—both touched with red—seem to be the fashionable color rulings.

* * *

* * *

THERE IS A touch of red in the appliqued motif on the left sleeve of the jacket and the leather belt of the skirt is red. All three pieces of this costume are cut on the simplest lines possible—no cuffs, simple jacket collar and classic plaits in the skirt.

VALENTINE
by Hazel Livingston

Her Modern Mother urged her to hurry into Love!

. . . HER HEART TOLD HER TO WAIT

MILLIE MACFARLANE was an unusual mother . . . she couldn't understand why Valentine, possessing youth and beauty and charm, wasn't in love. So Millie, with her too-plentiful love of life, thrust her shy, attractive daughter into the giddy whirl of the ultra-smart set.

But Valentine was not yet ready for love . . . and the whirlpool of careless, carefree romance only confused her the more.

HOOVER HONORS GIBBONS AT MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Praising James Cardinal Gibbons as one "who won the personal affection of thousands of Americans of every race and creed," President Hoover yesterday accepted in behalf of the government a statue of the Catholic prelate.

With impressive ceremonies, the statue, located in a small park in front of the handsome white Church of the Sacred Heart on Sixteenth street, was tendered to the government by Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus.

Another speaker was the Rt. Rev. John M. McNamara, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, the diocese over which Cardinal Gibbons presided for many years. The Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate, blessed the statue.

In accepting it the President said:

"During the great war and afterwards I came often into personal association with Cardinal Gibbons in the organization of relief work for the destitute of Europe and in the development of our own government war agencies after we joined in the conflict. I came to know him, not only as a great leader in his faith, but also as a man devoted to the widest of humanities and an American of burning patriotism. I can therefore join this ceremony, not alone in my official capacity accepting this memorial which will beautify the city of Washington, but in appreciation of him as a man and as a citizen.

"In his lifetime Cardinal Gibbons won the personal affection of thousands of Americans of every race and of every creed. Millions more, who knew him only through his writings and his public career, shared in this affectionate regard. He stood upon a gentle eminence. He was by every instinct a man of the people, yet he was always distinguished in any gathering for the radiant sweetness of his spirit and the kindliness of his wisdom."

'Ride' Victim Left Near Police Camp

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—With defiant daring, gangsters wreaked their vengeance on Fred Wheatley, 32, bartender, killed him in an automobile, then tossed his lifeless body out on a road directly behind Camp Mulrooney, City Island, training ground for police rookies.

Who the killers were and their motive were mysteries the police worked today to clear up.

J. David Thompson, Law Librarian, Dies

Mr. Thompson was formerly law librarian of Columbia University in New York. He was executive secretary of the League of Nations committee on international intellectual co-operation in this country at the time of his death.

GOLD STANDARD SEEN AS CURE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Permanent economic recovery must be sought in a universal return to the international gold standard, said Prof. John Henry Williams, of Harvard, and Dr. T. E. Gregory, of the London School of Economics, at the Institute of Politics today.

Prof. Williams said suspension of the standard has "provided a fertile field for the growth of nationalistic commercial policies, including prohibitive tariff barriers raised against the influx of goods from depreciated currency countries, and foreign exchange restrictions ruinous to world trade."

If war debts are reduced "and some of the abnormalities of international trade thereby removed," he declared, leading central banks of the world should be able through "intelligent co-operation" to establish and maintain a stable monetary standard.

Though agreeing with Williams that a universal return to the gold standard is vital to recovery, Gregory stressed the need for recognizing and overcoming difficulties in the way of return.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY NEWS

Eleanore Jane Moss Weds Dr. Wilkerson

Miss Eleanore Jane Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Moss, of Carrick, and Dr. Albert Russell Wilkerson, son of James W. Wilkerson, of Baltimore, were married Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Knoxville Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Michael M. Divitt.

Ferns and gladioli decorated the church. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore ivory satin with a yoke and sleeves of chantilly lace, and a veil of tulle cascading from a lace cap. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

Her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Helen Moss, was in delphinium blue chiffon, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Gilbert Louis Winter in pink chiffon.

The bridesmaids were Marion Brown, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Dorothy Seamans, of East Pembroke, N. Y.; Irene Lloyd, Susanne Phillips, Grace Dunlap and Edna Schatz, who wore similar gowns, with two in pale yellow, two in green and two in orchid.

All carried pink and yellow tea roses.

Dr. James Herbert Wilkerson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and John Figner, George Addison, Dr. W. C. Cole, Douglas McKay, Raymond Runkles, of Baltimore; William Happman, Jr., and John Phillips were ushers.

A reception in the South Hills Country Club followed. After a European trip, Dr. Wilkerson and his bride will be at home in Baltimore.

Miss Julia Katz Weds Dr. Milton W. Golomb

Miss Julia Katz, daughter of Mrs. Etta Katz, of Elsinore Square, and Dr. Milton W. Golomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Golomb, of Baywood street, were married last night in B'Nai Israel Synagogue by Rabbi B. A. Lichter.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Morris Meyers, wore an empire gown of white satin and a veil of tulle and lace falling from a cap of rose point lace. She carried roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Freda Katz, as maid of honor, wore flesh-tinted satin and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. Albert Golomb was his brother's best man. After September 1, Dr. and Mrs. Golomb will be at home in Penn Manor.

TANK CAR FIRE CAUSES PANIC

DERRY, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—While near-panic controlled residents in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania station, firemen extinguished a blaze which enveloped a tank car containing 100,000 of gasoline yesterday.

The car, eighty-eighth in a 113-car train, broke loose from the train and halted at the station platform. Flames, believed to have started some friction, started. Pedestrians scrambled to distant points while police stopped traffic. Nearby garages were cleared.

Fireman played water on the car for half an hour before the blazing tank was put out. A small leak was found in the bottom.

Her Life's in a Mess, and She's Keeping It There

She has lost her pride and her hope, and she doesn't trust a living soul, and she signs herself, "One Who Doesn't Give a Darn What Happens."

Then she wails for a couple of pages, just to prove she doesn't care!

Inconsistent? Yes. But aren't we all like that?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I don't know why I am writing to you, but I've got to 'unload,' and I guess you are the victim. No; I don't want advice. I know all your answers before you start. Advice is very nice on a Christmas card, but when you're down and out, sick and disgusted, it is a mighty poor meal ticket.

"I am all of the above, but mostly sick. I should be in a hospital right now, but 'no funds.'

OUT OF WORK

"I am in a position that you and all your sister writers warn against. A man is supporting me. He doesn't live here, but he buys my food, my clothes, my shelter. He pays my doctor bills and for my entertainment, and probably will, eventually, send me to the hospital.

"I have no job. I couldn't work if I had one. Sometimes I feel like committing suicide. Why don't I? Because I am too much of a coward. Besides, I haven't a gun. Poison? It is too uncertain. Besides, I might change my mind before it finished me, and then I would be worse off and sicker.

"You probably wonder why I don't marry this man. I couldn't if I wanted to. I am already married — to a worthless lout who never supported me, and deserted me when I got sick. Besides I shouldn't like to spoil a true friendship by marrying him. Men have funny habits of being entirely different, as husbands. So do women, for that matter. There is nothing worse than a woman who has turned rotter.

LIFE IN A DAZE

"No, this isn't a tirade against mankind. There are lots of fine men, and God love them all. Perhaps I'll find one in my ramblings, who'll be for me, and I for him, and we can get married. Again, perhaps not. When they are rotten they're rotten clean through.

"What am I? God only knows. Personally I feel about zero.

"I don't know why I am writing this crazy letter, but it's the way I feel. Most of the time I don't feel at all. Life is just a daze to me. Maybe I am only dreaming, and will soon wake up.

"You'll probably throw this in the waste basket, but, anyway, I feel better for writing it. I won't go on, because I am morbid and blue, and why bother others? I could rave for hours if someone would listen.

"I am the most useless piece of humanity that ever breathed. When I look back I can't see even one thing I've ever done that was worth while. That is why I don't want to get well, but I know I will. I have before, and will again. Useless folks like me live to a ripe old age, while the good die before they get started.

"One Who Doesn't Give a Darn What Happens."

You say you're "the most useless piece of humanity that ever breathed," and you're utterly wretched because you don't mean anything to anyone.

But, whose fault is it?

Why should anyone value you, if you won't value yourself? Why shouldn't people treat you as a tramp if you accept the rating of a tramp?

CHEAP SATISFACTION

You may be sick in body, sister, but I suspect that you are far sicker in your soul. You have a good mind. Your letter proves that. You have a normal desire for respect and admiration and a proud place in the sun: and you're throwing it all away—for what?

For the cheap satisfaction of self-pity!

You're actually getting a big bang out of thinking what a tramp you are! Sitting all alone and crooning a blues song over your remains!

Well, if that's your idea of sport, hop to it. But let me tell you this, lady: You are the only one who will fall for that line. No one else is going to mingle their tears with yours over your cruel fate. If you're down and out, it's because you are putting yourself there. You don't have to accept any man's shameful support if you're willing to get out and hustle for yourself.

And, as for being sick, plenty of other women need a long rest in the hospital, but have neither the money nor time for it, and are struggling on.

Hard words? Yes, maybe. But they're good for what ails you. For, perhaps, they'll jar you out of thinking of yourself as the world's greatest martyr, and make you see yourself as others see you—as just a common tramp!

If that could happen, only for a second, I think it might snap you into some sense, and make you save yourself.

Publicity Should Conform With Characters Concerned, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

It has been said that publicity is the life's blood of those in the public eye.

Well, it can be blood-poisoning too, and we can name a dozen who have died of it.

And it was not always "bad publicity" either. For good or bad, publicity is not so much in what is written and read, as in how it conforms with the person concerned.

No star ever had so much adverse publicity as poor Mabel Normand. Yet to the end the public was sympathetic and tolerant, and she died beloved, because she never pretended to a false pedestal.

The public can forgive human faults and failings, but resents having them foisted upon its intelligence as perfections and virtues.

Contract Bridge -:- -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Bidding Over Game Bids

When the Dealer opens with a Pre-emptive game bid, such as four hearts or four spades, the opposing players generally have a feeling that they have been forestalled, and, realizing that such bids are usually overbids, are inclined to make Doubles, which, of course, the partner, lacking any means of knowing that there is a safe "out," generally regards as Penalty Doubles. As Pre-emptive or game bids usually are made only on freakish occurrence to see such contracts made, even against tremendous adverse honor strength.

Mr. W. A. Thomas, of Minneapolis, recently sent me the hand below, stating that South had opened the bidding with the game bid of four hearts, which West doubled, and that in the play South made not only his contract, but two overtricks as well. In submitting the hand, he asked what should have been the procedure of East and West in reaching the Slam, which is, of course, easily makeable with their combined holdings.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ 7 6 5 3 ♡ 9 3 ◇ K J 10 9 7 6 4 ♣ —
♠ A K Q ♡ K 8 4 ◇ Q 8 5 ♣ A K Q 5	North West East South	♠ J 10 9 8 4 2 ♡ — ◇ — ♣ J 10 9 8 7 6 3
	♠ — ♡ A Q J 10 7 6 5 2 ◇ A 3 2 ♣ 4 2

The correct bidding would have been:

South	West	North	East
4♡	4NT(1)	Pass(2)	6♣(3)
6♡(4)	Double(5)	Pass	6♠(6)
Pass(7)	Pass	Pass

(1) The new Forcing bid in the Approach-Forcing System, designed to meet this and similar situations where a Double of the opposing Pre-emptive bid could only be construed as for penalties.

(2) An alternative by North would have been a bid of five diamonds.

(3) Although East has a hand entirely trickless so far as honor strength is concerned, to bid for less than a Slam, in view of his partner's bidding and his freakish distribution, would be the counsel of the utmost timidity.

(4) South anticipates that the Slam contract may be defeated, but measures the possible tricks to be lost at not to exceed five—two diamonds, two clubs and one heart. His hand promises little defense against the Slam, so the deliberate overbid is his best policy.

(5) With five honor-tricks, including one apparently certain trump trick, West feels sure that the six heart contract cannot be made.

(6) The reason for East bidding six clubs rather than six spades is now apparent. He is enabled to overcall South's Slam bid without increasing the contract to a Grand Slam, which might not be makeable.

(7) South might bid seven hearts, but in view of East and West's strong bidding and his utter lack of defense in either suit, he fears that such a bid, instead of resulting in accepting a small penalty, might drive the East and West partnership to a Grand Slam, which might conceivably be made.

By using the bid of the necessary number of notrump in lieu of a Take-out Double, the Double against game bids and bids of three in a major suit, which also indicates long and freakish holdings, can be used wholly for penalties. Thus, all element of speculation is eliminated so far as the defending players are concerned, and if this bid is made only on hands sufficiently high in honor strength and prepared for partner's probable response, it has added a most effective weapon to defensive Contract bidding.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

North and South are not vulnerable. East and West are vulnerable. No score on the second game. South, Dealer, bids one heart, West bids one spade, and North passes. What should East bid, holding the following hand:

♠ A 4 ♡ 7 6 4 3 2 ◇ A K ♣ K Q 10 3

Answer: Two spades. West should be given some indication of the strength of the hand, and the Raise, in spite of only Ace-small (not adequate trump support for a four-card suit), is justified by the fact that it is very likely that West is overcalling on better than a four-card suit, since he is vulnerable.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Leprosy Is Now Curable Disease

Dr. Copeland

Although leprosy has been known for many centuries, its treatment has not been very satisfactory, and until recently the disease was considered practically hopeless. Hence it is gratifying to learn that many cases of leprosy are now responding to a new form of treatment.

The disease was misunderstood for many years. Indeed, it was not until 1871 that the causative germ was discovered. "Bacillus lepra" is the germ that causes leprosy.

Contrary to common belief, leprosy is not highly contagious, actual contact with the leper being necessary for contraction of the disease. There are individuals, particularly doctors and missionaries, who have been closely associated with lepers for many years but have not taken the disease. It is believed that when modern sanitation and careful rules of hygiene are followed, the disease is not easily transmitted from one to another.

Today there are model colonies for the care and study of this disease, and to these the afflicted individual goes not with the thought of dying there, but with the knowledge that he will receive the very latest scientific treatment for leprosy, with hope of a cure. Indeed, many have returned from these colonies completely cured of a disease that for centuries was considered incurable.

Isolation is still considered the best method of preventing the spread of leprosy.

As a result of continuous experimental work, a certain preparation of "chaulmoogra" oil was found to be beneficial in the treatment of leprosy. This oil, obtained from an oriental tree, is subjected to a refining process and sterilized, then injected hypodermically. The duration of the treatment depends upon the severity of the disease.

We are greatly indebted to this outstanding achievement in modern medical science—a tribute to the cause of humanity. Let us hope for the continued success of the treatment and the ultimate wiping out of leprosy.

Household Hints

Two teaspoonfuls of glycerine to a bath of water softens the water for flannels.

When having guests for a week or so it is difficult to keep the table napkins separated. One woman solved the problem by buying colored celluloid children's bracelets and designated a different color for each guest. It solved the problem for guests for all time.

A delicious drink is made by pouring a pint of water over a raw apple cut in small pieces. Let it stand an hour, sweeten a little, add a stick of cinnamon and chill.

Include a box of thumbtacks with your picnic supplies and use them to hold down the tablecloth and prevent its blowing away. The tacks can be removed and used again.

Correct Manners

The Shower Problem

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To some people the problem I am bringing up may seem trivial, but it has kept me from sleeping for almost a month! Can you help me?

My sister is planning on getting married the latter part of next month, and as she has no intimate friends that would plan to give her a shower, would it be proper for me, her sister, to plan a shower for her?

Well, I'm sorry that this is being such a worry to you, but as a matter of fact, it isn't an easy question to answer. And the reason is that there isn't any definite rule about it, that in each case the hostess-to-be must use her own social judgment.

Showers in general haven't any rules and regulations, and especially as to who is to give them, and who shouldn't give them.

But when the shower is planned by a close relative of the bride or the groom...then often we "wonder." It does seem a bit obvious...don't you think so?...a bit too much like a forced bid for gifts? A bit too regulated, a bit too much perhaps a call on friends to furnish items for certain needed stated uses in the new home? "Betty needs her kitchen furnished. Let's give her a kitchen shower," or "Betty needs lots of linens. Let's give her a linen shower."

It is just one thing if a group of Betty's friends suggest this, and somehow quite obviously another thing if Betty's mother or her sister, of if Jack's mother or his sister suggest this. I may be awfully wrong about this, but this is the way I feel about it. And remember that at the first of this answer I said quite fairly that all one could depend on was one's own reaction to this.

So you see I can't be of any special help to you . . . I wish I could be. But it just is one's own choice.

CITY ROW RAGES OVER DOG FIGHT

Robert D. Sawyer, wealthy investment broker, issued a statement demanding a police investigation of the manner in which his sister, Mrs. Stephen V. Colden, prominent clubwoman, was bitten by a Belgian police dog. Sawyer charged the incident is being hushed up because the offending canine belongs to Mrs. Edward Walder, sister of Mayor Charles H. Bartlett.

Mrs. Colden said she was watching a crowd of spectators tearing a police dog away from a toy French poodle when suddenly the big animal sprang upon her. She was so seriously injured that she had to be taken to a hospital.

The poodle is in a hospital as the result of the dogfight. The police dog has been impounded.

QUIZ 'DUMMY' IN EGAN TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The state today resumed building up evidence with which it hopes to send Frank J. Egan, former San Francisco public defender, and Albert Tinnin, ex-convict, to the gallows for the murder of Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, assertedly for her $25,000 insurance.

The first witness called today was Richard I. Kazaka, said to have been the "dummy" in many of Egan's financial and real estate transactions. He was nervous on the witness stand Saturday and cried before he was excused by Superior Judge Frank H. Dunne.

Defense counsel said they could disprove the prosecution's contention that Egan was the "master mind" of the Hughes murder, which the state maintains was executed by Tinnin and a third defendant, Verne Doran, an ex-convict now serving time in San Quentin for parole violation.

POSTAL THEFT SUSPECT HELD

Eight hours after he is alleged to have looted the Brackenridge postoffice of $35 in stamps and a dollar's worth of envelopes, Walter B. Holmes, 23, of Fifteenth street, Arnold, Pa., was arrested today by Patrolman Roy Hanna, of Brackenridge, and Postmaster Bernard Peters.

Holmes, according to Hanna, admitted breaking into the building through a side window and shooting the lock on the stamp drawer with a .45 caliber revolver. He was to be taken to Allegheny County Jail today by a United States deputy marshal.

Sleeping Woman Dies As Auto Hits House

GREELEY, Col., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Mrs. Jennie Espinato was killed as she slept in her home yesterday when an automobile skidded and crashed into the house.

KILLING DRIVES BOY INSANE

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—A 15-year-old psychopathic patient in City Hospital, who soon was to be released as cured, was in a state of delirium today as he brooded over an accident that caused the death of a fellow patient, William Chase, 26.

The shock caused by the youth's belief he had killed Chase so unbalanced the boy that hospital physicians said it was doubtful he ever would recover his reason. They withheld his name, although police who investigated held him blameless.

Chase had entered the hospital voluntarily on June 7, in the belief he was suffering from a mental disease. He was a spectator at an athletic meet Saturday.

Near the end of the meet the 15-year-old patient unloosed a mighty toss of the javelin. The spear struck Chase behind the ear and he died three hours later of a fractured skull without regaining consciousness.

COUNCIL SCANS NEW TAX LAW

City Council does not intend to abuse the broad powers of taxation conferred upon it by the recently enacted Sterling bill, but will take plenty of time to study the problem, according to John S. Herron, president of Council.

Among the list of things which it is reported Council is considering as sources of revenue is house furnishings of the more expensive type. Just when furniture ceases to be a necessity and becomes a luxury will be the question to be decided.

Herron has declared that men, organizations and representative groups will be called into conference before any steps are taken.

SUSPECT KILLED IN HOLDUP TRAP, 3 OTHERS SHOT

GIRL AND 4 MEN FACING QUIZ IN HOLDUPS

N. Y. Gang Captured In Harrisburg After Robbery Here

Five city detectives left today for Harrisburg to bring back Trudy Steiner, 19, and four young men, Lawrence Steiner, 29, of Astoria, L. I.; Tony Lavia, 29; Ernest Zimmerman, 28, and Joseph Russo, 24, all of New York City, wanted here in connection with the holdup last week of the American Oil Company gasoline station at Liberty and Third avenues.

The gang was believed to be responsible for many other gas station robberies throughout the state, detectives said.

Three of those under arrest answer descriptions of the gang in the holdup, police said. A bag of money, contatining $4.25 in nickels and $17.50 in quarters and half dollars, was reported found in one of the machines.

A. Lamperski, of 345 Questend avenue, Mt. Lebanon, told police that while he was driving in Annawanda street, near the Castle Shannon road, his car was crowded to the curb and stopped by three youths in another machine.

Lamperski said they threatened him and his wife, riding with him, with revolvers and demanded his money. He told them he had only $12 and the bandits left without taking anything, police said.

Three armed men early today forced the machine of Miles S. Gilbert, of 419 Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, to the curb in Braddock avenue, East Pittsburgh, and robbed him of $130, he reported to police.

3 Well Months In 48, Best G. O. P. Can Do

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Looks like we can depend on Republican prosperity during the last three months of every administration.

Wall Street is again blowing bubbles at the ceiling.

Stocks are bouncing like a sailor on hossback. But the only whisker in the oleomargerine is that we had to wait three years and nine months for it.

This gives the G. O. P. an average of three healthy months and 45 sick ones out of 48.

We are asking baseball fans if a combined batting and fielding average of .187 is going to keep anybody in the big leagues?

The answer is no in all the live and dead languages. And we are a little prematurely generous when we concede the three healthy months. We'll give 'em August, but we still have September and October to go.

If the G. O. P. proves that it can boost the market it makes us wonder why they didn't rush the pulmotor along in 1929. There's something rotten in Denmark and it aint an egg.

Announcement Made Of Week-Old Elopement

The week-old elopement and marriage of Lieut. James McFadden Hays, radio station WCAE program director and Sewickley socialite, and Miss Florence M. Schmalhorst, former Carnegie Tech co-ed and a secretary at WCAE, was announced today as they told it to the bride's parents in Cincinnati, O.

The pair eloped to Greensburg just a week ago. They kept it a secret until staff members at the radio station were informed and passed it on today.

Hays, a former lieutenant in the Navy, is listed in the national Social Register as son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. Hays, of Sewickley. His bride graduated from Carnegie Tech a year ago.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal. Aug. 15.

To the Editor of Sun Telegraph:

Just witnessed the closing of the most impressive and successful Olympic games ever held. Every part of our country either contributed a runner, jumper or a spectator.

Will Rogers

It was the best managed and attended big affair you ever saw. Seeing or reading about the expioits of the youth of the whole world for the last few weeks has been a good thing for everybody.

Now we go from that into three straight months of political "hooey." Records will be broken there, too. You will hear speeches that require more wind than the Marathon race. Both sides will commit enough fouls on each other that if they were in a game of sportsmanship they would be disqualified before election. A politician will never see the day he can lose with as good grace as these boys and girls did. Not an alibi among two thousand athletes.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

AUTOS KILL 3, INJURE MANY IN DISTRICT

Two Triple Collisions Mark Week-End Traffic Mishaps

Three person were killed, three others were in a critical condition in hospitals, and many others injured in week-end automobile accidents.

Mrs. Catherine Ashbaugh, 60, of 310 Fourth avenue, Irwin, died en route to the hospital from a fractured skull suffered in a triple collision in the Lincoln highway near East McKeesport shortly before last midnight, according to a Coroner's report.

DRIVER INJURED

The accident occurred, police said, when her son-in-law, Charles Hutchison, 28, of Irwin, in whose machine she was riding, attempted to pass the automobile of L. L. Gibson, of Scottdale, and collided with another machine driven by Thomas Saunders, of 5307 Rosetta street. Hutchinson was removed to McKeesport Hospital, where he was reported to be in a critical condition suffering a possible fractured back.

Mrs. Mary Hutchison, 25, wife of Charles, was reported in a critical condition suffering from a fractured skull and body lacerations. Saunders suffered a fractured left shoulder and head lacerations. Dorothy Saunders, 12, and Mrs. Mary Redmond, 61, of 4402 Calvin street, suffered body lacerations. George Ashbaugh, 68, and Mrs. Alice Saunders, 34, were treated for body lacerations and sent home.

Louise Plum, 25, Negro, of the East End, was killed and two others were injured in another triple crash on the Vandergrift-Pittsburgh road shortly before last midnight. Ferrow Jefferson, 27, Negro, of 114 Auburn street, driver of the machine, was in a critical condition in Citizen's General Hospital, New Kensington, with a compound fracture of the skull and four fractures of the left arm.

BRADDOCK MAN KILLED

James Reed, 29, of 2211 Braddock avenue, Braddock, died of a fractured skull in Pittsburgh Hospital early today shortly after his automobile collided with another machine at Braddock avenue and Thomas boulevard, according to a coroner's report.

Mrs. Suia Wing, 24, of 3347 Terrace street, and her infant son, were recovering in their home today after having been injured when the taxicab in which they were iding collided with a machine driven by Theodore Werntz, 28, of 7038 Frankstown avenue, at Kirkwood and Beatty streets, according to police.

After being treated at the Braddock General Hospital last night for bruises resulting from being struck by a machine near Kennywood Park, Elmer Stewart, 9, of Crosby street, North Braddock, is home today. John Farkan, of New Kensington, driver of the machine, was not arrested.

OLD CHARLEROI DAM WRECKED

By J. JAMES MOORE
Staff Correspondent.

MONESSEN, Pa., Aug. 15.—Ol' Man Monongahela followed undisturbed once again through a 100-foot hole in lock No. 4 dam at Charleroi today, a barrier which has impeded its flow since 1844.

At midnight two dredges and two derrick boats started tearing the old dam apart. It is the oldest and the only wooden dam on the Monongahela. It is 650 feet long and 66 feet wide.

Hundreds lined the banks as the wrecking work began. Among the crowd were old-time rivermen who said they hated to see the dam go. But, Maj. W. D. Styer, government engineer in charge of river work in the Pittsburgh district and in charge of the destruction of the dam said:

"I'm glad to see the dam go. We never knew when the river was going to wash it out. We expect to put a 200-foot hole through the dam now and clean up the job later. The locks will be dynamited."

POSTAL THEFT SUSPECT HELD

Harry Holmes, 23, of Fifteenth streeet, Arnold, is held today for federal authorities by Brackenridge police for questioning in connection with the robbery early yesterday of the Brackenridge postoffice, according to police.

Police said a quantity of money and stamps and a revolver stolen during the alleged robbery were found in Holmes' possession. Entry was gained by smashing a window, police reported.

East End Extortion Plot Laid to 'Crank'

Detectives said today that notes written in an effort to extort money from East End businessmen were evidently sent out by a "crank." The notes threatened the men with death unless they carried from $10,000 to $18,000 in small bills with them at all times so that the money could be turned over to the writer of the letters on a minute's notice.

Astronomers Head For Maine to See Event

Two well-known amateur Pittsburgh astronomers today finished constructing two home made cameras to be used in photographing the total eclipse of the sun, scheduled August 31.

One is a long focal length camera, to be used in photographing the corona of the sun. The other is a short focal length type that will take several pictures of the sun as it is slowly apparently swallowed up by the moon.

A group of astronomers headed by Scanlon and Marshall will locate near Fryeburg, Me. They will arrive in New England several days ahead of time in order to set up their apparatus and hold what they call a "dress rehearsal." They will have but 99 seconds in which to make their pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Arnold, of 138 Dickerson street, will also be in the group. Arnold plans to take moving pictures of the eclipse and his wife, who is an artist, will take notes and make sketches of the phenomena. Later she will paint pictures of the eclipse.

Scanlon said of the coming eclipse:

"This will be the last eclipse until 1963. Pittsburghers will see 88 per cent of the show, so it will be worth their while to take a look at it."

Business Bureau Warns of Imposter

The Better Business Bureau today warned grocers and restaurant owners of an imposter seeking the installation in their places of business of an electric clock bearing an avertisement of the Campbell Soup Company. The solicitation is unauthorized by the Campbell company, the bureau warned.

WOUNDED BOY BELIEVED DYING

Fugitive Seized When Auto Crashes After Wild Chase

Two more robbery suspects were wounded early today, bringing the weekend total to one dead and three wounded.

Peter Moyer, 16, of 2126 Tustin street was reported dying in Mercy Hospital from a wound caused by a special patrolman's bullet, fired when the officer surprised him and a companion as they forced a door of a confectionery at 2234 Forbes street, according to a police report.

George Reitzel, 18, of 605 Tripoli street, was shot in the leg as he fled, police said, with a companion from the Little Bo Peep barbecue, near Millvale, after an attempt had been made to force a door there.

CAPTURED IN CHASE

The arrest of Albert Gibson, 25, of 733 Decatur way, Ritzel's alleged companion, occurred shortly after he sent his automobile crashing through the barricade of a "blind" street, climaxing a wild chase by Millvale police during which several shots were fired.

Joseph Rafalski, 22, of 170 Home street, was killed, and Jack Leja, 22, of 140 Home street, was seriously wounded by two North Side patrolmen as they are alleged to have attempted to hold up the Atlantic Refining Company gasoline station at Troy Hill road and East Ohio street, early yesterday.

Frank Kelly, of 60 Orr street, a special patrolman, waited in the darkened confectionery of Joseph Wesotsky, 2234 Forbes street, as Moyer and his companion entered the storeroom through a side door which they had jimmied, according to a police report.

SHOT IN BACK

Kelly said he was employed to watch the store, which has been held up several times, according to police. Kelly was arrested at Center avenue station.

Charles Bruninghous, 37, a son of Peter Bruninghous, proprietor of the Little Bo Peep barbecue, discharged at shotgun at Reitzel and Gibson when he observed them jimmying a door of the barbecue, police reported. Bruninghous and his father were on the porch of another building across the road, they said.

The younger Bruninghous fired as the youths fled, and the shot entered Reitzel's leg as he climbed into an automobile, it was reported. With Gibson at the wheel, police said, the suspects sped away, closely followed by Bruninghous in another automobile.

LEAPS FROM AUTO

Patrolman Jack Doyle, of Millvale, attempted to stop the car as it sped through the business district, he said. Bruninghous picked up the officer a moment later. When the suspects' car slowed to turn into Sevy road, Reitzel leaped out and was captured. After driving through a road construction barricade, Gibson escaped. He was arrested at his home later. The car was a stolen one, police said.

According to Millvale police, Reitzel said he went with Gibson for a ride, not knowing that he contemplated a holdup. Reitzel's injuries are not serious, it was reported at Allegheny General Hospital.

Rafalski and Leja were shot when they entered the gasoline station, where the officers lay in wait for the bandits, according to police.

Patrolmen Edward Werner and John Wacher shot the youths when, it is alleged, they tried to hold up Davis Meeker, of 3220 Beaconhill street, manager of the station, according to the police report, which said the officers were assigned to the station after the fifth robbery at the station when a bandit trio kidnaped Meeker.

THE SISTERS MOODY BACK HOME AT 910 BRYN MAWR ROAD . . . . . THEY HITCH-HIKED A THOUSAND MILES IN SIX DAYS

Sisters on Vacation, Hitch-Hike 1,000 Miles

Two pretty sisters with a yen for adventure were back in their home in Schenley Heights today, telling of the thrills of hitch-hiking 1,000 miles in the short period of six days. It was their vacation trip.

The hitchers are Tibby Moody, 22, and her sister Ruth, 27, of 910 Bryn Mawr road. Tibby works as a manicurist in a downtown shop and Ruth is a nurse. She was formerly a nurse to Ann Harding, the movie actress.

Wore out no shoes.

Averaged over 100 miles on each hitch.

Ruth Moody added:

It was a perfect trip and a treat for tired nerves. We didn't even have any luggage worries. "Tib" was dressed in a riding habit and I wore a golfing outfit."

END OF STRIKE ON P. O. SEEN

Settlement of the hoisting engineers' strike, which has delayed work on the new postoffice, hinged today upon the government's acceptance of sand and gravel which two local companies agreed to supply. Samples of the sand and gravel have been sent to Washington for approval.

The unloading of sand and gravel by non-union workmen hired by a sub-contractor was given as the cause of the strike which affects about 200 workmen.

107TH GUNNERS TAKE FIELD

TOBYHANNA, Pa., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The 107th Field Artillery of Pittsburgh, broke camp here today for a three-day bivouac in the vicinity of Gouldsboro.

Tents will be pitched at a convenient camping spot and temporary quarters erected for the bivouac period while the military problem is executed.

The 108th Field Artillery of Philadelphia, which arrived in arrived in camp Saturday, drew ammunition today for their initial firing tomorrow. Plans have been made for firing with six-inch guns.

Awards for the best non-commissioned officer went to Sergt. Ryan, of Battery E., while Private Hoffman, of Battery B, received the distinction of the best private.

Prior to the breaking of camp, thousands of spectators witnessed the mounted review of the 107th before Gen. William G. Price, Jr., retiring commanding officer of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

CRUSADE HEADS SHUN TICKETS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Although pleased with the steps taken by the two major political parties toward repeal, the Crusaders, militant anti-prohibition organization, will give no active support to either candidate in the fall presidential campaign.

Instead, the support of the Crusaders will continue to be thrown to the wet candidates for Congress, "Which, after all, is the group that will end prohibition in this country," according to Fred G. Clark, national commander-in-chief.

The national board of trustees of the Crusaders issued a formal statement today commending President Hoover's "frankness" in his attitude toward repeal, as expressed in his recent speech of acceptance.

FRANCE DOUBTS PEACE ASSURED

METZ, France, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—France hopes for peace, but will keep her powder dry, according to Premier Herriot, who, in announcing the policy, referred to the acceptance speech of President Hoover and to Secretary Stimson's recent address on the Kellogg-Briand act.

The Premier's declaration was made yesterday in an address here at the opening of the Moselle Canal. He said:

"We hear the voices of friends who assured us that war has been abolished. We would like to believe them and associate ourselves with their optimism without delay."

But, he added, it is easier to conceive such a state of affairs in a country safe from violation than "on this soil which so often has been torn up."

BROADWAY REST FOR SHOW GIRL

Marjorie, an ex-Follies girl, who was known as the girl with the $1,000,000 perfect legs," and her brother, a cartoonist, went to Lake Archer in Wrentham a week ago to rest. Instead, they said, they ran into more excitement than Broadway could provide.

Both Whittingtons are out on bail and will appear in court at Franklin Thursday to answer charges of disturbing the peace. The charges grew out of a party at the Whittington cottage during which James Gillis was stabbed with an ice pick. He is still in a hospital suffering from superficial wounds while the Whittingtons are at a Boston hotel.

Early Mayas Had No Fear for Dentist

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—There was no fear of the dentist's chair among the ancient Mayas of Central America. They beat nature by having cavities drilled in their teeth to make room for jade inlays.

CHIEF COOTIES SET FOR TOUR

Walter J. Winter, supreme adjutant, and William J. Creehan, supreme commander of the Military Order of the Cootie, will leave Pittsburgh tomorrow for a tour of inspection of branches of the order in 16 states.

'KIDNAPER' ONLY WANTED MEAL

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Police investigation of the "kidnaping" of Patricia McMillin, daughter of United States Consul Stewart McMillin, last Friday, showed today that the man who was thought to have kidnaped her only wanted to get a meal.

When the little girl strayed from a park where she was playing, it developed, the unidentified man led her to a restaurant, where he ordered a hearty meal for both of them and then told the waiter he had forgotten his purse.

He said he would go and get some money and in the meantime left Patricia as surety. He was not heard from again.

The McMillins are from Lawrence, Kan.

STORE MANAGER BOUND, ROBBED

Blindfolded and gagged with his own apron, his arms and legs tied with rope, Robert J. Gracey, of 5817 Holden street, manager of a F. H. Butler store at 6100 St. Marie street, early today was forced to lie on the floor while three Negro bandits escaped with $20 from the cash register. He was slugged.

Gracey, alone at the time, said it was the fifth time in two years he had been held up. From Gracey the bandits took his wrist watch.

Snake Causes Panic 100 on Ferry Die

BOMBAY, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—About 100 persons were believed to have drowned today when a ferryboat capsized near Kolhapur while crossing the swollen river.

A large snake sprung from a floating tree into the midst of the 120 passengers, who all rushed in fright to one side of the boat, turning it over.

Part of the crew and some of the passengers reached shore, but it was believed the number was small.

RUSS-JAP WAR CLOUDS FADE

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The Russo-Japanese war cloud that has hung over the Far East since the Japanese invaded Manchuria last September had thinned considerably today.

Summer orders issued by the Soviet revolutionary war council considerably eased the tension of the military forces, and they were accompanied by the announcement that the dispute between Russia and Japan over Pacific coast fishing rights had been settled.

The fishing rights dispute has been the source of constant strained relations between the two countries. The negotiations which settled it took a year and a half.

Two Children Dead, Poison Food Blamed

GALENA, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Poisoning which caused the deaths of two children here, and the illness of six other persons, today had been traced to food poisoning instead of to milk believed to have been poisoned when the cow ate snake-weed.

SUGAR BEETS TO ASSIST FARMERS

The farmers of 16 western states will receive over $50,000,000 for their sugar beets in this season's beet sugar campaign.

Beet sugar production will provide employment for 200,000 persons on the farms and in the factories this summer and next winter, with other thousands given work in connection with transporation and distribution.

This estimate, based upon the present growing crop and upon past experience, is conservative and the total number of workers may reach a quarter of a million, according to information made public by the United States Beet Sugar Association.

CROP PLANTED

The 1932 sugar beet crop is in the ground, the association reports, and approximately 800,000 acres are under cultivation. For this acreage more than 80,000 field workers have been given employment. In addition, the 100,000 and more farmers who grow the beets are engaged in raising this profitable crop.

As the growing progresses, additional workers will find employment, and during the harvest season in the fall it is estimated that the total number of field hands will exceed 90,000.

RAILS HELPED

Besides providing employment for farmers and field workers in 16 states, sugar beet growing is an important source of revenue for railroads and the trucking business. Thousands of cars and trucks are required for the movement of the beets to the sugar factories, the beet pulp back to the farms for the feeding of cattle, and also for the transportation of coal, lime rock, beet seed, fertilizer and other material required by the industry.

In connection with the association's report on employment for this summer and next winter, the manufacturers and growers warn against invasion of sugar beet territory in the hope of getting work. There is plenty of local labor and arrangements already have been completed by employers.

GRISELL JOINS ASSOCIATION

T. O. Grisell, of New York City, has been elected secretary of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association, succeeding Rodney J. Alexander, resigned. Mr. Grisell was for six years with the George Batten Company and one year with Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne as director of the marketing department.

Three years ago, he left advertising work to take up the presidency of the Neidich Viscose Company, from which position he recently resigned. In the field of distribution, he is known for his work on trading areas in the United States and his book, "Budgetary Control of Distribution," published by Harper. All of his early life was spent in the production end of the oil business.

Industrial Conference Board Favors Use Of Acceptances

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

IN FURTHERANCE of a concerted plan initiated by leading American industrialists to stimulate interest in the use of trade acceptances as a means for the expansion of the volume of credit available to industry, Magnus W. Alexander, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, announced that he has sent a letter to about 2,000 industrial concerns throughout the country, urging immediate and serious consideration and adoption of the trade acceptance plan.

One of the prime purposes of the letter is to secure an expression of intention from the concerns addressed. Referring to this Mr. Alexander said that a great stimulus to business in all parts of the country may be expected to result from an expression of intention on the part of business concerns generally to put their buying and selling transactions as far as practicable for their respective businesses, on the trade acceptance basis.

* * *

Would Increase Credit Resources

THERE WOULD thus be applied a ready means of opening the vast credit facilities of the banks to business concerns both large and small wherever situated. The use of trade acceptances would have the effect of speeding up the turnover, increasing the net return, and improving the credit standing of business concerns, since collections would be expedited by the substitution of readily negotiable paper for slow open-book accounts. Mr. Alexander's letter said:

"Under date of June 25, 1932, I called your attention to the trade acceptance method of financing and suggested that in the interest of sound business practice you use this method to the fullest extent consistent with the conditions surrounding your business transactions.

"The replies to my letter by industrial concerns indicate a great interest in the proposal, and many express their intention to put this method of trade financing into effect. On the other hand, some of the replies show a definite lack of familiarity with the trade acceptance method."

* * *

Use to Be Restricted To Current Accounts

THE OBJECT of the letter was to point out the desirability of substituting trade acceptances for time transactions, in order to increase the effective use of bank credit by industry and expand the volume of commercial paper eligible for discount with commercial banks and for rediscount with Federal Reserve banks. The use of trade acceptances is designed to convert into negotiable instruments open book accounts where cash discounts for prompt payment are not used.

The letter pointed out that the trade acceptance method should be restricted to current transactions for purchases and sales of goods and not extended to past due accounts. Also, in introducing this method, caution should be exercised and the credit position of the customer and the availability of banking facilities should be taken into account.

PRICES STAGE RECOVERY

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The accelerated upswing in security and commodity markets during the past month is a reflection of fundamental factors definitely favorable for business recovery which have come to the surface since the beginning of July, says The Business Week.

Foremost among them in the foreign field have been the Lausanne reparations settlement and the successful British war loan conversion. In the domestic sphere the most important influence has been the progressive extension, since congressional adjournment, of the administration's comprehensive and systematic program for stimulation of private enterprise and employment by credit expansion.

The relative stability of business indicators, the strengthening of basic commodity prices and the vigorous revival of domestic and foreign investment interest in American security markets in recent weeks all suggest that the bottom of the depression may have been passed.

For the week ending August 6, The Business Week's Weekly Index of Business Activity showed a preliminary reading of 54.9, unchanged from the revised reading for the previous week. For the comparable week a year ago, it stood at 73.9.

Serum Purified By New Method

CHICAGO.—(INS.)—After five years' experimentation, Dr. William Welker, of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, announced he has purified anti-toxic serums so that the unpleasant after effects are greatly modified. He said he treated more than 800 persons during his study, administering serums for scarlet fever, diphtheria, steptococcus infections and tetanus.

PENNSY BOOSTS TIRE PRICES

JEANNETTE, Pa., Aug. 15.—W. O. Rutherford, president of the Pennsylvania Rubber Company, one of the largest independent tire manufacturers, declared today that he would shortly announce an advance in the prices of tires and tubes to include the federal tire tax which his, and other tire companies, have been absorbing. The tax amounts to approximately 12 per cent.

Mr. Rutherford stated that in his judgment the rubber industry as a unit should take this constructive step, as absorption of the tax not only is definitely retarding the industry's rehabilitation, but is aggravating competitive conditions in both manufacturing and retail channels. He said:

"It is time for the rubber industry to go long on America. We as an industry cannot continue to sell this country short, as we have been doing for three years, and retain public favor.

"Public interest is focused on one thing, and that only—industrial rehabilitation. It wishes us to place our business on a sound basis. It looks to us to take measures that will give it renewed confidence in our securities. It expects us to make such moves as will enable us to increase the employment of labor."

Wholesale and Jobbing Trade Conditions

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Tabloid review of business conditions in the wholesale and jobbing trade, the retail trade and manufacturing and industry, as well as the state of collections, reported to Bradstreet's last week from the following centers:

FIRM DOUBLES INSURANCE POLICIES

A bright ray of optimism shone through statistics compiled this week by the Edward A. Woods Company, local branch of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. More than 100 per cent increase has been noted in the number of policies sold during the first two weeks of August this year, as compared to the same period last year, with a corresponding increase in the total amount of money invested, according to W. J. Powell, vice-president. He said:

"This remarkable increase in business during these generally conceded hard times, has been effected as a tribute to William M. Duff, president, who is now in San Francisco attending the annual National Association of Life Underwriters' Association."

In addition to the large number of new policies being sold, fewer requests for loans on existing policies have been made during the past two weeks than during similar periods in the last three months. Mr. Powell continued:

"This fact is construed to indicate a lessening of individual financial stress among our policy holders. Personal affairs are evidently stabilizing themselves so that fewer people are drawing on their insurance policies. Either employes are less fearful of losing their employment or a new confidence has been established in business circles with an evident easing of credit strain."

During the first six months of 1932, the Equitable company showed an increase of 4,500 policies. Their statistics show that after paying out the usual death claims, cash surrender values and dividends, they still had $40,000,000 to invest. Their cash reserves were also improved by approximately $10,000,000 during 1932, according to Mr. Duff, president.

COPPER MARKET UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Copper held steady with moderate quantities of nearby metal still available at 5.38 cents for electrolytic delivered in the Connecticut Valley, while other producers asked 5 cents. Although actual domestic business was described as moderate, increased inquiry was reported in the market, partly from large electrical companies. Foreign consumers were less active buyers following recent heavy purchases, and the export price fluctuated irregularly.

Tin was firmer in sympathy wth London and an improved statistical position.

Zinc held steady, owing largely to firmness of sellers' views who restricted offerings in sympathy with a firm undertone to the ore market.

SCHOOL ADDS ACCOUNTING CLASS

So great has been the demand for the junior year's course of study at Pittsburgh School of Accountancy that, when that group begins its work on September 15, classes will be available at both 6 and 8 o'clock.

Over 150 young businessmen and women who have finished the first two years at the well-known downtown institution, will thus be starting on the last half of the training prescribed by the Pace course in accountancy and business administration.

The first semester of the junior year is composed of accounting for distribution and personal service agencies. Members of the class will also spend some of their time surveying such legislation as the federal reserve act and the bankruptcy act. The second semester will be devoted to auditing and an exhaustive research into the methods of federal taxation, including the new tax law. The instructors will, in keeping with the custom at Pittsburgh School of Accountancy, be practical men, certified public accountants or members of the Pennsylvania Bar, eminently qualified by experience to teach their respective courses.

The ambitious youths who have enrolled for the junior year are to be greatly complimented, according to faculty members, not only upon their successful completion of an admittedly difficult course of study, but also upon their opportunity to study, in the future, such vitally current subjects as those which are in store for them.

U. S. AIR LINES TRAFFIC UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Passengers carried on domestic air transport lines during the first six months of 1932 totaled 223,834, according to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, Inc.

This is an increase of 27 per cent as compared with the first half of 1931, when 176,143 passengers were carried. A total of 26,035,920 miles were scheduled and 23,633,036 miles flown, an increase of approximately 30 per cent as compared with the 1931 period when 19,118,857 miles were scheduled and 18,242,475 miles flown.

Air mail poundage in 1932 ran between 4 per cent and 5 per cent less than 1931 up to June. June's volume brought the total for the first half to 4,232,767 pounds or 6.4 per cent under the amount carried during 1931 period.

Air express poundage totaling 668,250 was reported during the first six months of this year, an increase of 72 per cent over the corresponding period of 1931.

Unlike other years, mileage flown, which reached a total of 4,137,000 miles in March, has remained at practically that same level each succeeding month. No new lines have opened operations and extension of routes and schedules has been offset by consolidations. This makes the steady increase in passenger and express volume more significant.

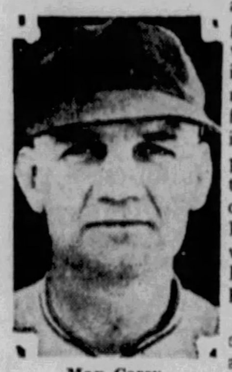
NEW FLAG THREAT FACED IN DODGERS

THE PIRATES YESTERDAY found remaining idle much more profitable than playing has been to them since the closing days of July. Second-division clubs helped them all-around. The Cardinals gave them the greatest lift, pulling Pittsburgh up to within half a game of first place by beating Chicago twice, possibly because the now exonerated Cubs had not relaxed from the strain of the untimely Landis investigation, which, as everybody expected, led to nothing but publicity for the Judge. By taking the second half of a dual bill with Brooklyn, the Giants kept the Dodgers from advancing to within half a game of the Bucs, and the Reds pushed back another contender, Boston, by trimming the Braves twice.



Max Carey

But starting again today, the Rovers will have to look out for themselves, and right off the reel they face a new pennant menace in the Dodgers. On July 23, Max Carey's club was in seventh place and 12 games behind the Bucs. Today it is only a game and half behind, as the result of a sensational drive in which it has won 19 of its last 24 games—one from the Phils, five out of six from the Cards, three out of four from the Cubs, three straight from the Pirates, three out of five from the Reds, and four out of five from the Giants. The Corsairs will have to come out of their slump right away and do some tall old ball playing, or even second place will be slipping out of their grasp. The Dodgers spell lots of trouble. Though a victory today would give the Pirates the same percentage as the Cubs under the three-decimal system, Chicago still would be leading actually and in possession of first place by a thin whisker. Carried out to four figures, the percentages would be: Chicago .5454; Pittsburgh, .5446.

AMONG THE FIRST to go into the baseball market and invite deals when the trading season opens on September 26 will be the St. Louis Browns. Bill Killefer and Phil Ball now realize that they made a mistake in refusing to entertain any trade proposals last winter and they mean to take a different course for 1933.

Killefer makes it known that he is willing to trade any or all of his players with the exception of three. The only ones for whom he will not consider offers are Goslin, Blaeholder and Mellilo.

A NEW SLUGGING threat with whom the National League pitchers will have to deal when another season arrives is George Puccinelli, who is to come up from the Rochester farm in the spring for a Cardinal tryout.

Puccinelli, hitting around .400, is rated the greatest hitter in the International League, though Ollie Carnegie, former local sandlotter, and Buzz Arlett top him in homers and runs knocked in. Pooch's wallops travel on a line. One of the strongest men in baseball, he is termed a power hitter. A Newark player says he takes such a strong swing that he gets basehits even when he does not connect fairly.

IN THE OPINION of Burleigh Grimes the Pirates made their spurt too soon for their own good. "It doesn't do to get on edge too quickly," the Cub pitcher argues. "September is the time to play your best ball, when the other chaps are tired. It's easy to fall over the edge once you hit the peak and go stale, everything being so finely balanced. I know in my own case I like to come along slowly in the spring, winning my early games 6-5 and scores like that. Take the Giants, for instance. There was a great-looking ball club in California. No, it wasn't merely great-looking. It WAS great. But the New York players must have worked too hard in the exhibition games, for I've never seen anything like their collapse. I don't believe in those crazy starts."

Lefty O'Doul

ONE OF THE tasks confronting the Pirates in the four-game series with the Dodgers, starting today, is the stopping of Lefty O'Doul, whose home-run rampage had much to do with the rout they suffered during their last Brooklyn visit of sad memory.

The confidence so openly expressed by O'Doul himself that he is going to lead the National League in hitting again this year, as he did in 1929, is shared by his teammates. Other members of the Carey troupe, including Glenn Wright, former Pittsburgh shortstop, believe Lefty is just about the last word in hitting class.

"WHO'S THE BEST of all the good hitters in the National League?" repeated Wright when Ed Murphy put that query to him. "Considering all things, including form at the plate and timing of pitched balls, I'd say that O'Doul is the best.

"When Lefty is hitting in his true form, he's at ease at the plate; has perfect control over his bat, and with his keen vision he never loses sight of a pitched ball. Paul Waner is a great hitter, but he doesn't employ as much science as O'Doul."

THOSE WHO THOUGHT that harness racing was passing on may be forced to revise their opinions. Reports for the season indicate that the sport is getting back into a pretty healthy state. More than 10,000 trotting and pacing horses are racing in about 900 meetings this year, and when it is pointed out that more than $5,000,000 is up for purses it will be seen that the harness game is on a firm foundation. An old-timer recalls that 30 years ago only 8,500 went to such races in a full season. It is estimated that at the close of the 1932 campaign more than 15,000,000 will have seen the trotters and pacers in action.

AMONG THE OLYMPIC heroes of yesteryear who sat in at the 1932 games concluded yesterday in Los Angeles was Peter O'Connor, still rated by many veteran athletic authorities as the greatest broad jumper that ever lived, even though his records no longer stand.

This year's meet was the tenth of the Olympic series, and O'Connor has seen all of them. His own best jumping record was made at Dublin in 1901. He leaped 24 feet 11¾ inches, and it was 20 years before anyone else jumped that far.

HUBBARD, CATOR AND Nambu have jumped a foot or more farther than O'Connor ever did, but it must be remembered that Peter competed under different conditions. He wore crude shoes and jumped from a rough take-off. The scientific tricks, such as the kick, had not been perfected in O'Connor's day.

Eddie Tolan

With modern advantages, it is held that Peter might have beaten with ease the best mark of the present time. And O'Connor, though now 59, is still amazingly active. He challenged any man of his age in the United States to meet him in a 100-meters dash, a hurdle race or a broad jump.

THE CRACKING OF THE 400-meter record by Bill Carr, though generally looked upon as one of the high spots of the Olympic Games, was taken very much as a matter of course by Eddie Tolan, the little Negro sprint champion. "Candidly, I always thought the old record was a poor one," Tolan said. "By that I mean that I always was under the impression that the old record was too slow. I could never understand why the 400 meters could not be run in less than 47 seconds. If a man runs the first 200 meters in 23 or better, he certainly should be able to run the last 200 in 23 or better."

Is Charley Baxter, the McKees Rocks lightweight, the answer to the Battling Gizzy riddle?

Can the hard-hitting youngster stave off the wild and woolly rushes of the veteran and punch his way to victory?

The answers to these two questions will be worked out tonight, when the rivals for local boxing

The battle is the first of a series of three local "naturals," involving also Willie Davies and Mose Butch, at Greenlee Field, Thursday night, and George Panka and Frank Novak, at Hickey Park, next Monday night. The Davies-Butch bantamweight tussle is a return engagement, Davies having lost to Butch by a technical knockout when the referee stopped their bout at Motor Square Garden last December with Davies bleeding badly from a cut mouth at the end of the first round. EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE INEFFACEABLE FOOTPRINTS OF TRAGEDY—In the record of western migration of the Donner party ranks with the foremost tragedies connected with the pioneers of the great domain west of the Rocky Mountains. The party, bound for the Promised Land of California, led by the brothers George and Jacob Donner, left Illinois in April, 1846, and reached Fort Bridger, Wyo., July 22. Owing to the lack of a guide and to misleading direction, the party frequently was compelled to retrace its steps. Before it reached Salt Lake Valley, where the tragic story of its sufferings began, it cut its way through what now is known as Emigration Canyon. The footprints of the oxen and the wheeltracks of the wagons still are visible, never having been obliterated in the intervening 86 years, over the Great Salt Desert west of Salt Lake. Only a few survivors of the Donner party lived to see the Land of Promise after their epopee of suffering.

TOMORROW: A PLAYFUL CENTENARIAN.

KREMER, MEINE SET TO HURL FOR PIRATES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

As they prepared to meet the invasion of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Pirates this morning realized they could advance almost to a deadlock for first place through the medium of a victory over the Dodgers this afternoon. The Cardinals gave a lot of flag contenders a life yesterday by trimming the pace-setting Cubs twice, the double defeat reducing the Chicago margin over the Buccos to one-half of a full game.

The bold stroke of the Redbirds will be commended by Pittsburgh fans, yet many of these same fans are discouraged by the stride of the home club, especially when it faces a lefthander. The Pirates in competition with Eppa Rixey Saturday resembled a Class D club at the plate and there are other southpaws in the circuit who also have a bulge on them, it would seem. Rixey cannot beat anybody else, but his sidearm slants are bad news to our lefthand offensive.

DODGERS TOUGH

The Dodgers, nevertheless, are not the sort of a ball club that will jump through for anybody, especially since they moved into the thick of the flag fight. Max Carey's fast-going team is only two games from the top as a result of the feat of the Cardinals in the bargain bill with the Cubs.

Carey's club started to hit the high spots just about the time the Pirates went into their terrible slump. Since they swung into a winning stride, the Flatbush crew have played better baseball than any team in either league. Not a few baseball folks had relegated the Dodgers to a permanent berth in the second division when Carey opened up with his best stuff.

The Braves, on the other hand, have been taking it on the button quite regularly since the Pirates dissassociated themselves from the New Englanders.

REDS WIN PAIR

The spectacle of the last-place Reds winning twice while the leaders were being bumped off in two had a remarkable effect on the whole race. The standing of the clubs discloses a compact race, to say the least.

Manager Gibson had several pitchers in shape to take on the Dodgers this afternoon, but either Heinie Meine or Remy Kremer is likely to get the assignment. If Carey runs true to form he is likely to have a left-hander ready to face the Oaklanders. Joe Shaute may get the slab slip.

U. S. ANNEXES EIGHT TITLES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The athletic forces of the United States emerged today from 16 days of unprecedented Olympic competition with the greatest collection of victories gained in this quadrennial carnival in at least 20 years.

In a swiftly-moving drama unequaled in sports history for its color and spectacular elements, for its record-breaking pace, its spills and thrills, America's boys and girls romped out in front of the rest of the world.

WIN EIGHT TITLES

They won no less than eight of the 17 separate and distinct competitions where, unofficially, team championships were involved. Italy, with three titles to her credit, was the nearest rival the U. S. A. had in the all-around race for medals and points, although there were thrills of triumph for most of the other big nations participating.

The Americans, at the outset, ran away with the track and field for both men and women and came down the stretch to add the chief prizes of rowing and boxing. They yielded the supremacy in men's swimming, for the first time, to Japan's spectacular young team, but American mermaids continued their unbroken succession of team triumphs.

All sections of the United States contributed to the jousting on a wide assortment of Olympic fronts, where the fray was continuous and dazzling. Track and field stars of the American midlands, including the great Jim Bausch, of Kansas, world record buster in the Decathlon; Eddie Tolan, of Detroit, the double sprint king, and Bill Carr, if his allegiance may be switched for the moment from Pennsylvania to Arkansas, contributed much to the sweeping victories of an American team that captured, altogether, 11 out of 23 men's events.

KEEP CREW LAURELS

As a climax California's unbeaten eight-oared crew came along to beat off Italy's remarkable challenge and make safe another long-cherished item of American supremacy.

HELEN JACOBS TITLE CHOICE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The women's national tennis championships, opening today at the West Side Tennis Club, found Helen Jacobs in the role of heir-apparent to the throne vacated by Helen Wills Moody.

Miss Jacobs, seeded No. 1, looked like the class of the field of 53, especially as the opposition was an almost exact counterpart of that through which she waded so impressively at Seabright and Easthampton.

Seeded behind Miss Jacobs in the American list were Mrs. L. A. Harper, Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter, Josephine Cruickshank, Sarah Palfrey, Caroline Babcock, Virginia Hilleary and Mrs. John Van Ryn. The three seeded foreign players included Mrs. J. B. Pittman and Joan Ridley, of England, and Marjorie Leeming, of Vancouver.

Miss Jacobs, Mrs. Pittman, Miss Cruickshank, Miss Hilleary and Mrs. Van Ryn all were in the upper half of the draw; Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Painter, Miss Palfrey; Miss Babcock, Miss Ridley and Miss Leeming in the lower.

Cincinnati Typo Nine Advances

ST. PAUL, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Cincinnati won its fourth straight game without a loss in the Union Printers' International baseball tournament yesterday by defeating the Twin Cities team, 5 to 0. It was the first defeat for the Twin Cities.

Baltimore lost its second game and was eliminated from the tournament when it was walloped by New York, 22 to 8.

Washington, the 1931 champion, beat Chicago, 10 to 6. The Chicagoans also were eliminated, made nine errors.

Tolan vs. Stella Walsh; Readers Answer Problem

Several days ago, Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, now on vacation, propounded a problem for his readers having to do with the speed of the sprint stars in the Olympic Games.

The problem was:

If Eddie Tolan runs the 100 meters in 10.3 seconds and Stella Walsh covers the same distance in 11.9, how far ahead of Miss Walsh, winner of the women's event, would Tolan, winner of the men's event, be at the finish of a race between them in which both ran at their fastest speed?

George H. Miller, of Corliss Station, figures that Tolan would be 13.4448 meters ahead of Miss Walsh at the finish line, or, if he continued running until Miss Walsh had crossed the finish line, he would be 15.534 meters ahead.

Thomas E. Messenger, of Wilkinsburg, an old track star, goes more deeply into the problem. He writes:

"As the timing is in the decimal, it is evident the watches are marked off in tenths, otherwise known as flyback dog watches and used for whippet straightaway races and sprints. We take as the basis of our calculation 100 yards in tens, known as evens. It is generally conceded that a runner making this time does the first 50 yards in 5 6-10 seconds and the second 50 yards in 4 4-10 seconds. This is due to the slower pace at the start and the flyer at 50 yards when at top speed, so that Tolan's time figures out as follows:

TOLAN'S TIME

"First 50 meters, 56% of 10.3 seconds, 5.768 seconds.

"Second 50 meters, 44% of 10.3 seconds, 4.532 seconds.

"Total, 10.3 seconds.

MISS WALSH'S TIME

"First 50 meters, 56% of 11.9, 6.654 seconds.

"Second 50 meters, 44% of 11.9, 5.246 seconds.

"Total, 11.9 seconds.

"Since Miss Walsh runs the first 50 meters in 6.654 seconds, this leaves 3.646 seconds to equal Tolan's time of 10.3 seconds. As she travels 44 per cent of her 11.9 time after the first 50 meters, she covers 34.748 meters in the remaining time. Therefore, she would be 15.252 meters behind Tolan when Eddie crossed the finish line, having run 84.748 meters in 10.3 seconds. However, if Miss Walsh had a handicap of 15.252 meters on Tolan at the start of the race, she would win every time by about nine inches. I base this upon a number of tests of a similar nature. It probably is due to the distance the scratch men is behind in the last two yards."

Butler Fair Races Draw Local Horses

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 15.—Thirty-one colts, headed by Czarina V. owned by Roy E. Sibel, mortician, of Ligonier, are entered in the stake races at the Butler Fair and Exposition which opens tomorrow. Races will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

The stake races, sponsored by the Western Pennsylvania Breeders' Association, include horses from Pittsburgh, Swissvale, Mercer, Butler, Avella, Ford City, Indiana, Ligonier, New Castle and other towns in the district.

FROGS BATTLE ACES TODAY

St. Clair Frogs will have to beat the Homestead Aces this evening at Hanger Field if they want to stay in the race for the second half championship of the West Penn League. The Frogs are tied for the lead with the Carrick Eagles. Both clubs have lost three games and the Frogs cannot afford to drop this evening's battle.

In the City League the Book nine entertains the J. L. Thomas Club. As the Bloomfielders are leading the loop, much interest will attend this contest.

Alvin (Soapy) Heyl, the Babe Ruth of the City League, is leading that circuit in the matter of home runs with 10 to his credit. He is being pressed for the honors by Jim Martell, of the J. L. Thomas nine, who has seven to his credit and is setting the pace in the extra base hit race with a mark of 23.

In yesterday's sandlot tussles, the Crawfords defeated the Books, 9 to 3; Soho McKnights won over the Lincolns, 6 to 2; West End trimmed the Homestead Aces, 11 to 6, and Banksville took over the St. Clair Frogs, 5 to 3.

ELDRED LEADS IN WEST PENN OPEN TOURNAMENT

HIGHLAND PRO SETS PACE WITH 69

By TOM BIRKS

Vincent Eldred, Highland Country Club professional, whose achievements have stamped him as the giant of Western Pennsylvania golf for 1932, clipped two strikes from par to take the lead with a 69 in the first round of the West Penn open golf championship at the South Hills Country Club today.

Out in even par 36, Eldred came home in a dazzling 33 and climaxed his round by making a spectacular bid for an eagle 2 on the 442-yard eighteenth hole. After getting off a fine drive, the Highland shotmaker used a spoon to reach the home green, and his aim was so true that the ball rolled up and struck the pin. Vince had a one-inch putt for his birdie, and he did not miss.

ALREADY BIG WINNER

Eldred opened his great 1932 campaign by leading the local delegation in the National Open, in which he finished eleventh. He then finished fifth in the Western Open, won the Pennsylvania State and Bedford Open titles, and a week ago qualified for the P. G. A. championship.

Paul Erath, pro at Edgewood, and Joe Ludes, assistant pro at Oakmont, were in a good position to dispute Eldred's right to the West Penn crown as the contestants began the second round this afternoon. Ludes matched par out and in with 36-35—71, and Erath, after carding 37 out, sliced a stroke from perfect figures on the homeward journey to get his 71.

O'HARA CARDS 72

Peter O'Hara, of Westmoreland, the defending champion, was one stroke back with 34-38—72.

Tomorrow, the qualifying round for the National Amateur tourney will be held at Oakmont. On Wednesday, the scene moves back to South Hills, where Denny St. Clair defends his West Penn amateur title.

BRANDT VICTOR

E. C. Brandt won both low gross and low net honors at Edgewood yesterday as he posted a card of 80-8—72. F. F. Roherer led the second division with 90-18—72.

At Stanton Heights, C. L. Totten finished 1 up to lead the field in the individual match play against par competition under seven-eighths handicap.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jackson won the two-ball mixed foursome tournament at the Pittsburgh Country Club with a combined card of 89-14—75.

At Highland, W. W. Stoner joined the Hole-In-One Club when he sank his tee shot on the 140-yard No. 4 hole.

GUY JUNE, HALF-MILE TRACK STAR, WITH DAVE McDONALD

RACE TIGHTENS IN NATIONAL

Associated Press.

Whatever the scientific improbability of two or more objects occupying the same space at the same time, the eight clubs of the National League are busily trying to demonstrate that it can be done.

With the end of the season only six weeks away, the clubs are so closely bunched that an attempt to pick the winner can be classed as pure suicide. Chicago's Cubs still lead the parade, but their margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates is only half a game with the Brooklyn Dodgers another game and a half to the bad.

The Cubs lost valuable ground yesterday as they surrendered two games to the Cardinals, 2-0 and 2-1 in 10 innings.

Brooklyn, driving ahead toward the lead, marked time for the day by splitting two games with the New York Giants, winning the first, 2-1, in 10 innings, and dropping the second, 8-4. Johnny Frederick set up a new major league record when he clouted a home run in a pinch-hitter's role for the fourth time this season.

The Cincinnati Reds, in last place, but only 13 games out of the lead, mowed over the Boston Braves twice, 3-1 and 9-3.

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to nine games by whipping Washington, 5-4. Lefty Gomez won his twentieth victory of the season.

The Philadelphia Athletics clubbed out a 6-to-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the first game as Jimmie Foxx hit his forty-third homer, but Johnny Welch pitched the Sox to a 2-0 shutout in the nightcap.

Tom Bridges stopped the Cleveland Indians with five hits and drove in two runs as Detroit won, 3-0.

The St. Louis Browns won two games from the Chicago White Sox, 5-0 and 9-5.

FRENCH HORSE WINS

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—A. K. Macomber's Fortune Teller today ran second to Mlle. Davies' Little Patsy, the winner, in the Prix Douzile over 2,000 meters. The French-owned horse paid off at odds of 22 to 5.

YANKEES SCORE SURPRISE WIN

By LAWSON ROBERTSON

Head Coach American Olympic Team.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 15.—The unexpected victory of the United States over the British empire here yesterday was replete with startling upsets, except in the two-mile relay, where the British team broke the world record.

Miserable weather conditions prevented the British team from making a record that probably would stand for many years. The high wind and chilly atmosphere detracted from other record-breaking performances.

Tom Hampson, who ran anchor in the two-mile event, started off with an 80-yard lead and was content to hold this advantage for one lap until he was urged by Lord David Burghley to keep going to try for the record.

WIN MILE RELAY

The race we expected to lose, due to the absence of Carr and Eastman, was the one-mile relay, with such stars on the Empire team as Walters, of South Africa, whose best time is 47 4-5 seconds; Rampling, of England, who had done 47 seconds; Wilson, of Canada, who finished third at Los Angeles, and Golding, of Australia. The American team was thought to be second best, but a surprising quarter-mile by Arnold Adams, of Bates College, brought a 10-yard lead to Gordon, who maintained this advantage to hand the baton to Carl Warner, which lead was never threatened. The individual times were: Fuqua, 49.9; Adams, 48.1; Gordon, 49, and Warner, 48.4.

The four-mile relay was an even affair for half the distance, until Cunningham, for the United States team, was outsprinted by Lovelock, from New Zealand. The 30-yard advantage gained in this race was too much for Gene Venzke to overcome and Cornes, of Great Britain, maintained this margin.

Poor baton passing in the 880-yard relay, together with the drawing of the outside position lost this race for our country. Metcalfe, our anchor man, besides getting a bad exchange, proved that he is not adept at running on the curves. On the other hand, the American 400-yard relay on which Metcalfe ran the final leg, was won by superior speed and excellent touch-offs.

HILL SHOWS CLASS

The victory of the United States teams in the steeplechase and team race at three miles was a revelation to Great Britain and an encouraging feature for our team, which has heretofore been noticeably weak in the longer runs. Joe McCluskey, of Fordham, used his usual good judgment of pace, trailing the field until the last lap, where he won in easy fashion.

Ralph Hill led the field in the three-mile team race and finished strongly without opposition in the time of 14.23, the best time ever accomplished by an American. Hill's running here and at Los Angeles has been a revelation to this country.

South Park Polo Team Gets Win

The South Park polo team evened matters with the Robin Hoods, of Charleroi, yesterday at South Park, winning an interesting match, 9 to 3. The Robin Hoods won the first game of the series on Saturday, 7 to 6.

At Charleroi, the Charleroi Veterans and the Deer Park trio battled to a 5-5 deadlock.

The Whites defeated the Shady Side Alumni riders at the Pittsburgh Polo and Riding Club field yesterday, 5 to 4, in a nip and tuck battle.

TENNIS SCENE SHIFTED TO WHEELING

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Comes mid-August and the district racquet campaign rolls merrily on toward its climax and conclusion. With Steel City luminaries returning laden aplenty with laurels of the important Western Maryland championships completed Saturday at Mountain Lake Park, attention switches promptly to the second annual Wheeling Park invitation event, beginning today in the West Virginia metropolis.

Quite a number of Pittsburgh performers have signified a hope of tussling in the Mountaineer conclave. Among those aiming to make the jaunt are Ed Alcorn, Mt. Lebanon ace; Billy O'Laughlin, Pitt-P. A. A. contender; Andy Smeaton, Duke-Edgewood crack; Bill McKenna, East End aspirant; Miriam Sullivan, 1931 West Penn feminine premiere, and the writer, Margaret Carspecken, brilliant Morgantown racquetress, likewise figures on entering the lists at Wheeling, and it is possible that several other Mountain Lake combatants of the past week will also be on deck.

Nets and Outs

It is unfortunate that R. F. Arkle, champion of West Virginia and Wheeling's most illustrious net citizen, probably will be unable to defend in his own home town tourney. Arkle is still convalescing from a severe sacroiliac strain suffered in the Westmoreland County tilting at Greensburg more than a month ago and has been advised to remain aloof from strenuous pastiming.

The Wheeling meire is scheduled to include men's singles and doubles and women's singles. Harry Corcoran is director, with the following committee in charge: Col. George Phillipps, chairman; Rawley Holcombe, Wade Kepner, John W. Handlan, Howard Corcoran, Ralph Glaser, T. F. Rasha and W. H. Mader.

Meanwhile at Louisville this week, Pittsburghers will skirmish in the National Public Parks championships. Frank Broida and Mrs. Jean Ahlberger, thrice holders respectively of the Steel City municipal men's and women's singles titles and winners of permanent possession of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Parks trophies symbolic thereof, leave today for the historic Kentucky battle site. Both stand an excellent chance of progressing far toward capture of top laurels. With Broida will be Buck Maits, Paras semi-finalist here, who will team with the slashing southpaw in the doubles division. Maits is billed for singles, too, and, provided he is able to bring his powerful wallops under control, he should scrimmage right along with the best of 'em.

The North Boroughs closed tournament, inaugurated last Friday, will be continued through the current week. Bob Lampus and Bud Leyda, if seeded in opposite halves, appear likely finalists. The caliber of racqueting displayed by these hustling youngsters at Mountain Lake Park was gratifying to behold and stamps them especially as doings-among in the most signally improved Pittsburgh netmen of the summer.

Close on the heels of these affairs arrive the Southern Pennsylvania championships, slated again this season for the six clay courts of the Westmont Tennis Club, high on the bluff atop Johnstown. Rufus Cooper, former Penn State captain, will seek definite ownership of the South Penn flagon, on which he already boasts two legs. The Westmont mixing will draw rather a flock of accomplished racketeers to Cambria County from August 25 to 28, inclusive, and even thus early it is noised about that Pittsburgh talent will join the chase. Entries may be sent to the chairman in care of the Westmont Tennis Club, Westmont, Johnstown, Pa.

It was stated unofficially at Mountain Lake Park last week that the fourth annual Morgantown Country Club invitation tourney will be run off over Labor Day. Charley Hodges will undoubtedly boss the going again, a fact certain to please the host of past visitors who aims to invade the Mountaineer stronghold once more. It is understood that after the Morgantown get-together the Allegheny Country Club may stage its second yearly invitation turf court doubles meeting with likelihood of addition of mixed doubles to the exclusively masculine program of 1931.

Cliff Sutter Wins Grass Court Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, has added the eastern grass court championship to his long list of tennis triumphs this season.

The national intercollegiate champion from Tulane conquered Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, in the final round of the Rye tournament yesterday, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Today, Sutter, Mangin, Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, John Van Ryn, Frank Shields, George Lott, Berkeley Bell, Sidney Wood, H. W. Austin, Fred Perry and many other leading stars were to start play in the annual Newport invitation tournament.

U. S. STARS WIN OVER BRITISH TRACKMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—World record time was exceeded in two events, equalled in another, and two other meet records broken as Olympic athletes of the United States defeated a team from the British Empire, six events to four in their quadrennial competition here yesterday.

Four great Empire half milers were timed in 7 minutes 40.2 seconds in the two-mile relay, bettering the world mark of 7 minutes 41.2 made in 1928 by the Boston Athletic Association.

J. V. Powell, Great Britain, led off, followed by Phil Edwards, Canadian Negro star; A. Wilson, of Canada, and Tom Hampson, of Great Britain, winner of the 800-meter race at the Olympic Games. The United States team was composed of Charles Sansone, Edwin Turner, George Bullwinkle and Charles Hornbostel.

HURDLE MARKS FALLS

The second world mark exceeded was in the 80-meter hurdles for women, when Simone Schaller, United States, with a strong wind to aid her, stepped the race in 11.6 seconds, bettering the time of Mildred Babe Didrikson at the Olympic games.

Percy Beard, who took second for the United States in the Olympic games 110-meter high hurdles, equalled his own world record of 14.2 seconds in the 120-yard high barrier event.

The 400-yard relay saw a meet record broken as the Americans, Ralph Montague, Emmett Toppino, Hector Dyer and Ralph Metcalfe, were timed in 37.5 seconds.

Ralph Hill, of Oregon, ran three miles in 14 minutes 23.3 seconds, breaking the meet record of 14 minutes 35.8 seconds established by Booth, of the United States, in 1924. Empire milers stepped out to take a surprise victory from the United States in the four-mile relay in 17 minutes 39.4 seconds.

U. S. COPS MILE

The United States team of Ivan Fuqua, A. Adams, E. Gordon and Karl Warner won the mile relay in 3 minutes 15.4 seconds, one second above the meet record. Joe McCluskey, Fordham distance star, won the two-mile steeplechase team race in 10 minutes 5.2 seconds.

In addition to the two-mile and four-mile relays, the Empire won the 880-yard relay in 1 minute 26.6 seconds and the one mile medley relay in 3 minutes 24.9 seconds.

In the exhibition events, the high jump was won by Walter Marty, Fresno State College, at 6 feet 5½ inches; the javelin throw by Kenneth Churchill, University of California, 210 feet 5 inches; the broad jump by Chuhei Nambu, of Japan, Olympic hop, step and jump champion, with 24 feet 5⅜ inches; the women's 400 relay by the British Empire team in 42.9 seconds, and in the pole vault Bill Miller, Olympic champion, and Bill Graber, world record holder, stopped with the bar at 14 feet 1½ inches.

COLTS DEFEAT LEADERS, 6-2

Cumberland hit at timely moments behind steady pitching on the part of Wicker at Cumberland yesterday to defeat the Charleston Senators, 6 to 2, in a Middle Atlantic League game. The leaders were limited to seven scattered hits.

Huntington and Clarksburg split a double header at Huntington, the Boosters winning the first game, 9 to 2, and the Generals coming back to take the second, 3 to 2.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15.—Folks sometimes ask how ball players enjoy doubleheaders. Well, we just love it when a rainy day makes us loaf, and then we hate to get out and work overtime in a doubleheader to make up for it.

Nick Altrock

Of course, winning a doubleheader—when, as and if you can do it—is sweeter than spirits of nitre, but if you split even you're only where you were in the first place and it would be just as easy to shake dice for it and save all the effort. And then, on the third hand, how'd you like to play all afternoon and have lost two games to show for it? That's too much like digging a cellar for a guy and then getting a rubber check.

GIZZY, BAXTER AWAIT BELL

BAXTER K. O. PUNCHER

Baxter will be relying mainly upon the lethal power in his right fist when he battles Gizzy tonight. He won by a technical knockout over Sammy Dorfman, of New York, his last time out, at Greenlee Field. It was the first time Dorfman ever had been stopped. Gizzy had outscored him in an earlier battle at Motor Square Garden.

Baxter also holds knockout victories over Andy Andrucci and Benny McArthur, who went the limit with Gizzy, and almost stopped Eddie Brannon, who was outpointed by Gizzy. On the basis of their past performances, Gizzy is favored to win if tonight's bout goes the limit, because of his eternal aggressiveness, while, if there is a knockout, Baxter is favored to register it.

ASTO MEETS SENICH

Indications are that the long-sought billing will draw the largest crowd of the outdoor season to Hickey Park. The minimum price of tickets has been raised from 75 cents to $1, with $2 tops, because of the large percentages being paid the windup principals.

Don Asto, of Uniontown, boxes Steve Senich, of Homestead, in the semi-final, and Al Sunseri, of Oakland, makes his professional debut against Tommy Criggan, of Homestead, and Johnny Riske, of the South Hills, opposes Jimmy Bell, of Oakland, in the preliminaries. The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

VINES VICTOR IN NEWPORT TOURNEY

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—H. Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Cal., the Newport Casino tennis tourney's defending champion, today gained the second round by defeating Hugh G. M. Kelleher, of New York, 6-3, 6-4. It was Vines' first competition since his Davis Cup victory over Henri Cochet, of France.

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, of England, top seeded in the large foreign contingent, overwhelmed Huntington Hartford, of Newport, 6-0, 6-2, to get out of the opening round. Another early victor was Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, newly-crown National junior champion, who drew a first round bye and then defeated Elliott Hobbs, of Newport, 6-1, 6-1.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Clayton L. Burwell, Charlotte, N. C., defeated Arthur Winslow, Newport, 9-7, 6-3.
J. W. Tiers, Cooperstown, N. Y., defeated J. H. Van Alen, Newport, 6-3, 7-9, 6-3.
H. W. Austin, England, defeated Huntington Hartford, Newport, 6-0, 6-2.
H. Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Cal., defeated H. G. M. Kelleher, New York, 6-3, 6-4.

CARRIERS LEAD CAUTIOUS RISE IN MARKET

Trading dwindled to less than half the volume of recent sessions, and the recovery was distinctly lacking in vigor, as most traders were inclined to steer close to shore pending further testing of the market. A firmer tone in wheat, and steadiness of cotton, were mildly encouraging.

The list had a slight setback when Du Pont cut its dividend at noon, pushed up again to the best levels of the day, then reacted from fractions to more than a point from the best. Rails were again in the lead.

Many traders apparently awaited more convincing evidence that the technical reaction which appeared late last week had been completed. The setback canceled about a fifth of the extreme rise from early July, so some quarters felt that it might easily carry somewhat further, inasmuch as normal technical reactions sometimes cancel as much as half of an upswing before the advance is resumed. The fact that selling dwindled to small volume, after a large amount of stop-loss orders had been executed on Friday and Saturday, however, was regarded as encouraging.

Textiles and wholesale drygoods remained bright spots, while week end reports indicated little change in heavier lines. Du Pont's reduction in its annual dividend to $2 from $3 was not wholly unexpected, and failed to bring such a setback as Eastman's sharp dividend cut last week. The most important dividend scheduled for the week is that of American Telephone, due Wednesday. Some usually well informed quarters are inclined to look for another $2.25 quarterly payment, or at least $2, but opinion in Wall street differed considerably as to the probable action. National Distillers announcement of a dividend payable in 1934 on the basis of a warehouse receipt for one case 15-year whisky for each 5 shares, failed to meet with a bullish response.

First National's July Sales Lower

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—First National Stores' sales for the four weeks ended July 30 totaled $7,712,081, compared with $8,230,196 in the like 1931 period, a decrease of 6.3 per cent.

BULLS EXPECT WHITE HOUSE OFFENSIVE

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The anticipated correction of stock market excesses was synchronized with President Hoover's acceptance speech, which sought to express qualified optimism toward the longer term economic future.

To the extent that the stock paper had any speculative significance, it seemingly stimulated selling impulses because the President in effect took credit for the administration for some of the attempted remedies against the depression. This attitude stressed the political aspects of the "managed recovery," and apparently advertised its somewhat artificial character. Thus, the bear market tradition that optimism from the White House is a signal for reaction was again fulfilled.

Mr. Rukeyser

FORECASTS WRONG

Such unhappy coincidences have doubtless played a part in raising Presidential feeling against the wicked bears. But the hard boiled traders in Wall street insist that the motive is not to embarrass the President politically, but has to do with the objective fact that forecasts on economic conditions from political sources have not proven accurate.

To an unbiased student of the mechanics of the market, it is apparent that a technical correction was overdue after the flighty new "bull market," and, if one pretext had not arisen, another would have been found.

CONFIDENCE NEEDED

Bull traders, as a matter of fact, are looking for fresh ammunition from the administration, which has held out the promise of new conferences with business executives to launch a new offensive against the depression. Though particular moves may be of questionable strategic value, it is at least an advance to find political and financial management in a mood to act, rather than to lay down and let nature takes its course. Among conservative business executives, however, there is a feeling that stimulus in the form of price manipulation is of questionable permanent worth. The real goal should be to seek to elevate the purchasing power of consumers—through raising farm prices relatively and through reabsorption of at least part of the unemployed in the production of capital goods, possibly through self-liquidating loans up to $1,500,000,000 by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in accordance with the terms of the Garner-Wagner law.

If security and commodity prices can be stabilized somewhere above the panic lows, business should be relieved of the handicap of the fear psychology. In tangible terms, such continued better feeling could further relieve the credit tension by a return flow to the banks of a billion dollars of hoarded currency, which would add materially to the lending power of the banks. If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would decide to stand by the remaining banks, this needed confidence might develop.

Stock Market Tone Healthier as New Week Opens

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—There is a much healthier tone to the market as the new week opens.

Speculative exuberance has been given a much-needed "spanking," the "sky's-the-limit" broadcasts have been stifled, and sanity is back.

It would be a good thing now if the market paused for a few days while a new perspective of things is attained; then possibly, with some fresh encouragement from trade or commodities, another phase of the advance could be started.

In the meantime a trading range is indicated around current levels. While this goes on, it is likely that certain specialties, with earnings and prospects in their favor, will be taken in hand.

In addition, it would not be surprising if the short interest tended to increase; which would be a help.

There are still plenty of skeptics around and those willing to try for a turn on the downside to bring in short selling. There is enough uncertainty about the outcome of the American Telephone dividend meeting on Wednesday to act as a restraining factor. The odds are heavily in favor of the regular $9 rate, but the decline in the company's earnings, with current net well under the dividend, raises some question.

Du Pont directors meet today. The board is understood to be divided on whether to continue the $3 rate.

Rails Recall Men To Move Big Crops

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Railroad officials, anticipating large movements of bumper crops in the West, Middle West and South, said they contemplated calling furloughed men back to work. The Pennsylvania Railroad said 2,000 employes already have been returned to their jobs, and other lines expected to add men as the crop movement started.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—After some backing and filling in the first hour, the Curb Market resumed its upward swing but at a somewhat more sedate pace than shown last week.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Durham Hosiery Boosts Pay as Orders Rise

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 15.—The Durham Hosiery Mills have increased salaries and wages 10 per cent, due to greatly improved business conditions and a corresponding increase in orders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It is said in brokerage quarters that a number of the larger stock exchange firms have come to the conclusion that the improvement in the market volume is likely to last for some time, and consequently have raised employes' salaries from the very depressed levels which were in effect for a long time before the market turned.

Advance in Bond Market Seen as First Step in Major Recovery

Enhancement in bond values already has imparted tremendous new strength to the entire financial structure, the benefits moving through the whole field whether individuals, banks, or other financial institutions such as insurance companies, etc. The bond rise mainly is responsible for the sustained faith that a major step toward general recovery has been inaugurated. Not a few previously doubtful leaders of financial thought have been won to the conclusion that the prospects are better at present for industrial revival that at any other period in the long depression. The one retarding feature of the entire psychological improvement, of course, is the quite apparent political tone to a good deal of the stimulants now so anxiously thrown out in the hope of being effective prior to the election. However, it may be that the very willingness of the government and its financial allies to cast aside caution and allign themselves on the side of action may throw the industrial machine into faster gear.

Report was current in speculative circles indicating that close watch is being kept on the character of selling in stocks. If current gossip is well-founded exchange officials are apparently quite determined to prevent leaning in the direction of "bear-raiding." It should be recalled, however, that under rules now in force selling of that character is virtually impossible, inasmuch as actual sales are given precedence over short offerings, and the latter cannot be executed at prices lower than the last actual sale. In other words it is not possible to offer stocks down for short account and thus force liquidation.

A rush to disgorge hastily accumulated holdings of government bonds eligible under the home loan act for currency issue made for rather acute weakness in that part of the investment list at the week-end. The selling was influenced by the ruling of the attorney general in which he holds that the currency privilege will expire at the end of the third year set by the law. For the better part of the week there had been much discussion on that phase of the situation with some seeking to interpret the act as permitting currency issued against the bonds to remain out until maturity of the issues. The attorney general's ruling, however, definitely clears that point.

One of the largest gains to be recorded in recent months in American monetary gold stocks is expected today when a sizeable [illegible] gold will be released from French earmarked account to take care of the approaching Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railway Company bond redemption. The French Railway Company has contracted to retire $75,000,000 of its two outstanding American issues. One issue will be called for payment next Monday and the other on September 15.

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce confirmed claims of the United Air Lines in establishing a world's record in aviation circles for the number of passengers transported in a single month. The line carried 10,700 passengers in July, 1,700 passengers above the previous month. The number put the United Air Lines to the fore as the first air line to carry 10,000 or more passengers a month, the Chamber of Commerce said. During the first half of the year, the company showed a 130 per cent increase in business compared with the same period last year.

Because of the substantial advance of sugar prices it is evident that June estimates of earnings of Central Aguirre Associates for the fiscal year ended July 31 last must be revised upward. At that time it was estimated that net profits for the year would fall in the vicinity of $1.60 a share. It was observed in June that there remained to be shipped by Aguirre about four cargoes of sugar and that the price obtained would determine the extent by which earnings would vary from the $1.60 estimated. Since June sugar prices have advanced half a cent or more, bringing profit on Aguirre's carryover up sufficiently to spell total net earnings for the latest fiscal year more nearly the equivalent of $2 a share provided the carryover is disposed of around current prices.

Vital Improvements In Industries Make Outlook Encouraging

—By B. C. FORBES—

Mr. Forbes

ALMOST COMPLETE elimination of what was the awesome mountain of government-owned wheat overhanging the market is now followed by prospects of a cotton crop third smaller than last year's.

These are developments of powerful importance.

THE OIL INDUSTRY, far flung in its influence and ramifications, has apparently succeeded in setting its house in order after years of condemnable demoralization.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY, vital to certain states, has received the protection of a four-cents-a-pound tariff; riotous domestic over-production has been arrested; the largest foreign producers are reported to have reached a marketing modus vivendi; quotations for the metal, after sinking to absurd depths, are advancing.

RUINOUSLY LOW PRICES have brought about drastic curtailment of rubber production in the world's principal fields; the market value of raw rubber consequently has increased very substantially, adding many millions to the inventories of rubber manufacturers.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY, too long plagued by cut-throat price cutting, has agreed to the appointment of ex-Secretary of Commerce Lamont as active head of the Iron and Steel Institute, with the idea of having him become a sort of overlord or conciliator or umpire—what has been popularly dubbed a "czar" or "dictator."

This move may lead to far-reaching beneficial results.

EASTERN RAILROADS have received official blessing on their planned mammoth consolidations, and western railroads propose to appoint a functionary similar to Lamont.

THE COUNTRY'S strongest banking interests plan to encourage and finance the purchasing of agricultural commodities and other raw materials by manufacturers, small as well as large.

Hitherto the efforts of one or two gigantic banks to induce customers to borrow for such a purpose have borne meager fruit; but, the new campaign, so influentially, officially and financially indorsed, stands a fair chance of achieving something worth while.

REAL ESTATE has suffered extremely acutely since borrowing became practically impossible.

The organization of eight to 12 governmentally - sponsored Home Loan Banks, supplemented by the lifting of the ban on lending by a number of strong banks, should, if prudent courage be exercised, afford welcome, stimulating relief in many sections of the country.

QUOTATIONS FOR GRAINS, cotton, pigs, cattle, sheep, hides, eggs, butter, lard have lately added hundreds of millions to the total value of our farm products.

The importance of this needs no stressing.

WITHIN THE LAST five weeks the gains in the quoted value of stocks and bonds throughout the country has approached ten thousand million dollars—ten billions. On the New York Stock Exchange alone stocks recovered approximately five billions during July, bonds advanced more than a billion and a quarter. On every security exchange throughout the length and breadth of the land quoted values bounded up briskly, and August has brought notable additional gains.

The rapid creation of so much additional "wealth," so much additional borrowing power is self-evident.

THE GOLD OUTFLOW, which reached unparalled volume, has been transformed into a gold inflow which promises to increase our banks' lending facilities two or three billions.

Europe, which not so long ago could not sell its American investments fast enough, has since been a consistent buyer.

SO, MAYBE, the betterment in sentiment is not as inexplicable as pessimists and bears would have us believe.

May it not be that we have finally reached the bend in the long downhill lane?

California Crude Production Higher

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—California crude oil output during the week ended August 13, averaged 474,675 barrels daily, an increase of 8,000 barrels daily over the previous week, according to the California Oil World.

NEW ENGLAND TRADE GAINS

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—(INS.)—New England business is continuing a "forward march."

This was revealed today by the New England Council in a compilation of reports by chambers of commerce, boards of trade, trade associations and other sources throughout the six states.

The largest increase was noted in the shoe industry, according to the report, with substantial forward movements recorded in the textile industry, and in the manufacture of watches, fibre board, hats, office equipment, ranges and other articles.

The survey further revealed that textile production is booming all over New England and that sufficient orders have been received in other lines of business to justify capacity production.

Order 'Recapture' On Lehigh-Hudson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended a finding by the commission that the excess net railway operating income of the Lehigh and Hudson River Railroad during certain periods was $680,708.99, of which $340,354.50 is recapturable by the government.

The excess income was earned during the periods September 1 to December 31, 1920, and the calendar years 1921 to 1927, inclusive.

Insull Auction Again Postponed

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Postponement of the auction of the collateral of the Insull Utilities Investment and Corporation Securities Company, held by New York banks, until noon Wednesday, was announced today.

Similarly the auction of Middle West Utility common stock held by the Central Hanover Company and the Guaranty Trust Company as collateral loans to the same Insull company was postponed until 3:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Pig Iron Inquiry Buoys Steel Hopes

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Sales of pig iron and scrap have converted optimism into tangible business in the steel industry, said the magazine Steel, with conditions better at Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Buffalo and Toronto. Particular interest was reported on the part of small buyers as to forward requirements, which may be "the forerunner of better conditions next month," the magazine said.

Eight Cents Bid For Oats in Iowa

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—According to cash handlers, around 10 cents per bushel is being offered for oats at interior Illinois points and around 8 cents per bushel in Iowa. September at the inside figure today was 16⅞ cents, a new low for the season, and 17⅞ cents above the inside price at which that future sold on September 8, 1896.

No Extra Holiday On Cotton Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange has denied the petition of members for a ballot on making Saturday, September 3, preceding Labor Day, an exchange holiday.

Blondie Rushes From Party After Hearing About Father Being Hurt

CHAPTER XIX.

"Like it?" asked Blondie.

"I'm going to have my place done in silver and black—modern, you know," Lurline said, as Blondie left the room.

Lurline walked over to the dressing table and started to freshen her makeup. Her eye caught Blondie's jewel case, and she looked around hastily to be sure she was in the room alone. She lifted the lid quickly and gasped in amazement at its contents. Hearing Blondie's approach, she dropped the lid quickly.

"Sure," said Lurline.

"Got a date?"

"Not till the theater . . ."

Blondie poured the drinks. As she handed a glass to Lurline she held her wrist out for Lurline's inspection.

"You know where you hold me in the ballet?" she said. ". . . look where your nails have been, every night."

"I know," said Lurline, glancing at the deep scratches. "I've hated you. I couldn't help it, Blondie; I wanted to hurt you."

"You thought I was seeing Larry?"

"Yes—you were'nt, were you? . . . On your honor?"

BLONDIE REMEMBERS

"You're improved . . . you've developed . . . you talk like a lady." Lurline was eager to change the subject.

"I didn't know you really cared for him," said Blondie, ignoring Lurline's comment.

"Who wouldn't care for him—you do, too. You can tell me . . ."

"Of course not," scoffed Lurline.

"It's just a rotten break . . . there'll never be anyone else—listen, you may not believe me—but do you know—I could marry Pratt!"

"He's done well by you . . ."

"Read that! . . . And it's signed!"

As Lurline read the letter with little gasps of surprise, the maid entered and called Blondie to the phone. She picked up the extension in her bedroom.

"Hello . . . Oh, hello, Paul . . . sure, come on over . . . sure, we're on a binge . . . bring 'em all . . . Lurline's here now . . . yes, the orchestra, too . . . sure, all of 'em . . . we'll have a real party . . . hurry, now . . . goodbye."

"That's the Locke twins . . . they have a gang and they'll be right over," explained Blondie.

TO DROWN SORROWS

"Swell," said Lurline. Then, handing the letter to Blondie, she said: "Why don't you marry him—it's millions."

"How?"

"It just walked out of the door—eh, kid?"

Blondie covered her feelings by going to the dressing table and returning the letter to its drawer. Then she turned quickly and cried out huskily, for her voice was choked with emotion:

"Lurline, let's go mad! Forget it all! Drown our sorrows!"

"Sure!"

Synopsis

Blondie McClune and Lottie Callahan, friends since childhood, work in the same store. After work one evening, Lottie says she has a date and asks Blondie to join her. Blondie disapproves. Two men wait for them outside the building. When one becomes too familiar with her, Blondie slaps his face and goes home alone, to the poor section of the city. Later the two girls argue about the date and it ends in a rough and tumble fight. Blondie's dress is torn and she decides to get a new one. Looking for some money she had saved, she discovers that somebody has taken it. She greets her ailing dad when he arrives home and learns that he has lost his job. Lottie leaves home in quest of a career. After a few months, under the name of Lurline Cavendish, she becomes the newest sensation of the Follies. She visits the McClunes, but is anxious to get away from the place she once called her home. Blondie is self-conscious when she meets Larry Belmont, a young broker. Lurline becomes angry with her for accepting a theater invitation from Larry. Blondie, through Larry's influence, is given a part in the Follies. Larry quarrels with Lurline when she objects to Blondie accompaning them on party. Blondie flees from home after her father criticizes Larry. She goes to Lurline, who tells her about Larry. The next day Larry tells Lurline he is through with her. Blondie is an instant hit in the Follies. Blondie fails in attempt to bring Larry back to Lurline.

Now Go On

"Mug!" smiled Blondie, filling her glass.

Again they raised the bubbling glasses to each other, but this time their eyes were filled with tears.

* * *

In less than an hour Blondie's apartment was filled with people—talking, shouting, singing, dancing, drinking—mostly drinking. Jazz kept things humming in the drawing room. In another room an accordian player pulled torch songs out of his shining box for those who wanted to sing harmony. Corks popped continuously, and champagne flowed abundantly in an ever-losing battle against unquenchable thirsts. It was a Blondie McClune cocktail party, and as such it was renowned.

CALLED TO TELEPHONE

Lurline pulled Blondie away from the piano where she was doing a solo number for the entertainment of the restless crowd.

"We'll have to sober up for the show," Lurline said, drunkenly, as she got Blondie off in a corner.

"Something tells me I won't be at the show tonight," replied Blondie, rubbing the back of her hand across her forehead.

"I'm going to take care of you, kid," said Lurline, thickly.

"Lurline, let's go mad! Forget it all! Drown our sorrows!" said Blondie.

"Who is it?" asked Blondie.

"Better go—it may be Mr. Pratt," said Lurline.

FATHER HURT

"Tell him to send up another case—two cases," said Blondie, laughing. "What'll you bet it's a new bootlegger?"

"I'll go—you can never tell about men."

As Lurline left Blondie returned to the piano and her song. The crowd was rocking with laughter at her imitation of Garbo singing an American jazz song when Lurline grasped her arm.

"Oh, Blondie! . . . Something terrible has happened!" she whispered in Blondie's ear. "It's your Pa . . . he fell and hurt himself . . he's calling for you."

"Yes, I got . . . where's that elevator?"

They shot down to the street and jumped into a waiting taxi. Lurline called out the address.

She was too stunned to talk. The shock of the news had partially swept away the effects of the champagne. Her Pa—her pal—surely nothing serious could happen to him, she thought, but that message . . . Her mind was in a whirl. She couldn't think clearly. She would have to pull herself together. Her mind raced on and on, but everything was so disconnected. Would they never get there?

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Lee Chow Prepares to Take Drastic Measures

"I suppose I ought to go away," I said, when Lee Chow had left the room.

Katherine smiled at my reluctant tone, and I flushed at her knowledge of my curiosity—for I had no illusions about my own emotions. I was intensely eager to see the next scene of this melodrama into which we, of the farmhouse, had been plunged.

"I don't see why," she said practically. "If you're good enough to prepare the way for the big entrance you're good enough to stand in the wings. They can't put me out, you know, for I shall have to watch my patient lest they tire him out, and I hereby appoint you assistant nurse.

I smiled at her foolery, even as I stepped back against the wall obliterating myself as much as possible.

"At least Lee Chow didn't tell me to go away," I said hopefully.

"And depend upon it, he would not have hesitated to fire you out upon your ear if he thought it best," she returned. "That gentleman has the hardest iron hand beneath the softest velvet glove I've ever seen. I'd hate to be in the shoes of those scarecrows in the kitchen when he gets after them."

Lillian came in last, shutting the door behind her. She came directly to us, speaking from the side of her mouth.

"I couldn't resist this chance for a box seat. Of course, we can't understand a word they say, but the show ought to be distinctly worth while. We can move a little nearer."

A GREAT MAN

Katherine and I moved forward with her until, without being at all in the way, we could see the face of the man on the bed, and those of the shackled men. Katherine drew in her breath sharply when her patient first saw the face of the man with the venomous eyes, evidently more dangerous in Lee Crow's estimation and that of Hugh Grantland, than the man who had threatened to murder me. For the wounded man on the bed shrank away beneath the bedclothing as if from a deadly blow, while his eyes showed the stark fear that had been in them whenever he referred to the men who had dealt such grievous wounds to him.

There was something in Lee Chow's manner akin to that which one imagines medieval potentates possessed; that made me realize the truth of Hugh Grantland's assertion of years ago—"There is no better, more ancient blood in China than runs in the veins of Lee Chow." Possessed of a comprehensive education in English and other languages enabling him to take his place anywhere in Occidental society, he was every whit now a great man of his own people, an arbiter of justice, from whose mandate there was no appeal.

CHINESE REMAINS QUIET

At that magic touch, fear rolled visibly from the man in the bed. He took his eyes from the venomous ones of the bound man, and turning them upon Lee Chow, spoke rapidly.

For the most of his recital, the other man kept quiet. Then, at something that frightened or angered them, they both broke into rapid speech in tones so packed with venom that I felt little chills run down my spine. But Lee Chow, turning upon them, held up his hand, said two or three syllables in a low, menacing tone, and there was no more sound from them. But there was murder, stark, threatening, in each pair of black eyes.

When the man in the bed had finished, Lee Chow uttered something that evidently was like an accolade to the sick man, for his eyes were agleam with gratitude and adoration as they looked upon his master.

Then Lee Chow turned to the two bound men, and questioned them sharply, but though no one of us could understand their speech, it was very evident that he was demanding some revelation from them, demanding it over and over, and receiving each time a sullen negative. At last he straightened himself to his full height, and turned to Hugh.

"I'm sorry, but we shall have to try the other," he said. "I must not fail, now."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Last Saturday's meeting of the Enright Chapter was filled with excitement from the moment the kiddies were admitted to the theater till the regular show started.

An unusually large number of members attended and participated in the various contests held. The meeting had resembled a political convention—in fact it was just that for a new Grand Jester was elected. After two ballots and a recount Rita Behm was declared elected, to rule for the ensuing 30 days.

SIGN RACE CLOSE

Then came the sign contest. Signs, large and small; signs good and bad were entered and it was a close race between Alfred and Eugene Pagano and Bill Eisman. Bill's sign looked like a billboard and slightly exceeded the sign made by the Pagano twins. Bill was awarded the prize. One doliar in cash! Bill has always been a strong club booster and from now on we are sure he will be more spirited than before.

After the hectic moments of the sign contest the atmosphere was given over to beauty and grace while Miss Ruthie Miller conducted another class in dancing. The terpsichorean art also found more than the usual number of followers and Miss Miller was hard pressed to find room for the class on the spacious Enright stage, but everything went over smoothly and a great time was had by all the "hoofers."

The "Hi-Score" contest finals were run off after the dancing school and the boards awarded to Eddie Rosenberger, with his score of over 3,000. A charming little miss, whose name we did not capture, was the other winner with a score high up in the twenty hundreds.

SHOE-RACE HELD

Enthused with the "Hi-Score" contest the boys just had to have another game upon which to exert themselves before the meeting closed, so under the direction of Walter Sarraf a shoe-relay race was staged. What a race! The race finished with no one knowing which team had won and many boys without shoes. Then to confuse the foot problem all the racers entered in a shoe scramble. After what looked very much like a gridiron tangle, the winner emerged and received for his efforts a nifty pair of roller skates.

The girls, not to be outdone by the boys, voiced their desire to have a "poison game"—the game played by circling around a stick—and they were informed that they would have their opportunity at the next meeting, whereupon one young lady spoke up and said that she would hold the management to that promise and would come fully prepared to carry off the prize.

Which all goes to show that the members of the Enright Chapter have had much fun and will have even more at next Saturday's meeting which will be held as usual at 11 a. m. in the Enright Theater.

The Lamar and Irwin girls played their game of baseball at the park Thursday evening. The girls don't have any luck throwing the ball. It's not likely to come very close to the girl on the base, so the latter will miss it. Of course, the runner will go on, while the girls in the outside team are gathering the ball. After the girls had tried this experiment of throwing to the bases a few times they were inclined to give it up and let the runner steal a base whenever she wanted to.

Hoover Seeks Comeback Through Old Ballyhoo

HERBERT C. HOOVER, one time prophet of prosperity, who failed to redeem the Republican party promise of continued and heightened national affluence made four years ago, seeks re-election by expressing anew the SAME OLD BALLYHOO.

As a piece of press agentry for his administration, the President's acceptance address is skillful even if not convincing.

SKETCHING a portrait of himself as King Canute sweeping back the tides of depression, Mr. Hoover, neither contrite nor modest, ignores existing conditions and makes no admission of his CHRONICALLY WRONG prophecies and of his BASICALLY ERRONEOUS original diagnosis of the economic malady.

In assessing the blame for building up an unsound structure, the President takes none on himself and his associates for seeking to intervene in the period of inflation with statements containing fatuous optimism on occasions when sane outsiders were trying to repress the irresponsible Bull movement, which culminated in October, 1929, and sowed the seeds for subsequent years of agony and distress.

IN spite of the fact that some 10,000,000 persons are walking the streets without employment, the President has the temerity to point to statistics of improved public health.

Until the life cycle of the present generation has been completed, it will be impossible scientifically to assess the full cost of malnutrition and hardship.

Instead of leading the way toward the ultimate abolition of poverty, as promised four years ago, Mr. Hoover has been at the head of the parade at a time when millions of hitherto self-supporting families were pauperized.

UNDER THE HOOVER BANNER, THE AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING HAS BEEN MATERIALLY LOWERED.

In one respect the President has lived and learned. Instead of repeating the forecast of March, 1930, that the worst of unemployment would be over in 60 days, the Chief Executive now conservatively indicates that prosperity will be found AROUND THE CORNER sometime within the next four years.

THE President showed remarkable strategic skill in indicating that the country, still facing serious depression, is just beginning to respond to the Hoover remedies, and the inference is that it is essential to the national welfare to keep the great engineer in office for another four years.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, DESPITE THE RECENT RALLIES FROM THE ULTRA DEPRESSED LEVELS OF PANIC AND DESPAIR, THE FUNDAMENTAL BUSINESS INDICES DO NOT SIGNAL RECOVERY.

There is thus far no indication that the Hoover policy of tinkering with symptoms instead of dealing fundamentally with the broad causes of the depression will succeed, even though time, acts of Providence, and the initiative of business men may lift us out of the depression in spite of Hoover.

THE disparity between raw material prices and prices for finished goods, which paralyzes trade and deprives millions of employment, persists—and the President cheerfully ignores it.

Furthermore, there is still no indication that the colossal army of the unemployed can be demobilized without a large scale program of public construction, against which Mr. Hoover, who was the ardent advocate of such a plan in former years, has recently turned his back.

Lest the voting public accept the administration propaganda that it is essential for the national welfare to keep Mr. Hoover in office, it would be well for them to review the accuracy of the President's previous business forecasts and diagnoses, as revealed in his public address.

A similar canvass of Gov. Roosevelt's state papers on economic matters shows that Mr. Hoover's adversary had a vastly better batting average for accuracy and true insight.

ACCORDINGLY, from a strictly business standpoint, it would be safe for the country to switch from Mr. Hoover, who so FREQUENTLY MISJUDGED THE ECONOMIC TREND, to Gov. Roosevelt, who before and during the depression had the COURAGE AND THE WISDOM TO TELL THE PEOPLE THE TRUTH, HOWEVER DISMAL IT HAPPENED TO BE.

Gov. Roosevelt would restore an economic equilibrium by eliminating the causes of distress and by instituting a system of intelligent economic planning.

President Hoover, relying on relief through PATENT MEDICINE REMEDIES, which fail to go to the root of things, vigorously opposes "regimenting" men, and interfering with their freedom. But the freedom which President Hoover defends and provides is apparently in more specific terms merely the freedom of farmers to become pauperized and of 10,000,000 workers to become jobless dependents upon private charity.

Eliminate Waste First

The Tax Burden on Real Estate Can Be Relieved By Economy in the City Government.

Council, given blanket authority by the Sterling act to tax anything not already taxed by the state, is reported to be considering, among other things, a tax on home furnishings.

What a roar of protest would go up from the people if that should be confirmed!

Council would like to reduce the burdensome tax on real estate, which is a commendable purpose, but does not seem to think it can do so except by taxing something else under authority of the Sterling act.

There is another alternative—to eliminate waste in the city government in the various ways suggested by the Sun-Telegraph in daily articles during the last two weeks.

Prodding the Sore Spots

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The New Househusband

It took quite a few years, and a lot of depression, to make men see that the 50-50 marriage meant co-operation in the kitchen as well as in the office. And that the working-wife required a househusband as a help-mate.

* * *

RECIPROCITY—that's what! But you can't please a woman. And now, a Tired Business Wife complains that, since she took a job, her husband just clutters up the kitchen, and wears himself all out, giving ADVICE on "how to do things."

Well, what did she expect? That's the old-fashioned man's idea of "helping with the housework." Standing around with a newspaper in one hand and a pipe in the other and contributing all the "advice," while the wife peels the onions. "Telling a woman how to do things" has been man's favorite indoor sport, ever since Adam told Eve how to wind the fig leaves together with more speed and less effort.

* * *

But when God made the world co-ed, He made everything in it co-ed. So, why can't these co-ed young couples divide the housework, according to sex and talents, just as most officework is divided?

* * *

There are some good men cooks, just as there are a few women blacksmiths. But the average man doesn't BELONG in the kitchen, any more than the average woman belongs in a blacksmith shop. He just clutters it up!

When a woman gets all through counting the laundry, darning the socks, washing the dishes, mending the linen and hanging over a gas range, there are still windows to be washed, floors to be polished, curtains to be put up, screens to be taken down, rugs to be swept and beaten, beds to be made, lawns to be mowed, gardens to be sprinkled, and bathtubs to be scrubbed. All fine, strenuous, respectable HE-man exercise!

* * *

"Reciprocity" doesn't consist entirely in taking the poodle for a walk and powdering the Little Woman's back. But that's as far as some men will go—and they do even those things a little sheepishly.

* * *

That's why the modern husband, who has discovered that "man's place is in the home" instead of in the speakeasy, is a gem of great price!

There is really nothing effeminate about cleaning house, making beds or even washing dishes. The doughboys who did it were not "effeminate!"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Diary of a modern Pepys: The household in mighty upset again by the six-weeks-old monkey the comedians, Olsen and Johnson, sent. Nor can I keep from watching its grimaces before a hand mirror. So breakfasting with H. N. Swanson and tales of his new post in cinemaland.

Working awhile, and reading the most convincing letter ever I received from an old confidence man regarding his belief in immortality. Thence to Ray Long's, a gay group there, including the Hendrick Van Loons, Phil Lennen, James Montgomery Flagg, Mrs. Kent Cooper, Leon and Natalie Gordon.

Dining at the Pavillon Royale, and talking to those valient troupers, Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields, of days when vaudeville was vaudeville. Home in the moonshine, and I sung old tunes bravely, rising to great heights on a high note in "When the Harvest Days Are Over, Jessie Dear."

* * *

Benny Fields, crooning when Vallee, Crosby and Columbo were in youknowwhats, was originator of that low-pitched style. In formative days, he salvaged a pick-thank existence as a saloon troubadour, in Chicago. From back-room table to table, the soft, mellifluous manner was employed. It was especially effective in singing some philanderer with his sweetie out of a five dollar bill. In such artifice was the croon cradled. And now look!

* * *

For the first time in a dozen years, I drove through Long Beach today. In its flourishing day, it was the American Riviera, and while not in eclipse, its luster has been dimmed. During its proudful sway, the Nassau was crowded at teatime with fashionables. Castles-by-the-Sea was in full step with dancing hordes, and the Trouville bathing pavilion was an endless procession of bathers, excited with the mass passion of being on display. What a spa!

* * *

Near the Nassau, in a bright yellow roadster, sat a beautiful young girl in astonishing bathing decollete, and tinged scarlet with sunshine. From underneath a sky-blue beret, a vagrant curl was rioting in a swift blow of sea air. She made a pretty picture. Somehow—and forgive an antiquarian his whim—I wanted to hear her voice. So I stepped to her car and inquired: "Perhaps you can tell me the quickest way to the Lido?" She glanced at me with eyes of lustrous innocence, murmured: "Perhaps," and left me standing there like a plague-taked old fool.

* * *

* * *

I just tiptoed to the kitchen for a peek at the monk. He is in a cunning coil with one arm under his head, human fashion, asleep, and contented as a kitten full of milk. From his cage comes an odor, distinctly not jamine. So far I have thought of two names, "Scratch" and "Brandy." Wait a minute. I have it! I caught a certain side view of him. His name will be Jay Price.

* * *

A stark tragedy of the Ivar Kreuger smashup echoes from Paris. It is the plight of the janitor in the Place Vendome office of the match king. Kreuger ran up a $5,000 bill for trans-Atlantic phone calls. Legally, a concierge in France is responsible for such debts. The poor victim could not pay it if he turned over the rest of his salary for life. Incidentally, in Paris there is a strong undercurrent of talk. Kreuger is alive in South Africa. After all outside a few police, no one—not even the Swedish ambassador—saw the corpse.

* * *

Movies have made numerous offers to Daniel F. Kerr to portray George Washington roles on the screen. In white wig and knee breeches, he is an amazing likeness. But he will only appear at charity shows. In professional life, he is a police inspector, and was once exalted ruler of New York's Elk Lodge No. 1.

* * *

Speaking of movies, in a balcony the other night, a gentleman with a coryza sat directly behind, coughing in sudden sullen seizures, down my neck. At first opportunity, I moved to another seat and came away with a blob of chewing gum smeared over my trouser seat. There is a touch of life's fatality about these two incidents. Wherever I go lately, I get it in one place or another.

By Elsie Robinson

A young thug named Stark died recently while undergoing the "third degree" in Nassau County, New York.

Few, I suspect, grieved because he was dead. But many are seriously concerned. There was, as you know, provocation. Stark was one of a party of young ruffians who beat and robbed the old mother of one of the policemen. And there can be no doubt that he was punished. There were seven hours of sustained torture—the details of which are largely unprintable. This culminated, they tell us, in a business known as "rocking"—concerning which the less you know the happier you will be. When that was finished, so was Stark.

The next day the public was in an uproar. Old mother or no old mother—this was too much! But not all agreed. As, for example, the writer of this letter—

"Dear Miss Robinson—

"It is a puzzle to me why all the fuss over the death of that parasite Stark, simply because he died (a natural death for the criminal) at the police station while questioned. If we really want to get rid of such people why aren't the police encouraged to act like that, instead of being criticized?

"In heaven's name, why should a gangster be treated with silk gloves—or even treated like a decent citizen? We get rid of vermin in our homes by using an exterminator — the stronger the better. Why should we not do the same with human vermin?

"If there is anything we should regret, it is that the police do not always handle similar cases in the same manner. The officers in this case should not only be released, but highly praised.

"A. CINTRON,
"1925 Seventh avenue, N. Y. C."

Maybe you don't approve of that letter. But many will. They, too, will feel that men like Stark should be eliminated. As they should. But that isn't the point.

THE POINT IS—WHO SHOULD DO THE ELIMINATING?

SHOULD WE, AS A CIVILIZED PEOPLE, OBSERVE THE PROCESSES OF THE LAW? SHOULD POLICEMEN, AS GUARDIANS OF THE LAW, BE PARTICULARLY CAREFUL IN UPHOLDING THAT LAW? OR HAVE INDIVIDUALS THE RIGHT TO TAKE THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS AND RUN AMUCK?

That's what Stark did. He was an individual who took the law into his own hands and ran amuck. He took what he wanted, did what he wanted, regardless.

The beating of that old woman was just one incident in his career. It was the motive behind that beating—his general defiance of the law—that was the real menace in Stark.

BUT WHEN THOSE POLICEMEN BEAT STARK THEY SHOWED AS GREAT A CONTEMPT FOR THE LAW AS STARK HIMSELF DID WHEN HE BEAT THAT OLD WOMAN. FOR A POLICEMAN HAS NO MORE RIGHT TO TAKE VENGEANCE INTO HIS OWN HANDS THAN HAS ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL.

We have courts and judges for inflicting punishment. They are our bulwark against the jungle. They stand for Social Order against Individual Impulse. If law is wiped out, if courts are swept away, the jungle will be back on us.

PEOPLE WHO IGNORE LAWS AND DEFY COURTS ARE A PUBLIC MENACE. THEY SHOULD BE SHUT AWAY. STARK WAS A PUBLIC MENACE. HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN SHUT AWAY. BUT THE MEN WHO BEAT STARK IGNORED THE LAW AND DEFIED THE COURT AS MUCH AS HE DID. HOW ABOUT THEM?

What is YOUR vote?

Do you believe in Social Order . . . or Jungle Rule?

Katharine Cornell and The Bronte Sisters

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Katharine Cornell, whose consummate work in the play written about the Brownings was so distinguished, is now in England going over a new literary play which is to deal with those most fascinating and inexplicable of women, the Bronte sisters. Miss Cornell has whetted the public appetite for plays of this sort. And the company of idolators of the Brontes will assure the new play a wide audience.

It is not an easy matter to account for these three sisters, Charlotte, Emily and Ann. They live lives of isolation, in a community having no literary or cultural life, in a household dominated by a grim preacher father who amused himself at times standing in the yard and firing out upon the moors. They lived in a house that stood beside the dreary graveyard of Haworth church. Their own windows looked down upon the stones. They saw but little company. Most of their lives they lived remote from men, with the exception of the none too romantic curates who assisted their father or visited at the parsonage. They were timid, retiring; and yet all three wrote successful novels and two of them have taken rank with the greatest of English writers of fiction.

Strangest of all is the fact that after almost a hundred years these novels seem as though they might have been written yesterday.

Their Home Is a Literary Museum

I have visited the dreary little Yorkshire village of Haworth, spent much time in the house with its relics of these sisters and found it the most interesting literary museum I have seen. I have walked upon the moors these sisters loved—the great lonely wind-swept moors. I have looked down from the windows of their rooms upon that graveyard and tried to imagine the state of mind such an ever-present scene must have created. I have had meals at the Black Bull Tavern next to the church and had drink there at the little bar in the room where the ill-starred brother of the sisters was wont to linger much too much and long.

The village itself cannot be much different from what it was when these sisters evaded it as much as possible to strike out across the moors through the back gate. Just why a town ever was built upon that steep rocky hill where all the cold winds of Yorkshire have free play is one of the mysteries I have never solved. With nothing to increase the population much, the village just remains. The stone houses were there with the Brontes; they will be there generations from now; and few more will be built.

The Community Seems Unchanging—Primitive

It is a community that seems unchanging, always primitive. I sat with my chair tipped back against the stone wall of the Black Bull tavern, which is just at the top and turning of the steep hill that winds up to the town, one afternoon. I heard what seemed to be the clatter of horses' feet ascending the hill, and subconsciously I concluded it would turn out to be two horses. When the sound indicated that the corner had been reached, I looked up and was startled to find, instead of two horses, two Yorkshiremen in wooden shoes!

The old customs still persist. Saturday night, after all these years, is still the night of festivity for the convivial. They go from one drinking place to another, and some of them end the evening at the Black Bull. They sang and told stories, and my host closed the door leading into the room where I sat before a welcome fire in July. At 10 o'clock they were all turned out. The English obey the law.

Charlotte a Puzzle To Thackeray

Just how these three sisters in this environment ever learned enough about life and human nature to write novels that persist through the years is the unsolved mystery. Their minds turned to writing from the earliest years. I suspect this came to them from their father whose life-long ambition was to be a writer and who did write some poetry and some dreadful sermons. In the long winter days and nights these sisters wrote and destroyed their stories.

And then came the great success of Charlotte.

I know of nothing so amusing as the story of the visit of Charlotte and Emily to London to see the publisher. They were just like any very simple, timid country folk of our day who scarcely know how to get around. Charlotte alone was famous and she was almost indecent in her timidity toward celebrities who tried to be kind. Thackeray found her a puzzle and she was not enamored of Thackeray.

* * *

Emily, the Enigma Of the Family

After "Jane Eyre," Charlotte moved on triumphantly to other successes. The others wrote but their recognition came tardily. The younger sister knew nothing much of life outside that of a teacher in the families of the well-to-do; but she wrote two simple stories that are not bad reading now. But hers was not to be a great triumph.

Emily was the enigma—the greatest enigma of the three. A positive soul she was, utterly devoted to her sister and her dog. She lived to write but one novel, "Wuthering Heights," and with the passing of the years many of the most competent critics have concluded that it is the greatest book that came out of this Haworth household.

But where did this quiet little woman ever get such thoughts, ever conceive of such a plot, or of such a savage character as the chief one?

There was little romance in the lives of Charlotte or Emily—none at all in Emily's, so far as we know, and yet there is something like passion in their books. Did they have their love life on paper? Perhaps.

* * *

Two Die Young Of Tuberculosis

The younger sister died first—tuberculosis. There is ineffable pathos in her life and death. It seems cruel enough that she was not buried at Haworth with her sisters. She sleeps where she fell.

And then Emily died—fighting to the end—from tuberculosis. She was stricken while combing her hair, and the comb, with many teeth missing, may be seen in the Haworth house today. She died without knowing that she had triumphed with "Wuthering Heights."

Charlotte lingered on, married a curate, and somehow one likes to feel that while she may have appreciated his kindness, one of her temperament and genius could not have been much in love with him. He was as drab as possible.

Now that we know of the love affair with the married professor in Brussels, we suspect that she had but one real love in her life and it was futile.

* * *

Great Dramatic Possibilities

A great drama may be made out of the lives of these women, but it will be an unusual one, very much on the order of that written about the Brownings. Katharine Cornell is the person to give the play reality. It ought to be one of the outstanding plays of the coming winter.

Meanwhile, if you are interested, read Mrs. Gaskell's Life of Charlotte Bronte—the best of them all—and Wilson's biography of Emily.

The Rhyming Optimist

BY ALINE MICHAELS

In Passing By

In passing by, forget not
To give your best each hour;
Give cheerfully, and fret not
For want of greater dower.

Not grudgingly or meanly
As one who grasps and hoards;
But joyously, serenely
Give all your heart affords!

Give hope and love and laughter
To those who feel their lack;
Give graciously, and after Expect no payment back.

For sweeter than bestowing
These boons on hearts that yearn
Is this sweet sense of knowing
You ask for no return.

Give always and give gladly
Your best, in passing by!

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Do you know:

1. Where did Joan of Arc tend flocks?
2. What condition did Atlanta impose upon her suitors?
3. What is the meaning of the expression, "sine qua non?"
4. Who is the Governor-General of Ireland?
5. Where did the signing of the Magna Charta take place?
6. What is the symbol of the Nazis of Germany?
7. What does the word "tungsten" literally mean?
8. What is a person 100 years old called?
9. What is the derivation of the word "dahlia?"
